The Box Elder Stake Conference

The greater portion of the time was occupied by Bishops verbally reporting their wards.

2 p. m.

Pres. W. W. Woodruff spoke of the endless variety existing in creation; God's revelations unto Abraham touching the intelligences, etc. His promises to Israel's lineage, and of the outpouring of his wrath upon all who fight against his servants and people.

Singing benediction

2 p.m.
The sacrament was administered by President W. W. Woodruff, marked on the entrance of the pioneers into Salt Lake Valley, 34 years ago to-day between 10 and 11 a.m. God brought the people here and he designs they shall not be overcome; neither shall Zion be moved out.

late his eyesight failed him very much and also his hearing, which seemed to trouble him considerably. About five weeks previous to his death, while mowing lucerne in a field, he fell in a ditch and came to a violent end, his head striking a sharp gash on the top of his head, by which he lost considerable blood, but whether this affected his brain or not we cannot say; hence his untimely death is a mystery to all. He leaves a widow nearly 70 years of age, children, grandchildren and many grandchildren to mourn.
