

REVOLUTIONARY DEMONSTRATION

Opening of the Douma Occasion
Of One by Proletariat and Students in St. Petersburg.

TROOPS DISPERSED CROWD.

Perfect Did Not Give the Command
"Fire!" the Soldiers Being Instructed to Use Whips.

St. Petersburg, March 5.—The opening today of the Douma, or lower house of the Russian parliament, although in itself devoid of incident, was made the occasion of a great revolutionary demonstration by the St. Petersburg proletariat and students, which resulted in several encounters between the police and the populace, and more or less serious injury to a number of the latter. The situation was such that the authorities finally were forced to fill the streets with military patrols, as in the ominous days of the Trepoff regime. After the adjournment of the house a tumultuous crowd, estimated to number close to 40,000 persons, with red banners flying and accompanied by the music of revolutionary chants started toward the winter palace of the emperor, located, few blocks from the center of the city. The crowd, which was armed with whips, by an imposing display of force he prevented the demonstrators from forming. The police guard from the Tauride palace acted with great forbearance, giving the spectators free vent in singing and cheering, and only interfering to prevent the people from forcing their way into the palace. When the deputies emerged after the adjournment of the session the temper of the crowd was fired by speeches from Social Revolutionary members, a dozen of whom mounted upon the shoulders of their followers and hurled against the government the necessity of organizing to support parliament against the government. The Social Revolutionary motto "We will fight for our rights," was adopted as a slogan and simultaneously red handkerchiefs began to flutter above the heads of the crowd, and then the crimson banners appeared like magic. The crowd, singing the "Marseillaise" and the Russian revolutionary song, moved slowly down the avenue, stopping at intervals to listen to speeches and to sing. Meanwhile the authorities had hastily concentrated a large force of gendarmes, which charged the head of the procession when it reached the Litofny prospect, one of the main business avenues. The gendarmes piled their whips vigorously, and in one case used the flat of their sabers. The crowd made two unsuccessful attempts to reassemble. The gendarmes by this time had been reinforced by detachments of the chevelier guards, who cleared the roadway amid curses of derision from the sidewalks. Finally a large force of Cossacks armed with lances arrived. The spiteful red-penned weapons, which never before had been brought out in street demonstrations, took all the heart out of the crowd. Another monster demonstration was held at the university to celebrate the anniversary of Revolutionary Democracy. The quay along the Neva and the streets in the neighborhood of the university were densely packed with people, with no interference by troops or police, who arrived on the scene in strong force only after the demonstration had come to an end. It was learned tonight that Premier Stolypin in order to diminish his chances of possible assassination, would spend the night in the Tauride palace, and it is understood he has taken a suite of rooms in a wing of that palace which he will occupy as long as parliament is in session. The verification of the mandates of the deputies is expected to provoke heated scenes, as the opposition makes no secret of its intentions to dispute

THE FIRST WING

OF RHEUMATISM CALLS FOR DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

They Have Cured Many Forms of This Stubborn Disease Even in Advanced Stages.

Mr. Frank Little, a well known citizen of Portland, Maine, who was cured of a severe case of rheumatism by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In speaking about it recently, he said: "In my work I am obliged to be out in all kinds of weather and many times I would come home wet through and completely exhausted. I worried a great deal and I took this along with my constant exposure to the cold and damp, hastened my sickness. My body was run down and in no condition to withstand disease, and about five years ago I began to feel rheumatic pains in my arms and across my back. My arms and legs grew numb and the rheumatism seemed to settle in my joints. I could hardly move, while my arms were useless at times. I was unable to sleep or rest well and my heart pained me. I could hardly stand it. My stomach became sour and bloated after eating and this grew so bad that I had inflammation of the stomach. I was extremely nervous and could not bear the least noise or excitement. One whole side of my body became paralyzed."

