COAL-DUST GRAY PROOK FOR SECOND MOURNING.

Coal dust is the new dark gray, so dark as to be almost black. This graceful frock of permo finished fabric in the somber coal dust color is well suited for dressy indoor wear and informal dinners when mourning is beginning to be laid aside. The lines of the costume are extremely simple and graceful, the touch of embroidery on the bodice and the yoke of A-lace underneath gray chiffon being the only ornamentation. The tucked sleeves add distinction, with their lavishly used material.

Pratt, eight tables being played and refreshments served on the roof garden. Friends assisted in serving.

LINEN DRESS WITH APRON PANEL.

Very smart but oddly suggestive of a housewife's little morning costume is this white linen dress with its apron-like drape and shoulder straps. The "apron" is built of very coarse flax net upon which is applied a bold pattern cut out of the white linen, this applique pattern being covered almost solidly with soutache braiding. A black satin girle and little strappings of black velvet ribbon make this linen costume very chic. The hat is one of the wide-brimmed models heaped with paradise feathers.

"The Kayser"

Patent Finger-Tipped Silk Gloves

No need to tell you about Kayser Gloves. All women have known them for 25 years.

All women desire them—the patent tips, the exquisite finish, wonderful fabric and perfect fit.

And they want the guarantee in each pair.

But some women think that every silk glove is a Kayser—and that isn't so.

There are gloves vastly inferior—gloves that neither fit nor wear. Gloves of inexperienced makes.

There are gloves not half so good as the Kayser which cost the Kayser price.

So one needs to be careful. Every genuine Kayser glove has "Kayser" in the hem.

The home of "Quaint" Furniture so much in demand in the modern home, cafe, hotel, office and public building.

Since receiving our last large shipment of this elegant furniture the great demand has proved the growing popularity of fumed oak Furniture.

FUMED OAK FURNITURE IS IMITATED

But the soft, nut brown tone which characterizes the genuine has been unsuccessfully attempted by other manufacturers.

Close observers, however, detect at once the superior color effect in the genuine "Stickley" furniture. It is imitable and blends so harmoniously with the rich Spanish morocco leather covering used in this furniture.

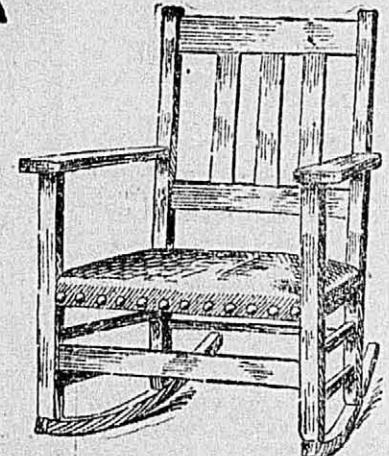

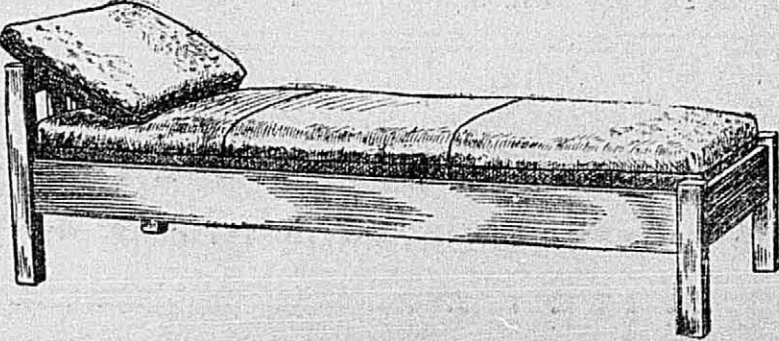

In quality of materials used as well as in workmanship, nothing has been overlooked to produce quality, style and comfort. "Quaint Furniture is the happy combination of mission and Arts and Crafts and reflects all the quaintness of mediaeval days.

You will want a few pieces of "Quaint Furniture on account of its comfort, simplicity, durability and inexpensiveness.
