We believe we can preach the gospel by our works as well as our words. Our elders are blessed with many talents and they are not afraid to use them. During the past two weeks we have practical demonstra-tions of what they can do as plaster-ers, painters, and paper hangers. When it comes to cleaning or repairing a church or preaching the gospel none do it with a better heart or more will-ing spirit than do our Mormon boys.

Sunday evening in the Lynn ward meetinghouse, Weber county, Judge J. A. Howell addressed a conjoint ses-sion of the Y. M. M. I. A. and Y. L. M. I. A. upon the subject of "A Cloud of Witnesses." The judge talked chiefly of conditions with an understanding of right among the young people, saying that to continue doing right is the greatest showing which can be made on this earth. The attendance was un-usually large and the address was folowed closely and with interest,

In part Judge Howell spoke as fol-

Your lives may each be vastly different, your paths far separated; some of you may win for yourselves recog-nition in the professional, the business r the musical world, others may find fame on the artist's canvas, others may inculcate into the minds of the young the same great truths that you have learned from your teachers, others with gifted pens may rouse the world to new endeavors, while others with the doctor's or the nurse's trained hand may soothe the fevered brow and mois-ten the dry, parched lips. Some of you may be destined to live great and clopions lives such that your deeds glorious lives, such that your deeds may be heralded broadcast over the land and then again upon some the line-light will never fall, but to such of you young men who are destined to live lives unknown to fame this should be your consolation, that the strength of our modern civilization, unlike that of the civilization of by-gone days, that the security of our country and its free institutions, unlike that of the nations which have passed into oblivion long ago, depend not so much upon the works and the lives of the few who have been chosen to fame, but upon the works and lives of the entire body of our citizenship. That man, who, day by day, whatever his lot in life may be, lives an honest and an upright life is true to his family and his friends, and whose time apart from his daily duties is devoted to the worship of his God, helping his neighbors and giving pleasure to the community, is adding to the sum of the nation's growth just as nuch as that man wh nousehold word throughout the country. In concluding, Judge Howell said:

CHURCH HIGH SCHOOL.

The special business of the conference was the locating of a Church high school. The Church board of education having acted favorably upon the re-quest of the stake presidency and mem-bers of the Millard stake in granting a Church high school, Supt. Horace H. Church high school, Supt. Horace H. Cummings was sent by President Joseph F. Smith to attend the confer-ence and assist the stake authorities in locating the place for the establish-ment of the school. There were thrue wards competing for the school, Fill-more and Holden on the east side of the stake, and Hinckley near the west side. It was decided by the visiting brethren and stake presidency to leave it to the vote of the stake high coun-cil and ward bishoprics, each bishopric having three votes for each of the 16 wards, making 42 votes in all. The competing wards were represented Conference was held in Norrkoping competing wards were represented Fillmore, by Judge Joshua Greenwood, Holden by Bishop Anthony Stephenson; Hinckley, by John Reeve; each giving Hinckley, by John Reeve; each giving his special reasons why that town should be favored with the school and offering a substantial sum of money, as an inducement to that end, to aid in the construction of the building. Full opportunity was given the brethren of the high council and bishoprics, for dis-cussion and and explanations. On first ballot the vote stood 15 each for Fill-more and Hinckley and 12 for Holden; and for second choice Holden, 30; Hinckley, 8, and Fillmore, 4. It was decided that the second ballot should be between Fillmore and Hinckley with the result of 27 votes cast for Hinckley and 15 for Fillmore. Hinck-ley receiving a mjority vote was grant-ed the high school, and on resolution offered by President Francis M. Lyoffered by President Francis M. Ly-man, the location was made unanimous for Hinckley, by vote of the conference, WILLIAM A. REEVE,
