LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THEATRE.—The performance last evening, like that of Saturday, was very good, each of the characters of the fine play, "Not Guilty," being well sustained. There will be no entertainment to-night. To-morrow night, however, an excellent bill will be presented, opening with "The Trials of Tompkins," Messrs. Margetta, Graham, Thomas, Marshall, and Miss Adams, Mrs. A. C. Clendenen and other favorites will take part in the performance.

PROFESSOR PRATT.—We remind the public that this gentleman will deliver another of his able lectures tomorrow night at the Old Tabernacle, and that on the following (Thursday) evening he will give the concluding one of the series.

LECTURE.—Prof. J. Morgan will deliver a lecture at the Morgan Commercial College to-night, commencing at 7.30 o'clock. Subject—"Advice to Young Men." For young men only. Free.

HOW.—It is impossible for the Associated Press to find somebody who will come within a reasonable distance of the truth, to act as A. P. Agent at Salt Lake City. Or it is to be understood that the A. P. is the "apple tree of gold" and the Mormons are the "Mormon-eating Gentiles." The latter is just how things look to a candid observer.

A CHANGE.—Quite a change in the weather since yesterday. There was a nice little shower during last night. This morning was cool and cloudy, then drizzly, until the afternoon, when a fine rain set in. The elements appear to be marshalling their forces for a stormy time. A little damp weather after the late dry spell will do good. It will help along the spring growth of vegetation.

STUDYING THE ORES.—The American Journal of Education says:—"The students of the mining class in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology made an excursion to the mines of Colorado and Utah. One of the results of this trip is the addition to their knowledge of the value of about eleven tons of gold and silver ore, upon which the students can try their skill. Here is a practical sort of studying."

INFORMATION WANTED.—A boy named Gustave Adolph Bergstranda, who left Copenhagen, Denmark, April 15th, 1861, in company with a lady named Lisa Bergstranda, his father's wife. His father wishes to know if he is alive or dead. "He was living with a lady (W. Hill) near the city." Address John Bergstranda, 55 Blocker street, between Broadway and Bowery, New York.

POULTRY STOLEN.—On Saturday night last some petty thief or thieves climbed over the wall surrounding the General Tithing Office, and stole from the enclosure four turkeys. Some boys, who had been seen prowling around, are suspected of being the thieves, but whoever the guilty parties are they will do themselves a kindness not to tempt fortune a second time. In like manner, for they will find it unwholesome if they visit the same place with similar intent, again in a hurry.

STREET.—There appears to be a disposition increasing in this city, particularly among the young folks, to "put on airs," and to strut about in a manner that is called "style." On whose upper lip the indications of manhood have scarcely commenced to appear can be seen at any time dressed in the style most approved by the most ardent devotees of "snobbery," and putting the blue smoke from a cigar. In addition to this, the stylish young person of the male persuasion must carry a cane, which in a hale young man is almost invariably a sign of mental weakness, and have his hair parted in the middle. In such young men this mode of dressing the hair is entirely unnecessary, if it be adopted to show how near they approach to manhood, for they need not fear that any sensible person would ever accuse them of weakness of character.

In seeing so many of these "nice young men" around on the streets one can scarcely help thinking of the words of the Scotch bard:

"O wad some power the giftie gie us
To see ourselves as others see us,
It wad frae mairie a blinder tree us,
An' foibaird foolishness."

The foppish young man, as he struts along, fondly imagines that he is creating an impression on the beholder, and so he probably is for the matter of that, but, if he only knew it, the impression he generally makes would be one of repulsion. Many young fellows put on the "style," but sensible ladies admire a manly man and have no esteem for puppets, or young men who by their ridiculous attire make it appear as if they came into the world with a sign of mental weakness. We do not wish it to be understood that we think that people should not occupy well and suitably their persons, for this would be a mistake. We like to see people dress in as good clothes as they can legitimately pay for. But it is the foppish in the cut, etc., that sometimes appears, and the least we can say is that the manners and carriage of some young men avoid assuming the frivolous foppery which so largely obtains in large cities elsewhere.

POLICE.—Last night a negro, named Harry Crabby, made things lively for some parties at the U. C. depot, by chasing them out of a palace car, throwing rocks at them and threatening to use them up on general principles. The police officers were sent for, and he was promptly arrested. We understand the belligerent rascal is in the custody of a party of gentlemen on who lately arrived from the same palace car. He was this morning fined $10.

Two men quarreled in a billiard saloon last night and were sent to jail. One of the result was an ugly fight in the hall of one of the parties, besides the owner of the billiard saloon having to pay a fine of $5 this morning and the person who made the fight one of $10.

TO TERRITORIAL JUDGES.—Washington, March 20th. The Attorney General today issued a circular to Territorial Judges, calling attention to representations made to him that some of them live outside their respective districts and inform them that it is a violation of law, and they must reside within their district, and not leave it, except upon leave granted by the Attorney General. —New York Herald.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH.—At the annual meeting of the congregation of St. Mark's church, held on Tuesday, April 2, 1872, the following persons were elected church wardens and vestrymen for the ensuing year:

Wardens—Warren Hussey, John P. Taggart.
Vestrymen—Theodore F. Tracy, A. W. White, W. E. Chaboudin, Edmund Wilson, George E. Whitney.

R. M. Kirby, Secretary.

WANTS THE COFFIN.—The Cincinnati Times moralizes in this fashion:—"We hear some talk about the copper mines in Utah. 'Tis the Mormons and Gentiles hurry up, and out their cut-throat knives, and then pick in harmoniously and develop their copper mines." The "Mormons" have no difficulties to settle nor battles to fight. They have lived here a quarter of a century in peace and quietness when they have been permitted to do so. But some people, who ought to know better, seem determined that there shall be no peace, nothing but wrangling and confusion in Utah. If they can in any wise cause such an undesirable state of things to exist, that's what's the matter. DOES ADVERTISING PAY?—"Without the aid of advertisements I could have done nothing in my speculations. I have the most complete faith in 'printers' ink.' Advertising is the 'royal road to business.'" "My success is owing to my liberality in advertising."—Bonner. Advertising has furnished me with a competence."—Amos Lawrence. "I advertised my productions and made money."—Nicholas Longworth. "Constant and persistent advertising is a sure prelude to wealth."—Stephen Girard. "Who who invests one dollar in business should invest one dollar in advertising that business."—A. T. Stewart.

MORMON WHISKEY.—Manchester sends east the following:—"Salt Lake March 23.—Papers here are agitating the question of the possibility of a civil war in Utah as the result of admission."

"A memorial protesting against the admission is being signed by all the Gentiles and occasionally by the Mormons." How's all that for concentration?

HORACE GIBBSLEY writes to Senator-elect Fitch, of Utah, that he doesn't see how the Territory can come in as a State in the face and eyes of a recent act requiring population which she lacks; but he does hope that we will pay more attention to our own morals and less to other folks' than Chief Justice McKean's rulings indicate.—Omaha Herald.
