Scouring the Country Around Albuquerque, for a Highwayman.

POISONING AT HONOLULU, SEVIER CO.

Chinese and Opium Smoking.—A Lady and her Daughter Accidentally Drowned.

Patrick Brown, a resident of San Francisco, while visiting with a revolver, on Monday, shot himself through the palm of the right hand. He was endeavoring to show his guests how to shoot a pistol of an objectionable guest.

The Pacific Coast mountain of fire chief has issued a circular calling upon firemen to observe special precautions against fire on July 4th. The association agrees that the fire apparatus be used in the celebration.

John R. Clawson, a Sweden, on the western passenger train on Tuesday, while wearing Mountain Home, Idaho, slipped into the water, from the engine car, and was killed by the train. He held a second-class ticket from Watson, Nottawa. No cause is known for the suicide.

On Monday afternoon John Brown, who was employed at the Pueblo (Col.) steel works, was killed by a locomotive and his body crushed. He was removed to the hospital, where a supposition of the limb was fatal. At last reports he was resting easily.

John H. Harris and daughter ten years of age, were drowned Saturday while crossing the Rio Grande river, about six miles west of the Colorado. Harris, wife, child, and a young man named Tucker were in a lumber wagon drawn by horse. After crossing the river, the wagon began to lurch, throwing the occupants into the stream.

Page Indians, while observing the Catholic festival of San Juan, on the San Xavier reservation, between Tucson and Pima, were shot and killed. The Indians, who were shot and killed, were shot and killed. The Indians, who were shot and killed, were shot and killed.

A. K. Lalen, a Sweden, committed suicide on a train near Mountain Home, Idaho, on Monday, by shooting himself with a revolver. He was going to Portland, Or., from Watson, Nott. He tried to jump from the train but was prevented. He then put the gun in his mouth and fired, dying almost instantly. He was thought to be deranged.

Babies are now epidemic among animals of all kinds at Guilford, Ariz. Several persons have been bitten and injured, one being killed. The epidemic is now spreading rapidly, and it is feared that it will soon reach the human race.

Mr. C. Taylor, a resident of Green Valley, has forwarded a communication to the board of supervisors in which he suggests a new plan for San Francisco to supply itself with water. He suggests that the city should have a right to water at the falls of the middle and north Yuba rivers, a point about 100 miles distant. Taylor suggests that from that point, where an electric plant could be established.

The little three-year-old son of Robert Daxford at Monroe, is just recovering from what is thought to be a severe case of poisoning, says the Monroe Advocate. About fifteen minutes after eating some colored candy the boy began quivering and frothing at the mouth, and died, dying, a few minutes later. The little fellow has lain for many days in a stupor, and it is now thought that he will permanently recover. Mr. Daxford thinks that the coloring in candy is no particular benefit and may be very injurious.

Monks, Van Laine, from the river mining camp, and the Monroe Advocate, a smallish of a kind, because entangled in a dispute last Monday night in the Palace saloon, about which should treat the crowd, on account of not being able to stand before the other in a public exhibition. The participants started in good humor, but before long the situation had become a riot, and Van Laine was charged with the performance.—Monroe Advocate.

The recent arrest and imprisonment of several Chinese will result in a test of the validity of the act passed by the legislature prohibiting Chinese from smoking opium, says the Boiler (Idaho) Advertiser. W. E. Horn and N. L. Tipton have been retained to test the act, and they are bound to do so to the bottom of it. They hold, in fact, that while it is constitutional to make laws to prohibit the sale of opium and to empower the authorities to enforce them, it is unconstitutional to make laws to prohibit the sale of opium and to empower the authorities to enforce them.

On Tuesday morning the Harvey outlaws at Chinatown on the Adams and Pacific, was killed by a man named and named nearly 500. The highwayman rode up to the station on a new group of dynamite and did his work in a jiffy. As he entered the station house he put on his mask and took out the slitting knife in the rear. There he sprang forward, a Chinaman sitting on the back of the train, and he accompanied him to turn over what money he had in his pockets. Naming two about $5, at the point of a pistol. Jenkins was ordered into the station and accompanied to open the door. The highwayman seized over 200 more. As he turned to go he was seized by the other men in the dining room, who was attacking the bandit for the passenger train from the east. V. V. (Idaho), the cook of Harvey's dining train, was seized, and he, and as soon as the highwayman.

depicted, he was awakened and the news spread over the little town. There is a present out from Co. 14th after the attempted robbery, and not a Winchester rifle or a shotgun or a spare horse could be found to follow this last time. It is thought that for some of the train robbers of a few days ago and that on shooting capture, sent back to Chinatown and eliminated the crime.
