WILL BEGIN PROCEEDINGS.

Attorney Jones Claims a Year in Which to Commence Action-Says His Clientis in the Fight to Stay.

When the Doctor Park will contest ensation was sprung on the Sait Lake public a week ago, Attorney N. V. Jones declared that proceedings would be formally begun within a day or two. The fact that no steps have been taken in that direction up to today had caused some persons to incline to the belief that the matter would be dropped and no actual court contest made.

When Mr. Jones was seen in relation o the matter this afternoon he said: anger than that. The to defer must begin action this is. I have a year in the contest; and the contest w in this fight to stay and we w.

THE LATE BARON RUSSELL.

Baron Russell of Killowen, Lord Thief Justice of England, who died at Kensington on August 10th, was the first Irishman and the first Roman Catholic who had filled the offices of attorney general and lord chief justice of England since the Reformation. He succeeded Lord Coleridge as chief fusce. He was known not only in Great ritain as a clever lawyer and an able rist, but his reputation and friend ips extended to this country, where he had been a most welcome t. Personally he was a thorough student in legal matters, was a lover of racing and other athletic sports, was fond of society life, and withal was a make-up there was a delightful mixture of humor and of deep religious senti-ment. He was born at Newry, County Down, on November 10, 1832, of a family of small gentry that had been settled in Ulster for six hundred years and had always retained its Catholic faith,
Young Russell began the study of law in Belfast and then took a course in daily.

Trinity college, Dublin, an unusual step for a Catholic to take. He was admitted to the bar in 1859, and first attracted public attention as a cross-examiner in the notorious Irish case of Yelverton vs Yelverton. After that he was employed Yelverton. After that he was employed in many cases that secured public notice. He was counsel for Mr. Labouchere in many libel suits against Truth, and he was retained by Lady Colin-Campbell in her divorce suit. He defended Mrs. Maybrick and never ceased to believe in her innocence. He was one of the counsel of Great Britain on the Bering Sea arbitration case at Paris. His most celebrated case was that of Mr. Parnell's suit against the Times, in which he laid bare the famous Piggott forgeries. He was first elected to Parliament in 1880. In 1886 Mr. Gladstone made him attorney general and he was knighted. When the Gladstone admia. again beame attorney general. Lor Rosebery, in May, 1894, made him lord justice of appeal in ordinary. He was then made a life peer with a title of Baron Russell of Killowen in the county of Down. THRIVING TOWNS IN EMERY

By Hard Work, Residents of That County are Achieving Success.

Railway Facilities Needed - Great Coal Deposits-Burglary at Ferron-The "News" in the Lead.

Orangeville, Emery Co., Utah, Oct. 13. -This is one of the new counties of Utah in the way of settlement, having been occupied but little over twenty years; but it is well along in a thriving condition, considering all the circumstances. The chief avenue of communication with the outside is by way of Price, on the R. G. W. By the way, this town, now the county seat of Carbon county, was once embraced within the limits of Emery county, before Carbon county had a place on the map. It is in the midst of Utah's great coalproducing region today, but is really almost at the northern end of the great coal beit in this valley. Price is also a busy shipping point for other products from this part of Utah besides coal, one illustration being in the shipment this week of seven carloads of honcy from Carbon and Emery counties, chiefly the latter; and Price, Castle Gate, Sunnyside, Scoffeld and other places along the R. G. W. railway furnished a good market for typoduce.

Coming into Emery county by way of of considerable size, Huntington. road thither, like most of the highways in Emery county, is far from being a boulevard. There are not many rocks—far too few, in fact. The soil is a light clay, very deep, and easily washed. Thus the rains cause deep washes or gullies, and much care has to be given to keeping the roads in order. At the best, they are quickly lined with ruts and chuckholes, and when the stage horses or other teams jog slong at a trot, the horses are not doing the only jogging. It is jolt, jump and bump, up hill and down hill, till the destination is reached.

HUNTINGTON.

Huntington is twenty-three miles rom Price, a little west of south. It is the largest town in Emery county, and along the Huntington river, nearly a thousand people there are making the waste places glad. At the present time about a dozen goood dwellings are being erected in the town, besides one or two stores. A new meeting house, quite an Imposing structure, is nearing comple-tion, and the town gives evidence of thrift and industry. Here the post-A. second team will play a game of football with the All Hallows second team. The game will be played at Walker's field.

CASTLE DALE. Now I must address to my young renders and especially those of Ameri From Huntington to Castle Dale, the ounty seat of Emery, is ten miles, over a rough and dusty road. Castle Dale is one of the preitiest towns in the county, and is thrifty as it is pretty. Ewenty-three years ago, in 1877, Orange Seeley was called to settle in Castle Valley and located Cottonwood creek. It was a hard proposition at that time, but "Uncle Orange" was a man of energy, good judgment, and determination, so he made the place a "go." It tion, so he made the place a go. It has bene going ever since, and while it is second in population, it stands first in the list of busy, hustling towns in the county. There are many good, substantial brick buildings, and some in course of construction. The school building now being finished there cost $10,000. It is a live place—a veritable basis of busy, happy life, in the midst of a desert which almost surrounds it. als town has two candidates nominated last week for office, A. D. Dixon, for county attorney, and J. W. Seeley for member of the Legislature—the House branch. Mr. Dixon is a school teacher at Castle Dale, was one of Utah's vol-unteers in the late war with Spain, being a Torrey Rough Rider, and is a lawyer, having been first admitted to the bar in Indiana. Mr. Seeley is a brother of "Uncle Orange," a sheepman, catileman and farmer, one of the stand-

EMERY.

