Owing to the fact that the scene of the wreck is an isolated spot, only meager details are forthcoming at this time, but it is stated that there was a heavy fog prevailing and that the second section of the freight train hit the cars without warning. The fireman and engineer jumped and were hurt somewhat in so doing. The accident happened some time between 4 and 5 a. m. and it is the supposition that the crew was asleep in the caboose, otherwise flagmen would have been posted to warn the approaching second section with flares and torpeodes that there were some cars stalled ahead on the main line.

Colored Expressman Found in His Wagon With Life Extinct.

Thomas F. Turner, a colored man, who has kept an express wagon stand in Salt Lake for many years at the corner of Third South and State streets, died suddenly Sunday afternoon, while seated on his wagon. Heart failure is ascribed as the cause of death, as there was nothing to indicate any suffering or foul play. The body was found by Mr. Turner's wife in the rear of the family home at 2270 south Fifth East street, just outside of the city limits. The horse was still hitched to the outfit, but the driver was lying face downward in the rig, and life was extinet. Whether he was suddenly strick by heart failure after driving into the barnyard, and as he was about to dismount, or whether the horse made its way to the barn after he had been attacked is not known. Sheriff Emery was notified, and had the body removed to the undertaking parlors of S. D. Evans, where it is be-ing held pending the making of funeral arrangements. An investigation was this morning, and while no formal announcement was made, it is considered probable that an inquest not be held. Funeral arrangements Funeral arrangements will be announced tomorrow.

Efforts Being Made to Secure Legisla tion to Prevent Them.

Chicago, Feb. 5 .- A dispatch to the Tribune from Washington, D. C., says: Every effort is to be made during the present session of Congress to secure legislation designed to prevent abuses in the naturalization of foreigners. The feeling in both senate and house has been aroused by reports made by the committee appointed by the president to report on immigration and naturaza-tion conditions and by the petition presented in both houses from the civic federation of Chicago. The house com-mittee on immigration and naturalization has completed hearings extending over the last month and will prepar this week a bill placing more effectiv safeguards than now exist around American citizenship. Republicans and Democrats alike are taking an earnest interest in the perfection of a bill which will accord naturalization only to per sons actually worthy of it. The bill will pass the house, it is hop-d, in spite of opposition expected, particularly from men representing dis-tricts in which many foreigners reside, and will then go to the senate, where it will be considered and acted upon, by the senate committee on immigration. Senator Dillingham of Vermont, chair-man of the committee to acted the senate to the sen man of the committee, promises to do all he can in pressing the matter to a vote. Representative Robert W, Bonynge of Colorado, who has attend-ed every meeting of the house commit-ed every meeting of the house commit-tee and has practically investigated ex-isting abuses and the means which should be taken for their correction, said yesterday the committee had considered the various bills that had been introduced including the two presented by the committee appointed by the president.

"I believe we will report a bill that will correct the evils with which our body politic is affected through indis-criminate and illegal naturalization," Mr. Bonynge continued. "The report of the commission and the evidence we have taken show an intolerable con-dition of affairs and it is to the in-terest of ourselves as a nation and as individuals to reason the nation." individuals to prevent the naturaliza tion of persons unfitted for citizenship.

There are 22 others charged with gambling. Prosecutor P. J. Daly will take these cases up in the near future. It is feared that the case against them may fail for the reason that they are charged win gambling, which may be difficult to prove, whereas it would have been an easy matter to establish that they had resorted to a gambling house, which is a punishable offense. Through this loop hole the defense expects to pull its clients into an opening that will result in their discharge.

They have been laughing about it for They have been highing about hit has almost 48 hours, and say that had the officers been preceded by a political drum corps, they would not have given more effectual warning to the knights of the green cloth than they did by the manner in which they opened their as-sault on the place.

WHY THEY DIDN'T.

If the detectives would tell the story, and tell it trainfully, they would ten the soly, and tell it trainfully, they would furn-ish one of the most interesting chan-ters in the absorbing story of "Why it Didn't Happen."

Didn't Happen." Having received a "hunch," from a newspaper man, that it was really a fact that gambling was going on withfact that gambling was going on which in the city limits, the "Sherlock Holmes" and the "Viadooq" of the po-lice department, alias "Dick" Shannon and Howard Wilson, disguised them-selves as citizens and started in hot pursuit, determined to bring the guilty to inclue avan if it cost the hursting of even if it cost the bursting of a pair of galluses.

"A-a-a-a-h villains! We have you now," whispered one of the sleuths to the other as they crept stealthily to the first" door leading into the gambling

By the aid of a match one of the officers discovered the presence of an electric button. Regardless of the terrible consequences that might follow, he bravely pressed it. A bell rang but he bravely pressed R. A bell rang but no other answer was given. The de-tectives cleverly decided to wait—there being nothing else to do—and at last were rewarded by the appearance of a man. Had it been a woman they might have ben surprised, but being a mere man they held their breath and their money purse and waited.

GALLEAZZI APPEARED.

The pilgrims also pushed the button and also the bell rang. The door was opened and a face appeared. The face was that of Sam Galleszi-he of dog fame-the man who used to corari hairfame-the man who used to corar half-less Mexican pups with a wire noose and a stuffed club. Sam admitted the new arrival, and the detectives selzed the opportunity of "butting in." They found themselves in a narrow hall-way, confronted by another and more formidable door. formidable door.
