

CONFERENCE OF SCHOOL TEACHERS

Church Educators Listen to Paper by Osborne J. P. Widdsoe On Teaching Theology.

SPECIAL QUALIFICATIONS.

Urges the Aim of Every Course Should Be a Living, Active Faith in the Subject.

This morning at 9:30 at the Latter-day Saints' university the Church school teachers listened to a paper by Osborne J. P. Widdsoe on the "Teaching of Theology." In summing up his points Prof. Widdsoe says:

"I would say that every teacher of theology should be specially qualified for the work he undertakes; that the aim of every course should be to inculcate a living, active faith, particularly in subject in hand; that the aim of every daily recitation should be, not to impress some irrelevant truth foreign to the subject in hand, but to build up the great aim of the course; that, finally the great aim of all the aim of our four years of work, should be immovably to establish an absorbing faith in the existence and the fatherhood of God, the Father of all, the Ruler of all, the great Creator in whom we live and move and have our being."

After a lively discussion of the points in the paper, N. L. Nelson presented a paper on "The Correlation of Theology with English." Prof. Nelson contended in his presentation that the main object to be aimed at is not so much the teaching of correct forms, as the developing of the spiritual life and growth within the soul.

MONDAY AFTERNOON.

Two Excellent Papers Are Presented At Well Attended Meeting.

Two excellent papers were presented at the Monday afternoon session of the Religion class workers: "Problems of Religion in the Home," by John Henry Evans; and "High School Religion Class Work," by George H. Brimhall. Prof. Evans in his paper emphasized the need of the doctrine rather than the learning, the giving out, rather than the continual getting.

Dr. Brimhall treated his subject under a number of carefully arranged headings, beginning with the psychological, the sociological, and the theological necessity of teaching religion to students of high school grade. He said it has been generally accepted that the most important period of life in which to impress religious truths is the age of secondary school instruction. The Lord called Joseph Smith at the age of 14 and began to train him for his calling as prophet and church organizer.

The difficulties of conducting a high school religion class were not overlooked by Dr. Brimhall. One of the first was the difficulty of getting teachers who are converted, and who feel that the Church is the greatest thing on earth; teachers also, who are more interested in the students than in the things taught, and who are not L. D. S. agnostics who say, "It seems to me to be so," instead of saying, "It is so."

A second difficulty is in getting proper parental authority to back up the movement. The school teachers are prone to discourage any work not in their daily curriculum, therefore, it is necessary to have the parent's active support.

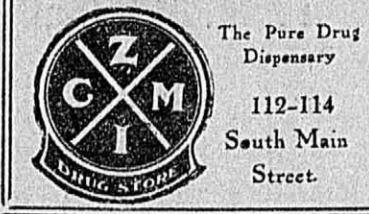

The speaker then offered the following helpful suggestions: Get the practical co-operation of other organizations. Have high school students excused from all religious duties except their priesthood quorums. Let the religion class meet one and one-half hours during the week, and let it form one or more distinct classes in the Sunday school. This would give three hours per week for which the student might get credit at some church school. The Church school can lend great aid by furnishing teachers to work in the religion classes.

Dr. Brimhall read the resolution, recently adopted by the general Church board of education, and said this placed the stamp of authority on a closer

BIG NIGHT AT WANDAMERE. Gov. Sperry and Staff, Mayor Bransford and Other Officials Will Be There.

The production of Vesuvius at Wandamere last evening was prevented by the rainstorm. The rain fell in torrents just at the time the performance was billed to commence, and several hundred people who had gathered to witness it were unable to do so.

It is expected that Gov. Sperry and the members of the city council will be present in force, and a portrait in fire of Mayor Bransford will be shown. It is expected that Gov. Sperry and the members of his staff will also be present. Special features this evening in the fireworks part of the show will be "Jumbo," the fire climber; "Aladdin's Jewel Tree," a double transformation; and numerous other pieces, comical and otherwise. The eruption of Vesuvius will be presented, as usual, by the carnival of Naples.

DEATH OF A PIONEER.

Mrs. Martha West Passes to the Other Side After Notable Career.

Mrs. Martha J. West, one of the pioneer residents of Utah, died Monday afternoon at 3:50 o'clock at the family residence, 223 south Second West street, after a four months' illness from general debility. Mrs. West was born at Lukner, Oxfordshire, England, Nov. 2, 1835, and was the daughter of Henry and Elizabeth Wittingham Joiner. When eight years of age she was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and with her mother and sister emigrated to Utah in 1855, taking up their residence in Ogden City, passing through many of the early privations of pioneer life. In 1858 she was married to Bishop Chauncey W. West, one of the most prominent and influential men of his day at the Junction City. When 33 years of age her husband died, leaving her with five small children to provide for, one child having died six years previous. Throughout her entire life Mrs. West was a consistent, energetic Church worker, taking special interest in the Relief society, both at Ogden and Salt Lake. She was good and kind to the poor and those in distress, ever being ready to assist both with her strength and means to help others.

