Catarrh is usually worse in Winter, because of the cold, damp and the unpleasant symptoms of the disease commence. The nostrils are stopped up and a constant dropping of mucous back into the throat keeps up a continual hawking and spitting. The patient has dull headaches, ringing noises in the ears, and often slight fever and a depressed, half-sick feeling accompanies the disease. The blood becomes so fully charged with catarrial matter that stomach troubles are brought on, the kidneys and bladder are affected, and if the blood is not purified of the poison the lungs become diseased because of the constant passage of impure blood through them. Catarrh cannot be cured with washes, sprays, inhalations and such treatment; these cannot reach the poison-laden blood where the real cause is

> Washington, March 22.-President Roosevelt tonight announced his disapproval of the findings of acquittal in the case of Capt. Lewis M. Koehler, Fourth cavalry. U. S. A., cavalry commander at Jolo, Philippine Islands.

Capt. Koehler was charged with using disrespectful language in an appeal from the action of Gen. Wood, who reprimanded Capt. Keehler for making charges against Maj. Scott, commanding officer at the Jolo military post and civil governor of Jolo, and was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman in making unfounded and malicious statements regarding his commanding officer and with insubordination. The first court-martial sentenced him to be reprimanded, and then a second court-martial, on which today's action was based, acquitted him.

The White House, Wednesday, March 22, 1907. 22, 1907.
The proceedings, findings and acquittal in the case of Capt, Lewis M. Koehler, Fourth eavairy, U. S. A., are disapproved. I entirely concur in all that the secretary of war says of Capt. Koehler and of Gen. Wood and of the poor showing made by the court which last passed on the case.

Secy. Tart, in his letter, says:
Capt. Koehler is an officer with an excellent record for courageous service in the field and for attention to duty generally. He distinguished himself at the battle of Mont Dajo. Capt. Koehler made himself very annoying to Maj. Scott by insistence that Maj. Scott should be in his office at certain times and should discharge his duties as military post commander with the same degree of promptness that he would have done had he not the additional duties of civil governor. The friction became so great that Capt. Koehler filed charges against Maj. Scott later filed charges against Maj. Scott later filed charges against

Maj. Scott later filed charges against Capt. Koehler. A court-martial found Capt. Koehler A court-martial found Capt. Koehier guilty of preferring captious and unnecessary charges against his commanding officer. In reprimanding Koehier under the sentence of the court-martial Gen. Wood declared that Capt. Koehier's conceptions of the standard of conduct and uprightness as they exist in the army were distorted to a degree not found in the just and fair-minded, and that he should cultivate those habits of true soldierly subordination which the evidence in the case showed him to lack.

Capt. Koehler appealed to the secretary of war, alleging he was practically denied counsel; that the department commander was the accuser and prosecutor, and that the court erred in over-ruling the pied in bar of trial based on that fact: that the reprimand was harsh and excessive, and that an application for a court of inquiry on the charges made against Maj.
