LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Correspondents writing for publication are requested to write on one side of the paper only. No notice can be taken of anonymous communications. Correspondents' names must be given in full, and their communications must be accompanied by a guarantee of reliability.

THEATRICAL.—Tonight Mr. Waldron will make his first appearance here in two years, as "Richelieu," supported by the strength of the Company. In Bulwer's beautiful and poetic plays there are always a freshness and a charm which make them ever desired, no matter how often they may have been seen. As we love to listen to or repeat a beautiful poem, although every word of every line may be familiar to us; so the cultivated mind delights to see such plays as "Richelieu," and the "Lady of Lyons," though they may be acquainted with every speech of every scene. Mr. McKenzie plays Mauprat, Mr. Lindsay Barradas, Mr. Graham the King, Miss Adams Francois, and Miss Colebrook Julia. The cast is good throughout.

ANOTHER.—Last night there was a Ladies' Leap Year party in the 6th Ward, where all enjoyment and the best of feelings till the hour of separating. The music was excellent, the ladies winning and gallant to their partners, and the arrangements, under the direction of Sisters Hickenlooper, West and Winter, were all that could be desired.

The party was held in the Ward School house, which was decorated for the occasion with flags, banners and pictures. Tastefully arranged. Among the motives were "Female Relief Society," "Remember the poor and needy," "Success to Home Manufacturers," "Rejoice ye daughters of Zion," "God bless our beloved Bishop," and, not the least noticed, "Take pity on the poor Wallflowers," which created its own share of merriment, and was duly remembered by the gentle ladies to whom the stirring appeal was made.

BEAR RIVER TRUCK.—By a gentleman from the north we learn that the Bear River region is rapidly growing in favor. Farms are being taken up along the river from a short distance south of the bridge; and numbers of people are settling and taking up farms in Malad valley. The waters of the river are high; but Godbe & Hamilton's new bridge, which spans it, is a good and substantial one. Travel is not heavy yet, though numbers are coming south from Idaho, bound for Sweetwater. The hotel, by the bridge, gives excellent accommodation, and the weary traveler enjoys its good things exceedingly. The roads are good north and south of the river.

HIPPOCRACY.—This new addition to dietetics is, of course, growing in favor, or said to be. Why should it not, seeing that it is endorsed by literati, aristocracy, and what not, who meet and enjoy themselves over roast horse, boiled horse, and horse steaks; perhaps the next thing will be cut cutlets and mule pie. Here is the latest on the subject:

"Justly represents a gentleman at dinner holding up a horse shoe from the soup tureen, and saying, 'For my soul, it's too bad! This is the second time that cook's forgot to take the shoes off.'"

Do western cooks ever find ox-shoes in the soup pot? Haven't advanced that far, likely. Add to this the following jeu d'esprit credited to Charles Matthews:

"If horseshew won't suffice to feed the masses, The next resource will certainly be asses, And Heaven only knows where that will end! Some people won't have left a single friend."

THE CUSTOMARY.—Is it a peculiarity of gold hunting and gold mining, not characteristic of mining among the "baser" metals, that men should grow reckless of life and indulge in bloodshed on the slightest provocation? It almost seems so. The Sweetwater Mines says that on the 15th "A report was brought into the Post, (Herald) that two Sweetwater-bound individuals, whose names we have been unable to ascertain, got into a dispute at Pioneer Hollow on the previous day. Result—a knife soaked into the back and groin of one of the combatants, constituting a loud call for the other side of Jordan."

GRAPES.—The editor of the Dalles (Oregon) Mountaineer has had a present of grapes which were grown last year, and were packed during the winter in saw dust. When taken out, they retained their rich flavor and full round size, as when picked from the vine. Who, of our grape growers will keep them plump and juicy as when picked, during the winter? and enable us to enjoy similar delicious treats late in the Spring.

REMOVED.—The Sweetwater Mines of the 15th announces its departure from Fort Bridger, the roads being in a condition to admit of travel. The next paper will be printed in the Sweetwater country.

A LEAP YEAR PARTY.—Another of these balls came off last evening at the 14th Ward School Rooms, the object being the benefit of the Sunday School of that Ward. The names of the committee of arrangements were Mrs. D. Richardson, Mrs. G. H. Taylor, Mrs. C. Romney, Miss J. Seaman and Miss A. M. Taylor; and Miss Emily Tanner as Floor Manager. Great pains had been taken in fitting up the rooms for the occasion, the new west wing of the building having been arranged in most excellent style as a drawing room. The walls were decorated with paintings and engravings, and in the west wing a fine piano furnished excellent music for those who did not wish to dance, while a profusion of stereoscopic views, books, magazines, albums, chess, etc., supplied agreeable amusement to those who preferred that method of spending their time. There was a much larger company present than the committee expected to see. Several who had returned their notes of invitation afterwards changed their minds and were present. There were one hundred and twelve numbers given out by the committee—more numbers than the capacity of the house would admit of dancing as often as customary. But all felt good-humored and pleasant, and the enjoyment appeared to be unalloyed. The object of the party is a worthy one, and those who patronized it felt that their money was well invested. Among those present were Presidents R. Young and D. H. Wells, Elders Orson Pratt, John Taylor and George Q. Cannon; Bishop Edward Hunter and Gen. Robert T. Burton. The Committee deserve great credit for the manner in which everything was arranged.

GOING EAST.—This morning Fred. T. Perrie and S. P. Tinsdel, Engrs., left by coach for the east. Mr. Tinsdel represents the firm of Jennings & Co., and will attend to its business. Mr. Perrie will conduct the business of Cronyn & Perrie. He will also buy largely on commission, his energy, indefatigable industry and business tact making him a very popular commission merchant. We wish the gentlemen a pleasant trip and "safe home again."