"As I said before, I had been suffering about two years and was unable to get any relief from doctors, when a friend here in Portland told me how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured him of neuritis in the face, even after the pain had drawn to one side. I decided to try the pills and began to see some improvement soon after using them. This encouraged me, and I continued to take them until I was cured. I have never had a return of the rheumatism or of the paralysis. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood and cure such diseases as rheumatism, anemia, scatica, after-effects of the grip and wasting fevers, nervous headaches, neuritis, and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. The pills are for sale by all druggists or sent, postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

the return of several members on account of flagrant illegalities at the elections. The voting for a president of the lower house showed that the strength of the various political parties had been somewhat overestimated, the Monarchists and Octoberists being able to muster on a joint ballot only 162 out of the 120 votes with which they were credited. Disqualification of delegations from Nizhni Novgorod, Olenetz and other provinces where Congress had been elected, by the whole sale and disfranchisement of liberal electors, have made the right wing an almost negligible quantity. The champions of the prospects of the right and the Polish Nationalists to cast their fortunes definitely with the left, abandoning their earlier plans to steer a middle course. The Polish Nationalists and the Polish pledged their sympathies and support to the Constitutional Democrats, excepting, however, that party's agrarian program. The Battle Constitutionalists have joined the Constitutional Democrats outright, bringing the total adherents of this party up to 111.

POSTAL COMMISSION.

Will Make Thorough Investigation and Suggest Reforms.

Washington, March 5.—President Roosevelt today had a conference with Postmaster General Meyer and members of the postal commission, including Senators Penrose and Carter and Representatives Overstreet and Gardner of New Jersey. The commission is to make a thorough investigation of the methods of administration employed in the postal service with a view to suggesting reforms and improvements that may be for the betterment of the service. There was a general exchange of ideas between the president and his cabinet reading the work. Postmaster General Meyer believes that the most improved business methods should be adopted in all branches of the postal service, with the view of being entirely self-supporting, and that reforms should be put into effect wherever there is any evidence of a want of economy or laxity of method.

FRENCH TARIFF.

United States May be Compelled to Enter Into Negotiations.

Paris, March 5.—The United States is likely soon to be confronted with the necessity of tariff negotiations with France. The special parliamentary commission charged with the revision of schedules has decided to maintain the maximum and minimum system, with the former double the latter, for the purpose of forcing concessions from countries which, like the United States, refuse to make reciprocity treaties. Without awaiting the general tariff revision measure, a bill to increase the duties on cotton seed and other vegetable oils, in whose production the United States is greatly interested, was called up in the chamber of deputies today. The duty now is $1.20 per 100 kilograms. The bill proposes a duty of $2.50 for countries entitled to the minimum tariff, and $5 for countries like the United States, without reciprocity treaties, and also places the cotton seed oil, which is now free, upon a dutiable list at 30 cents to 50 cents per 100 kilograms for industrial purposes. If denatured, will be taxed at the old rate.

On the same basis a full month would have been 722,000 yards. March 5th would be 722,000 yards."

They Should be Free From All Vindictive and Misleading Prejudices.

LIFE INSURANCE LEGISLATION

Questions Policy of Some Proposed in Different States—Might Easily Become Harmful.

New York, March 5.—Announcement was made today that Grover Cleveland has submitted a brief to the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, of which he is the head, in reference to certain threatened legislation which would force them to invest their funds in the various states in proportion to the volume of business transacted in those states. The brief says: "It seems quite apparent that if the best legislative results are to be secured by the states, the interests in any way related to life insurance, and by subserving the people's interests in the premises by the passage of wholesome laws, those who make our laws should be absolutely vindictive and misleading prejudices and duly guarded against dangerous disregard of safe and conservative legislative rules. In many states contentions are being carried on, and the life insurance companies in accepting them as securities for their trust funds. And yet they are forced to purchase in such a market and must invest in such securities as remain after investors on the ground have made their choice. They are therefore forced to purchase the manipulated advance invited by their legally created necessities. It matters not how many states pass similar statutes, nor how many companies of the companies may be actually impaired under this aggregate operation, nor does it matter when these forced investments are good or bad, whether they are convertible or not convertible, whether they are in the custody of the companies or of officers of the several states, as in such cases proposed, in all contingencies policies and premiums must be paid as they accrue. None of us have in our biblical reading discovered an incident which smacks more of unfairness and oppression than the exclusion by the strong that those at their mercy should 'make bricks without straw.' Mr. Cleveland questions that this legislation is framed in the interest of the policyholders. 'It cannot be made to appear,' he says, 'that it would in any way increase the security of their policies. It would rather tend to diminish it in cases of such impairment of securities as would reach the point of financial inability on the part of the companies, their policyholders of all men in the world would be the most and most pitiable and helpless victims of the disaster. How policyholders can be benefited or made more secure by merely forcing money into the state by way of investments, no sinuosity of explanation can make apparent.' The only class of persons who would perhaps be benefited, he says, are those who deal in securities, and the manner in which the enforced purchase of stipulated and restricted securities could operate to their disadvantage is too plain to need reiteration. 'If legislation of this kind should be passed in a number of our states,' Mr. Cleveland continues, 'it would not entirely unreasonable to fear that the inevitable disparity in amount and kind of investments distributed among those states would give rise to invidious carrying and fault-finding discontent, thus creating and fostering new occasions for inharmonious feeling and diverse legislative action which unfortunately our present surroundings seem to encourage.' In conclusion, Mr. Cleveland appeals for comity between the states, and a complete repudiation of any such inclination on the part of any state to gain undue or selfish advantage at the expense and to the injury of its neighbor."

