

panied her. George Gregory and wife, the latter a sister of Mrs. Hynde, went as far west as Laramie on No. 3 yesterday to meet the party, and returned to this city with them.

Mrs. Hynde, who occupied a state room in the Pullman, was approached by a Tribune reporter while the train was standing at the depot, and in reply to questions she said she did not care to be interviewed. She looked pale and showed plainly the effects of the terrible ordeal through which she has passed during the past eight days.

It was learned that before leaving Salt Lake Mrs. Hynde turned over all her property, which amounted to considerable, to her husband.

Elder J. C. Lyon of the Twelfth Ward, this city, made a pleasant call on the News Monday, having recently returned from a mission to the Indian Territory. Elder Lyon left his home on April 28, 1894, and labored for the first thirteen months of his absence in the Cherokee and Choctaw nations, where he met with fair success, and enjoyed splendid health. From thence he went to St. John, Kansas, which is now included in the Indian Territory mission, where he spent the remaining part of his time.

The work in Kansas is progressing nicely, and in St. John, a meeting-house has been erected by the Saints, on a site known as Zion's Hill. Meetings are conducted quite regularly, and singing is furnished by an organized choir of excellent voices. A good healthy Sunday School is also in existence and services are held every Sunday morning. The people of St. John are very hospitable and kind to the Elders, and Gospel principles are being investigated, and it is believed that before long, many of the people of Kansas will ally themselves with the church. The Elders laboring there are enjoying their work immensely, as did also Elmer Lyon, who is pleased, however, to be at home again.

Elder John W. McDuff of this city has arrived home from a mission to England. He left on Jan. 20, 1894, and returned yesterday, Feb. 10. He says the work is progressing well. In the Manchester branch, where he has labored nearly all the time, there has been quite a few additions to the Church, chiefly young people. Elder J. Lee, of Ogden, has labored in this district the past twenty months. In the Oldham branch the prospects are good also.

Elders Joseph Nelson, of Cache county, W. A. Taylor, of Wayne county, have succeeded in arousing quite an interest in the Oldham branch. The February conference was held in the Co-operative Hall in Oldham. It was well attended by strangers, some of whom seemed deeply interested in the work.

Elder McDuff further says the many friends of Sister Elizabeth Barlow will be pleased to know that she is still alive and keeps fairly well in health. Sister Barlow is an old Nauvoo veteran. She was living in Nauvoo at the time of the martyrdom of the Prophet and his brother Hyrum.

The county court met again late Monday afternoon to consider the elevator question and at last agreed upon an electric "lift" for the county's portion of the joint building. As a result the following resolution was presented and adopted:

To the Honorable County Court of Salt Lake County:

Gentlemen—The undersigned, appointed by the court as a committee to select an elevator for the county's portion of the joint city and county building, respectfully report that after a full consideration of the question we have determined that under the circumstances a Sprague Pratt multiple shaft electric elevator is best suited for the use of the county, and therefore recommend that a contract be let to the Sprague Electric Elevator company of New York, at the amount of their bid, upon such terms and conditions as may be hereafter agreed upon by the court.

A. S. GEDDES,
CHAS. H. ROBERTS,
M. CHRISTOPHERSON.

C. R. McKay's bid was accepted, the contract price being $5,500.

The court then agreed to pay J. W. Farrell $5,500 as a settlement in full for his claim against the county, which he accepted. Mr. Farrell's original claim was $8,448.46.

The grand jury returned an indictment against Harry Haynes for murder at 4:30 Thursday afternoon. Judge Powers asked that the jury be instructed in regard to manslaughter which his honor refused and said that they were not required to designate the degree as that would be left for the trial jury to determine. Therefore the indictment was drawn up in the usual form without designating the degree.