Twenty-six miles almost due south of Castle Dale is Emery, which also is near the southern limit of the greatest of Utah's coal fields. It also is a hust-ing, thriving place. The buildings are cood, many of them new; the new meeting house, now in course of erection, will cost $7,000. Like the other towns the Bitters. It cures the above disorders quickly and permanently.

W. railway runs through the latter place, so that Emery has two railway stations, Price and Salina, about equi-distant. This little burg of about 600 people furnished two nominees on the ticket last week, Alonzo Brinkerhoof for county commissioner and Alfred Smith for treasurer and assessor. Mr. Brinkerhoof is a farmer, stock-raiser and aplarist, and Mr. Smith is a book-keeper and farmer.

FERRON.

Thirteen miles nearer the county seat Thirteen miles nearer the county seat than Emery, and thirteen miles from Castle Dale, is the bustling, thriving village of Ferron, with over 600 population. It is located on Ferron creek, which was so named by Dr. Kenner, of Manti, in honor of Mr. Ferron, U. S. surveyor, who platted that part of the country. The town is the home of John ountry. The town is the home of John C. Lemon, whose "Emery county fruit" at the recent State Fair attracted much attention. Mr. Lemon has a magnifi-cent orchard, ten acres in bearing trees, and some of the finest fruit ever pro-duced in the West. There are all var-leties, and hundreds of dollars come to him each year from his sales. Beside the fruit-bearing orchard he has a nev addition, eighteen months old, of 350 apple trees of one variety, Ben Davis, Mr. Lemon raises lots of hay and farm Mr. Lemon raises lots of hay and farm produce as well, and also chickens, turkeys and hogs. Next to him is Andrew Nelson's farm. Mr. Nelson this year makes a net profit of $1,200 from his bees alone; while John Zwalen, another resident of Ferron, reaches the income of $1,000 from honey. Ferron's buildings are good the new school house costing about $7,000. Thursday night, the Ferron Co-operative store was burglarized and over $300 worth of its contents taken. The town does a good the rallroad, a ride by stage, wagon or horse conveys one to the nearest town a nomination for election to county office, that of Henry Thompson, raiser of live-stock, for sheriff.

ORANGEVILLE.

Only three miles from Castle Dale, and farther up the Cottonwood creek, is Orangeville, a town almost as large as the county seat, and named after the founder of the latter, Or Seeley, It was one of first locations in the co-Work has been commenced here on a new school house and a new meeting house, the former to cost $5,000, and the latter $6,000. S. P. Snow of Orangeville has been nominated for county commis sioner, and Jesse Jewkes of the same place for county recorder. The former is a sheep owner and farmer, and the latter a school teacher at Orangeville.

OTHER PLACES.

The other settlements in the county are Cleveland, thirteen miles from Cas-tle Dale, and twenty from Price; Desert Lake, four miles northeast of Hunting-ington: Lawrence, seven miles east of Huntington: and Molen, six miles east of Ferron. All are prosperous. Cleveland has a nominee for office, S. N. Al-ger for county commissioner. Mr. Alger follows farming for a livelihood. POLITICS.

In present circumstances of course olitics is lively. During this week Co George B. Squires and James H. Ander Esq., of Salt Lake City, have been in the county, making political ad-dresses. They were at Huntington on Tuesday evening, Castle Dale on Wednesday evening, Emery on Thursday evening, Ferron on Friday evening, and Orangeville on Saturday evening. At every place they were greeted by large, attentive, and appreciative audiences. Next week W. D. Livingston of Manti, candidate for district attor ney, will "stump" the county. The olitical speeches this week have been lear and vigorous discussions of party issues, without a breath of "mud-slinging." People of all parties have attended and have been entertained in-tellectually by the straightforward, dignified presentations made. If local speakers and politicians would follow the example set, there would be more dignity and real instruction in politics, and no quarreling or bad words.

The registration for the two days this week was quite heavy, indicating great interest in the coming election.

COAL IN EMERY.

Emery county wants a rallroad south from Price, and ought to have one about sixty miles long, exclusive of spurs and switches. It would be in the richest coal region of the West—the richest in the world, says Bishop Brin-kerhoof of Emery ward. This would make a line through Castle Valley to the town of Emery, and would touch every town of importance in the coun-Further, it would tap this most conderful coal region, where there are now hundreds of coal mines, and hundreds more could be opened. The coal vein ranges all the way from five to thirty feet in thickness, and reaches to a few miles south of Emery, some of the very best coal is found. The whole section is a wonderful coal producing region, and it would pay the railway for the coal traffic alone, by which the whole West and Facific Coast could be supplied. There is also other traffic of considerable proportion, about thirty miles from Emery is a rich copper mine, indicating valuable metal deposits in that region. There are similar mines east of Castle Dale

THE HONEY YIELD.

Mention has been made of honey alsed in this region, and of seven carloads sent out from Price. This is only a small part of it. Every town in Emery county raises a large amount, and teams hauling it to the railway now line the roads. This year the southernmost town, Emery, produced 45,000 pounds. This is one of the smallest ucts in Emery county.

HAY, LIVE STOCK, ETC.

All the farm products are produced here. It takes work of couplenty of it, but it is done. The labor has been insufficient, an impossible to hire. The hay has been very large, and I good market. There is a gr of sheep and cattle, well among many owners, with ularly large herds. Hore etc., are in plenty. Of the are of the Hereford and Shorther breeds, though there are others. breeds, though there are others.

This is enough for the present. Emery county is a great county, if its resistance not smooth. And it has a good people. It needs development by a railway, by reservoirs, canals, sie Of reservoirs, the people are putting is several, five of them now being constructed above the town of Emery, and two above Ferron. Begides these and two above Ferron. here are a number of canals then government aid comes, this mean enhanced, and will bring in a populaion that can be supported there.