Capt. von Krogh has made numerous ascensions in the Zepplin and Parseval dirigible balloons, and he prefers to remain in Germany and resume his experiments with the Parseval balloon in the spring.

SENATOR PATTERSON ARGUES HIS OWN CONTEMPT CASE

Washington, March 5.—Senator Patterson of Colorado today began an argument in his own behalf in the supreme court of the United States in the contempt case brought against him by the supreme court of Colorado. The case grows out of strictures on the court made by Senator Patterson in his two Denver papers, the News and the Times. The case was reached only about half an hour before court adjourned today, and most of that time was spent in the preliminary matters of case and explaining the fact that he was appearing as his own lawyer. On the latter point he said his counsel would not consent to receive pay for appearing for him, and that he could not permit them to appear without it. Responding to the senator, the chief justice remarked that Mr. Patterson was evidently and properly proceeding upon the theory that "if you want a thing done well you should do it yourself." The case grew out of reflections by Mr. Patterson's papers on the decision of the state court in the Colorado election cases of 1904, in which the court was accused of revolutionary and partisan conduct. He afterward justified these statements, as witnessed by the facts, and he repeated this assertion to the federal supreme court. The court imposed a fine of $1,000.

SKIN SOFT AS A BABY'S AND WITHOUT A SCAR

"I have a cousin in Rockingham Co. who once had a skin disease from her birth until she was six years of age. Her father had spent a fortune on her to get her cured and none of the treatments did her any good. Old Dr. G. suggested that he try the Cuticura Remedies which he did. When he commenced to use it the child was almost in a solid scab. He had used it about two months and the child was well. I was then when they commenced to use your Cuticura Remedies. I stayed that week and then returned home and stayed two weeks and then went back and stayed then two weeks longer and when I went home I could hardly believe there was the same child. Her skin was as soft as a baby's without a scar on it. I have not seen her in seventeen years but I have heard from her and the last time I heard from her she was well. That is where I became acquainted with Cuticura. I hope this may be of some service to you in the future. Mrs. W. P. Ingle, Burlington, N. C., June 16, 1905."

Here Are Three Good Investments for the Price of One

Here is what D. J. Kennedy, of Fallon, Nevada, and for years one of the best known citizens of the state, has to say in a personal letter to a friend in Salt Lake:

"Just a line to tell you that we have been meeting with grand success and are striking it richer every foot we go down. Our mining engineer advises the installation of steam hoists, air compressing drills, a twenty stamp mill and a cyaniding plant so we can treat the ore on the ground and send out the gold bullion in place of shipping the ore, and paying out as all ore shippers do, the major portion of the profits to the railroads and smelters for the treatment of same. The immense ore bodies in sight justify us to commence at once and as soon as completed he says we can earn at least from ten to thirty thousand monthly to pay dividends with. Now if we do this with one property, what does it mean? That our stock will be worth from $5.00 to $10.00 a share before many years if not greater as we open up values on some of our other Wonder and Ramsey claims."

The Rejuvenation of Nevada as a Mining State is One of the Greatest Stories of the Century.

There are no better camps than the three in which this ground is located. There is no better ground than this in any of these camps. I am offering 25,000 shares of this stock before March 9, at 30 cents per share.