Surviving her are three children, Mrs. Jennie E. Nelson of Ogden, Brigham City, and Byron A. West of Salt Lake City. The sisters Mrs. Margaret C. Ellis, 14 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at the family residence, 223 south Second West street, at 1 o'clock. Remains will be in state at the home on date of funeral between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. The body will be sent to Ogden Wednesday afternoon and taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nelson, 312 Twenty-fourth street, where it may be viewed Thursday and Friday until 1 o'clock. Funeral services will be held at the Ogden Third ward meetinghouse Friday at 2 o'clock. Interment will take place in the Ogden City cemetery.

PROVO INVADED BY COUNTRY EDITORS

PEACH LANDS INSPECTED.

Yesterday's Junket Proves One of Entertainment, Instruction and General Good Fellowship Throughout.

The members of the Utah Press association, augmented by representatives from four of the daily papers, returned from Provo last night carrying their heads full of statistics on the peach crop of the east and west benches and their commissariat department surcharged with chicken, trout, Dutch lunches and pie like mother used to make, while their cars still rang with the eloquence of W. H. Itay, James Clove, Mayor Decker, W. M. Roylance and the rest of the patriotic citizens of Provo.

The day was universally voted as the best yet by the country editors, and it is safe to say that Provo from this time on can get top of column next to pure reading matter in every country paper throughout Utah.

The association met in the assembly hall at the Commercial club at 10 a. m., and after listening to an address of welcome on the part of Mayor Decker, for two hours discussed matters connected with the craft.

Following the business session, the 20 visitors were loaded into automobiles and conveyances and driven to Heisel's resort in Provo canyon, or to be more correct, rode part of the way and then walked, as the raging Provo river had put both the railroad and the road out of commission. En route the visitors were given ample opportunity to investigate the fruit possibilities of the now famous peach lands. Hundreds of acres are planted with peach trees and orchards, with strawberry patches extending for 3000 acres, raspberries, currants, and the entire tribe of small fruits growing luxuriantly. On all sides were witnessed evidences of prosperity in the form of new brick residences with all the modern conveniences and school houses at stated intervals to take care of the young and rising generation. Within the city limits of Provo 300 brick houses are now in course of erection and beyond the building boom seemed to have extended equally.

DINNER AT HEISEL'S.

A brief rest was undertaken at Olmstead where a big gang of men and the young electrical engineers of the Telluride company were at work lighting back the river which threatened to sweep away the transformer house and wreck the headgates of the half-dozen canals at this point; and then the party walked up the resort, negotiating on the way two bad washouts on the Heisel branch of the Rio Grande. At the Heisel hotel a trout and chicken dinner was served. The banquet demonstrated that there was no "over-set" and the various items were locked in the forms with expedition. T. L. Holman of Bingham, however, took a mean advantage of his competitor and endeavored to rush through an extra plate of trying to put a piece of custard pie in his pocket. This act cost him a fine as soon as he got back to town. D. P. Felt, former president of the association, captured the first prize for the biggest makeup of classified and unclassified matter, with the Logan rivals close seconds.

Having been sufficiently tamed and fed, the visitors were, then deemed calm enough to be taken to the state mental hospital. Here the banquet was inspected and one and all listened to a dissertation on the causes of insanity on the part of the assistant superintendent who did the honors in the absence of Dr. Calder, who is in the east.

ORATORY IN EVENING.

A short rest was then taken at the Commercial club and then a Dutch lunch with oratory and rhed singing was the menu. James Clove presided and saw that none escaped. The affair awoke all the respectable dogs for three blocks adjoining and they expostulated. Everybody made a speech, although the flights of oratory, especially on the part of the Provo contingent, were masterpieces; others were not so lucid on account of gross jealousy on the part of the less gifted who made it their special aim to interrupt and embarrass with uncalculated and unkind remarks. P. P. Jensen and David Larsen might be mentioned as making it their aim to be the most scholarly and profound speakers of the evening, while Editor Tanner from Cache made the most popular effort of the banquet. The only man who did not make a speech was Shiro Hida, manager of the Rocky Mountain Times, the local organ of the Japanese; however, this gentleman confided to his neighbor that he thought the occasion very classy and the gathering most profound.

RESOLUTIONS PASS.

Just before the stampered for conveyances to catch the train commenced, the choir sang and the following resolution went through with a whoop: "The thanks and gratitude of the members of the Utah Press association assembled at Provo June 7, 1909, for the elaborate entertainment furnished by the citizens of Provo, are herewith acknowledged. Especially do we most earnestly tender thanks to the prime movers in the affair, D. J. Larsen of the Provo Herald, Heber Hicks of the Enquirer, W. H. Ray of the Provo Bench and William M. Roylance of the Utah county fruit and produce interests, and that noble son of Scandinavia, Hans Heisel, who furnished such an elaborate feast. Thanks for the jolly banquet which closed the festivities in the Commercial club rooms are also herewith in order."

