

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THEATRICAL.—"Masks and Faces" was played last night and attracted a fair house. This really fine play was well performed throughout, Miss Lockhart playing Peg Woffington.

To-night Mr. Margets takes his benefit, when Boucault's fine drama of "Jane Eyre" will be presented, with Miss Lockhart in the title role, Mr. Margets as Rochester, and a good cast. This of itself will be a treat; and it will be followed by the side-splitting farce of "The Fearful Tragedy of the Seven Dials," in which Mr. Margets will appear as Timothy Slumpington.

POLICE.—Thomas Whitney was this morning fined $5 for being drunk.

"PHIL'S" BENEFIT.—Yesterday we omitted to call attention to Mr. Margets' benefit. The omission was caused by a certain amount of hurrying driving it from memory. He is entitled to the warmest notice we can write, and to a house crowded from orchestra to ceiling. He has been longer before the public in this city than any other actor or actress. He has always given satisfaction, always on hand. As a gentleman in private life all who know him appreciate his genial qualities; as an actor he has for years held the front position in his line, and would make his mark on any stage. And the public have so long and so often enjoyed the efforts of his well trained and fine abilities, that they should give him the enjoyment of a substantial benefit. He has selected an excellent bill for the occasion. Crowd the house.

WORMS.—Friend Obadiah writes us a disquisition on worms in his quaint Quaker style, which makes us almost tremble lest he is threatened with an attack of Ascarides. Of course he lives in Pleasant Grove, and friend Watt, known as George D., had been enlightening the people there on the value of worms. Friend Obadiah's mother always tried to have the worms removed from her family; and her worthy son has followed the example with laudable persistence. But now everybody in Pleasant Grove is señal-crazy to get them. Friend Watt having indisputably proved that they are profitable, get worms, friend Obadiah, yea verily, for thou shalt find them valuable after their kind; and plant them upon mulberry trees that they may feed upon the leaves of the tree, that thy garments may be of the beautiful silk and thy hand-maidens shine like the stars in their lustre.

NEW MUSIC.—We have received the February number of "Peters' Musical Monthly." It is a very neat, unpretentious 8-page quarto, combining the romantic with the scientific. A theatrical sketch, "Her last appearance," occupies some four pages; "The Night-Bell," a police story, and some poetry, miscellaneous editorials, and reviews follow. The remainder of the number is devoted to the following thirty pages of music, chiefly with male voices, marches, &c. J. L. Peters, publisher, 128 Broadway, N. Y. $1 per annum.

INFORMATION WANTED. concerning William and Caroline Montgomery, (bro. and sister) who sailed from Glasgow, Scotland, in 1854, for Melbourne, Australia; they were last heard from in 1858, and were then living in Melbourne. Address Mary Montgomery, care of Wm. H. Miles, 117, John St., New York City.

Midland Star and Australian papers please copy.

SPRING IN WINTER.—The present winter is one of the most remarkable experienced in this Territory since its settlement. In reality there has been no winter yet of the kind that is usually felt in this valley. A few snow storms have occurred, covering the ground occasionally to the depth of five or six inches; but the snow has quickly disappeared. The atmosphere at times has had all the balminess of early spring; and to-day the sun is shining clear and beautiful, the snow which covered the earth on Saturday morning has gone; the south side of the mountains around is bare; and it seems as if a few weeks would see the fresh green of early foliage clothing the city.

For the advance of the great national railroad no more propitious season could have been enjoyed. The canyons have been free from snow in a remarkable degree; the cold has not been anything like so intense as it usually is; and everything indicates that an overruling Providence has blessed the work to its speedy completion.

INFORMATION WANTED. concerning John Montgomery, who left New York City, with the Saints of the Emerald Isle, Aug. 18th, 1868. He traveled in their company until three days journey west of Beaton, where all trace of him was lost. Any person knowing of his whereabouts will confer a favor by writing to his sister, Mary Montgomery, care of Wm. H. Miles, Esq., 117, John St., New York City.

Frontier Index or Phenix please copy.

MOVING ON.—The track of the U.P.R.R. was in Round Valley, Weber Canyon, last night, about three miles below the tunnels which are now passed. On Friday night last three locomotives were puffing and panting between the upper and lower tunnel, with a train of cars about half a mile long. Everything is clear to Devil's gate; then on for Ogden!

Correspondence.

FILLMORE CITY, Feb. 4, 1899.

Editor Deseret News.—Dear Sir,—As the former capital of the State of Deseret is not often represented in your columns, I thought I would give you a few items in regard to it. Although the face of our city has considerably diminished since the days of its legislative importance, still certain characteristics cling to it with a pertinacity worthy of a better cause. Since the advent of our worthy and much respected Bishop, Thomas Callister, things in general have moved along with an increasing harmoniousness, and there seems to be a willingness among the generally of the people to do right and to live as becomes people making such high pretensions as the Latter-day Saints do. But notwithstanding the general tendency of the people to do right there are at times seen cropping out certain elements of a character not very commendable.

Upon the first day of the present month certain individuals with strong bibulous inclinations associated themselves with a corresponding amount of outside or regenerative influence (of which, by the by, we have some resident among us,) procured a team and sleigh and all the necessities for a day's regular justification.

It is merely possible that the design was to do good in assisting to establish a market for the various products of the Diskie mission. However this may be, the sleigh being loaded with the above described element, passed up a d down our streets describing a series of circles and circles to the intense enjoyment of those within, which was manifested by repeated vociferations and loud outbursts of merriment until finally the affair culminated in a grand row or free fight; in which every one went in on his own account drunk to do each other any serious injury. The outcome of the affair was that seven or eight crest-fallen chaps were brought before Justice Mace and fined in sums varying from three to twenty-five dollars. I do not wish to describe all the transactions of the aforesaid lot of February, nor yet some ludicrous performances in trying to subvert females who were eye witnesses to the affair but wished to screen the cultists for friendship's sake. The point I wish to impress upon the minds of the minds of the public is, that although we may have been somewhat slack and dilatory in attending to matters of this kind, we do not intend that such an element shall continue to grow unchecked in the midst of our community. And when roving scapegraces come to Fillmore with the expectation of uniting with those whom we have in our midst of like tendencies, they will find that a paltry fine is the least evil that will overtake them.

General health prevails, and all things are moving along about right. Our evenings are varied by evening schools, meetings and occasional dances. Theatricals are in preparation.

Yours &c.,

CONSTANT.
