The most depot recognized them as deserters strenuous efforts of the citizens prevented adjacent buildings from catching and sharing a similar fate with the barn. The way the fire originated was at first a mystery, but on Friday evening, Mr. Adams, the company's agent, was arrested for arson, it being alleged that he went into the office room in the barn, and was found there when the doors were forced.

FROM WEDNESDAY'S DAILY APRIL 13.

St. George Items.—"Amram," our St. George correspondent, writes on the 9th inst. Two of the items sent we have already published, viz., the death of young Jarvis, ly lightning, and the breaking of the neck of a young gentleman, who fell out of his wagon, between St. George and Washington. The former, when struck by the electric fluid, was standing on the Tabernacle steps. The lightning struck the spire of the building and continuing down, shattered the lower flight of stairs.

Beautiful rains have fallen in that region of late. The people rejoice in the bounties of Providence.

"Amram" was to start on the 11th inst. for St. John, Arizona, having been called to make that place his future home. He will write to the and declined to become a party to A. Burk, one of the Pioneers of NE sen route, and thereafter.

Hopes for Consumptives at Last.

From official record, we learn that over 60,000 persons die annually in the United States from pulmonary consumption. In each of these cases there was a first or incipient stage of the disease, when all the life-forces it be the first thing resorted to, and and organic structures were yet unimpaired by its encroachments. If at this time an agent had been found bottle. which could give to the system a higher degree of vitality, and so enable it to resist the deadly assault, this perilous crisis would have been safely passed. And not this one only. In every subsequent assault of the enemy, especially where there existed some hereditary taint, a pro pt resort to the same re-vitalizing agent would have given a like on fine paper, and is written in language relief and immunity.