At the depot the choir once more sang by request in a fashion that made all the tourists in the Pullmans hide their valuables under the impression that a wild and woolly western holdup was about to be pulled off.

On invitation of T. L. Holman the Utah Press association will meet again in September at Bingham.

LIGHT VOTE ON CAPITOL

has, with practical unanimity, submitted to the qualified voters of the state, the question of the erection in Salt Lake City of a state capitol buildings and.

Whereas, The growing needs of the state, in our judgment, imperatively demand that such a building be erected at as early a date as is possible and proper, in order that the state's rapidly increasing business may be expeditiously and economically handled and its valuable archives safely preserved, and Whereas, State loyalty and state pride would seem to require that Utah place herself in line with her progressive and energetic sister commonwealths in this regard, and Whereas, Our people are unusually prosperous and the tax proposed is so small that its payment will work no hardship upon any class of citizens, therefore be it

Resolved, That the board of governors of the Commercial club, having closely at heart the best interests and welfare of the state, earnestly recommends to the voters of the state that they vote "yes" on the general proposition.

THE OUTSIDE VOTE.

The "News" ascertained by telephone reports at a late hour this afternoon information from different sections of the state as to the progress of the election, as follows:

OGDEN.

(Special to the "News.") Ogden, June 8.—Up to noon the vote at the various polling places, on the vote for a special tax for the capitol building was very heavy and indications point to a large majority against the proposition. This is due to the fact that the agitation for the removal of the state capital to Ogden. In the districts outside the city the vote is not so heavy nor is the opposition so pronounced as in the city.

PROVO.

The State Capitol question will in all probability carry a safe majority in Utah county. Considerable opposition is manifested toward the proposition, however, on account of the failure of one of Utah county's legislative measures, the high school bill, which carried an appropriation of $50,000.

LOGAN.

In four wards of Logan, 79 votes had been cast up to 2:30 this afternoon. The majority of these are probably against the capitol, although in the First ward, where 23 votes have been cast, the vote breaks about even. In the other three wards, the vote is about up to the hour named. Second ward, 11 votes; Third ward, 34 votes; Fourth ward, 11 votes. The sentiment of the people who know anything about the question at all seems to be one of opposition to the idea of being taxed extra for 15 years to pay for the capitol building.

BRIGHAM.

In Boxelder only 87 votes cast, and fully two-thirds of these are against the proposition. Here the agitation for the capitol is said to be on account of the refusal of the state authorities to take up the offer of Ogden to furnish $500,000 for the building if it were located at Ogden.

MANTI.

Vote in Sanpete county very light. The vote is split up, with about an even break between the factions for and against the capitol building tax. Some of the opposition is said to be on account of the refusal of the state authorities to take up the offer of Ogden to furnish $500,000 for the building if it were located at Ogden.

JUAB.

At noon 82 votes had been cast in Juab, with indications that the majority were against the capitol. The vote is exceptionally light, and no interest is being shown in the outcome.

MORGAN.

Hardly 20 per cent of the voters are casting their vote on the state capitol question, and the majority of those cast seem to be against the capitol. Nobody seems to know anything about the election one way or the other, and the vote is extremely light.

FARMINGTON.

Out of a district which usually casts about 500 votes, only 13 have been cast up to 2:15 this afternoon. Two-thirds of these are opposed to the capitol question. Reason assigned is that taxes are considered heavy enough already, and Election

HEBER.

In Wasatch county not more than 200 votes will be cast on the state capitol question altogether. There seems to be no sentiment prevalent on the question either one way or the other, and the idea seems to allow Salt Lake to settle the question. The vote is very light in Wasatch, but those who have voted are apparently in favor of the capitol tax.

RAGING FIRE IN SULPHUR WORKS

Humboldt, Nevada, Is Visited by a Conflagration of Unusual Stubbornness.

ITALIAN IS NOW SUSPECTED.

Former Employee Is Thought to Have Set Fire to Buildings Where Material Was Stored.

(Special to the "News.") Humboldt, Nev., June 7.—Fire in the sulphur works here last evening resulted in the destruction of the sulphur storage building, together with 420 tons of sulphur, valued at $45 per ton. An Italian by the name of Joe Pericle is suspected of starting the fire.

The first information the railroad authorities had of the fire was given by the Italian, who has been working for the Sulphur company, but who has now quit. He informed the agent that the sulphur house was on fire, and the agent and two men went out to the building, which they found enveloped in smoke. They opened the door but could not enter on account of the strong fumes of the sulphur.

They were unable to do anything to check the progress of the fire, and the sulphur melting in the heat, ran down the sides of the railroad track and burned the ties out for 400 feet. The wind kept the flames working towards the track and the men were unable to do anything. At 11 p. m. the wind changed, and work was commenced on a "shoo fly" which was constructed for a distance of 650 feet around the burned section of track. The fire spread across the track and consumed a barn containing 30 tons of hay and 50 tons of sulphur.
