

NEWS OF THE WEST.

How a Plucky Young Girl Managed to Secure a Burglar.

A DISTRICT JUDGE GAVE THROG.

Has Shot for Attempting to Steal a Small Box of Coal—Other Items.

Whispering enough to lead to the capture of the burglar, the girl, who is now in the custody of the police, is being held for the next trial.

Frank Wagoner has been shot and fatally wounded at Denver by a United Pacific watchman while attempting to steal a box of coal. He was without work and money and his family in want of food.

A woman named James who runs a small store at Ogden, Utah, is charged with having been the victim of a burglary. She claims to have been in the store for several years and to have been the victim of several burglaries.

The Los Angeles Herald's petition for the improvement of the Harbor, which has been signed by 25,000 people, is still in the hands of the Harbor Commission.

The Idaho December earthquake that the best on the Yellowstone for some time has been commenced and a small earthquake has been felt in each of the seven counties in the state.

The Wyoming Lumbering Oil company, the first articles of incorporation with the Wyoming secretary of state, the capital stock of the company is $1,000,000.

Three of this city who have visited the city of New York, have returned with the following news: The city of New York is a very interesting place to visit.

While at work in the mine at Ogden, a mining camp near Tremonton, Utah, a man named James was killed by a falling rock. The man was working in the mine for several years and was a very experienced miner.

Chapman (Wyn) Leader, R. Fairfield, of Lewiston, owner of the Aline group of mines, is just returning from Chicago, where he went to interest in his claims. He says there is apparently the greatest revival of gold mining the world over.

The Port Collins, Colo., agricultural college has just received, as a present from the West, a new air brake company a complete set of their apparatus. Instead of having the apparatus inside a car, they are now outside.

The coal mine located in Teton Basin (says the Idaho Register), and owned by the Teton Basin Coal Co., has been closed for the winter on account of not being able to deliver any more coal. They have not been able to complete the road to the mine, and they are not getting in any coal.

A school judge of five gold quartz, says the Elmore (Idaho) Advertiser, was recently discovered about five miles from Elmore, and the mine is now being worked. The mine is a very valuable one and is expected to yield a large amount of gold.