It is alleged that "the defendant on March 1, 1896, unlawfully, wilfully, feloniously, deliberately, premeditatedly of his malice aforethought, and with the specific intent to take the life of Walter J. Dinwoodey, an assault did make with a certain deadly weapon to-wit, a revolver loaded with gunpowder and leaden bullets, and did then and there, unlawfully, wilfully, feloniously, deliberately, premeditatedly and of his malice aforethought, shoot and discharge said revolver in and upon the said Walter J. Dinwoodey, thereby inflicting in the thorax and head of the said Walter J. Dinwoodey mortal wounds, from which wounds the said Walter J. Dinwoodey languished a short time, and then, on March 1, 1896, died."

The trial of Harry Haynes and A. E. Cahoon was continued in Judge Hiles's court Wednesday morning.

The defendants were indicted by the grand jury in October, 1894. They were members of the Macadam Rock company and supplied the county with quartzite rock to pave State street, and on December 2, 1894, Mr. Cahoon presented a claim for 6,500 yards @ $1.75 per yard, amounting to $11,180; but the fact in the case is that it was not entirely quartzite rock, but consisted of dirt and other material of little or no value, making the claim according to the prosecution, fraudulent.

The following are similar instances to the one above mentioned: That on October 8, 1894, the said defendants also swore to a claim of 1,000 yards of rock at $1.72 per yard, amounting to $1,720; that on October 29th the defendants swore to a claim of 1,400 yards of shale rock at $1.72 per yard, amounting to $2,408; also one for 2,351 yards of rock at $1.72 per yard, amounting to $4,043.72. County Attorney White-more and Attorney C. S. Varian prosecuted today as on yesterday, and Powers, Straup and Lippman defended.

Mt. Pleasant Pyramid: The matter of building reservoirs for the storing of water and the reclaiming of arid land has begun to take practical shape in this part of Sanpete county. On the 28th of last month the Cedar Creek Reservoir company was incorporated at Manti with a capital stock of $15,000 divided into 1,000 shares of the par value of $15 each. It being the desire of the company to give any so desiring an opportunity to obtain stock in the new company, and to obtain means to begin work at once, it will place about 700 shares on the market at $12 per share, one-fourth to be paid in cash and three-fourths in labor. The dam and reservoir site have been surveyed, and everything is now in readiness to begin actual work. It is estimated the dam will be about 600 feet long and 45 feet deep at its greatest depth, and will have a capacity for irrigating at least 1,000 acres of land. The reservoir will be at the mouth of Cedar canyon, the site having been purchased from Peter Jensen for $1,650, and will bring under cultivation that excellent soil along the slope beneath. When it is considered that this land has no superior for grain, lucern and fruit crops, an idea of the immense value of the undertaking can be obtained. There are several hundred acres of land thereabout subject to entry. Another company will soon be incorporated to carry out a similar project in Pleasant Creek canyon, adding several hundred more acres of productive land along the east slopes.

The famous stubbornly fought cyanide case brought by the Gold and Silver Extraction company of America, Limited, against the Mercur Gold Mining and Milling company, John Dern, et al, came to a compromise close before Judge Marshall in the United States circuit court Monday. A stipulated agreement was duly presented, signed by the litigants on either side.

Under the agreement it is decreed that the letters patent of the United States issued to John Stewart McArthur, Robert W. and William Foreston May 14, 1889, for improvement in the process of obtaining gold and silver from ore, and the claims hereunder are good and valid in law and that plaintiff is entitled to the exclusive rights under said letters and invention; that the letter patent to John Stewart McArthur on December 24th, 1889, for improvement in metallurgical filter are good and valid in law and that the entire title thereto is vested in plaintiff; that defendants jointly and severally have infringed upon such letters patent; that as an accounting has been waived, the plaintiff recover from defendants $20,000 in full of gains, profits, etc., derived from said infringements; that each of the defendants are restrained and enjoined from using in any manner any process or improvements similar to those heretofore used by them, which may infringe upon either of said patents. The defendants are also enjoined from using or imitating the metallurgical filter referred to for the full term granted in the said letters patent.
