Reclamation Of Arid Lands.

Hon. F. S. Richards Presents Law and Facts in Utah Lake Case to Secretary of the Interior-Hopes Sall Lake Project Will be Taken Up Not Later Than June 1 by the Department.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, D. C., May 12 .- Hon. F. 8. Richards filed a full and complete statements of the facts and law with the secretary of the interior this morning from the arid land reclamation commission appointed by Gov. Wells, on the Utah lake project, and asks for its consideration. The statement goes into detail of description of the present owners and their rights to store waters in Utah lake. It is shown that the stackholders of these canals and irrigation companies are owners of the land which is to be irrigated by water flow. ing through these canals, Briefly summarized, the report, which was laid before the secretary for determination, is

That this commission receive official recognition and that such arrangement be made that the officers of the department in immediate charge of the work will consult the commission whenever practicable concerning details of inter-est to Utah.

That the recommendation of the commission regarding the primary importance of the water storage in Utah lake, be given due weight and that work upon tals important matter be taken up at the earliest practicable date. That if, in the judgment of those in charge of the matter, the work con-nected with Utah lake is of such magnitude, or involves such complications, that rapid progress cannot be made then attention be given to some other or more simple project, but without prejudice or delay to work on Utah lake.

That the physical facts as regards the amount of water now available and utilized and as to the amount of water which might be available under best possible conditions be ascertained. That the extent be estimated to which

In his address, President Maclean denounced the exorbitant charges made by the local hospitals, for private patients, as an imposition upon the medical profession. He said that they could make money even at a greatly reduced hospital fee. He did not want to be understood as antagonizing the public hospitals of Salt Lake, but he did think that their conduct in regard to charges was somewhat of an imposition, and was damaging to the medical fraternity.

He said that the payandra as they proceeded from Dalkeith castle to Holyrood palace, where they held a court and levee, the first of such functions to be held in the historic the committee. He said that the paving of the street and paying for it on the installment plan would be lilegal and he was satisfied that it could not be done that way, for the reason that the city's bonded indebtedness had already reached the dead limit and no seems people bonds could be issued. He more paving bonds could be issued. He was of the opinion that it would take so long to get the plans for the paving fully matured and the preliminary arrully matured and the preliminary arrangements made that it would be too late to commence the work this year. He urged that the council do something, before its members retire from office, to put the city's water system on a substantial basis. He did not think that they should go out of office without showing the people that they could handle the water problem.

Mr. Roosevelt Arrives in the Pacific Metropolis-Given Cordial Greeting by M. H. De Young-Responds in Happy Vein-A Few Hours Spent at Stanford University -- Wandering Around Famous Seat of Learning.

Roosevelt left San Jose at 8:30 o'clock this morning on his way to this city. A half hour's ride through orchards and fields brought the train to Palo Alto, site of the Leland Stanford, Jr., university. Here the president left his car and was driven up a plam-lined avenue to the famous university quadrangle, formed by the grouping of tile-covered buildings in the Mexican style of architecture. Here he was greeted by President David Starr Jordan, the faculty and assembled students, to whom he delivered a brief address.

After a leisurely inspection of the campus and buildings, including the beautiful Stanford memorial church, which he declared was one of the most artistic religious edifices in the world, the president was excerted to his car by the entire college body. Hundreds of residents of Palo Alto and the adjacent country had assembled at the depot, and as the train pulled out, there arose a deafening roar of college yells, mingled with cheers of the populace. Shortly before 12:30 o'clock the presidential party reached Burlingame, the picturesque home of the Country club, where a stop was made for luncheon. For this event, President Roosevelt was the guest of Henry T. Scott, and many prominent citizens of California was present at the informal repair.

were present at the informal repast.

After a rest under the trees and astroll about the grounds, the journey was resumed. Milbrae, San Bruno and South San Francisco in succession were passed, and at 2:15 p. m., promptly on time, the main depot of the coast di-vision of the Southern Pacific at the corner of Third and Townsend streets in this city was reached. The arrival was announced by a presidential salute fired by the naval reserve. The party was met by the citizens' executive committee, whose president M. H. De Young, greeted President Roosevelt in

Up Third street, one of the least iming thoroughfares of the city, Market street, where modern sky scrapers abound, the president passed through a lane lined by thousands of cheering citizens. At Market street the elaborate decorations, the fluttering flags, the swinging wreaths of green and the maze of pendant electric globes at once attracted the president's attention and he expressed his appreciation

Immediately after the review the president will participate in dedicatory exercises of the Young Men's Christian association building, one of the finest structures of the kind in the United States. AT STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

Stanford University, Cal., May 12.— President Roosevelt and party arrived in Palo Alto at 9 o'clock this morning. He was met by Dr. David Starr Jor-dan, president of the university and several members of the faculty, who conducted him through a great throng of school children and citizens to Mrs. of school children and citizens to Mrs. Stanfords' private carriage. The party arrived at the university assembly hait a few minutes after 9 o'clock and as the president came on the platform accompanied by Dr. Jordan, the entire student body burst forth with six vouminous cheers for "Teddy." This open familiar hospitality brought forth several of the president's characteristic good natured smiles, which were only increased when the "rooters" gave the Harvard yell, familiar to President Harvard yell, familiar to President Roosevelt in his college days. After the first prolonged cheers had subsided Carl F. Dittmar, '03, president of the Associated students, welcomed the chief executive with a neat speech in behalf of the students. President Jordan fol-lowed with a few remarks, which he closed by saying:

"Students, faculty, friends and neighbors of the university. I have the very great honor of introducing the president of the United States and the extreme pleasure of introducing to you a person-al friend of mine whom I have known for many years, Theodore Roosevelt.'

The president spoke for little over half an hour, holding the audience of over 2,000 people in absolute quiet except when broken by outbursts of ap-plause. At the close of the speech, the rooters again fairly shook the building with their cheers for the president. From the assembly hall the party went through Memorial court and the inner quadrangle to the memorial shurch, where they viewed the grandeurs of the athedral. Never before have such throngs been seen on the Stanford quadrangle as lined the arcades as the president was escorted from Memorial church to his carriage. The remainder of the forenoon was spent in a drive to the interesting points of the university campus, notable among which is the famous Paio Alto stock farm, where the president took great interest in viewing the grounds and racers that

New York, May 12 .- The session of the American Therapeutic society to-day was devoted to the reading of papers, including the following:

"Altitude Treatment," Dr. J. N. Hall, Denver, and "Control of the Purity and Standard Quality of Drugs," Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry of the agricultural department. Mr. Wiley took the position that the failure of drugs to cure is often due to their lack of purity. Dr. Robert Reyburn of Washington in the course of a paper on the X-ray, expressed the opinion that in the treatment of cancer it is only useful in deal. ing with the superficial variety, and that its beneficial effects are similar to those of a caustic. Dr. Morton of New York took Issue with this view, contending that the division between cases benefited and those not benefited is along other lines. He also explained
