He proceeded to argue that neither the President protempore of the Senate nor the Speaker of the flouse was a United States officer, and in support of his position quoted from the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, where a distinction is made between a member of Congress and a United States officer. He picked out the flaws which he contended existed in the present statute, and the manner in which, it called into operation, it would destroy the symmetry of our National election system. While admitting that the pending measure did not, and no statutory provision could, meet every exigency which might arise in the Freedential succession, he answered many of the objections made to it, and showed wherein sion, he answered many of the object

McAdoo contended that the investigation should be general. Republicans had been discharged from other navy yards on the Eastern coast and why not at Norfolk?

Hewitt inquired if it would be contended that the victors were not entitled to the spoils.

Thomas acquiesced in that assumption, but said in the case under consideration it was a question not of politics, not whether a republican had been displaced by a democrat, but whether the statute giving preference to Union soldiers had been violated. He wanted to know whether Union soldiers had been discharged to make way for repel soldiers and whether the memorial stones commemorating Union victories had been obliterated.

Hewitt inquired if the gentleman

Nevada, 1Mo., 15.—Henry S. Stair, who is to hang here to-day, was visited by his, father about unne o'clock last night, after which he spent most of his lime writing until four o'clock this morning, when he went to steep. He awoke at 8:16.—Large crowds of people surged through the streets all morning, tramping between the fail and gallows, which is erected in a ravine forming a natural anilphtheatre about a mile from the jail. Trains from Sedalia and Kansas City arrived at 10.30, bringing hundreds of people to witness the execution, which will take place about one o'clock. The crime for which Stair is to be executed was brutal and cold blooded in the extreme. Stair and his companion, a woman named Namette Osborn, who was to have been hanged with him, came to Nevada about the first of last July from Fort Scott, Kansas, and opened a small laundry, representing themselves as man and wife. Shortly after their arrival Jacob Sewall an elderly man and his son sixteen years old, with two wagons, four horses, and some other property, also came here from near Fort Scott and went into camp near town. The Stairs and Sewells were arightly acquainted and the Stairs made frequent visits to Sewall was taken sick and compelled to keep his bed in one of the wagons which had a cover, and he was looked after by Stair and the Osbora woman. A Help to Good Digestion.

In the British Medical Journal, Dr. W. Roberts, of England, discusses the effect of liquors, tea, coffee and cocos on digestion. All of them retard the chemical processes, but most of them stimulate the glandular activity and muscular contractions. Distilled spirits retard the salivary or peptic digestion, but slightly when sparingly used. Wines were found to be highly injurious to salivary digestion. On peptic digestion all wines exert a retarding influence. They stimulate the glandular and muscular activity of the stomach. Effervescent wines exert the greatest amount of good with the least harm to digestion. When one's digestion is out of order everything goes awry, unless, as in the case of T. T. Seals, of Bellsire, Ohio, who had bad dyspepsia for seven years, the digestive apparatus is kept in apple-pic eating-order by Warner's Tippecanoe, the best appetite producer and regulator in the world.
