LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THEATRICAL.—On Saturday evening a good audience assembled at the Theatre to witness the performance of Louis XI, with Mr. Couldock in the title role. Louis XI of France was one of the greatest adepts in king craft that ever swayed a sceptre. Ambitious, unscrupulous, faithless to friend and foe alike, a tyrant in the most complete sense, the history of the man and his times shows him to have been one of the worst specimens of human kind, almost a disgrace to royalty. Added to his other vices he was a hypocrite, a religious hypocrite of them most consumate description; and his lust of power and the unscrupulous measures to which he resorted to obtain and retain it only equalled the hypocritical reverence and regard he professed for the church and its ministers. As old age and its infirmities crept on, his superstition and seeming reverence for priestly power and influence with heaven increased, degenerating into dotage, and the exhibitions by the old tyrant, at one moment consigning his enemies without mercy to the dungeon or scaffold, and the next through remorse for the number and enormity of his crimes bewailing his sleepless nights and in the most craven manner imploring priestly aid, counsel and absolution, were disgusting.

These various phases of the character of Louis were delineated in the most lifelike manner by Mr. Couldock, and if his reputation as an artist rested solely upon the portrayal of the character of this despicable king he would be accorded a front rank, for every look and gesture indicated superlative merit and greatness as an artist.

Miss Couldock, as the Dauphin, rendered excellent support to her father, as also Mr. Waldron and others, and the play throughout elicited warm and oft-repeated applause.

The comedy of "Milky White," having been repeatedly presented before, needs no special comment. Repeated heaps of fun, and it would be next to impossible for any company to make it a greater success.

To night Mr. Tom Taylor's domestic drama "Helping Hands" will be presented, Mr. Couldock appearing as Lorents Hartmann; Miss Couldock as Margaret Hartmann. Other characters by Messrs. Graham, Margetts, Towne, Mesdames Clawson and Bowring, etc.

The farce "Your Life's in Danger," will conclude the entertainment.

SABBATH MEETINGS.—The congregation in the Tabernacle yesterday morning was addressed by Elder Geo. Q. Cannon and President Young. In the afternoon Elder W. Woodruff was the speaker.

PAYSON.—Elder I. M. Coombs, writing from that place, under date of the 27th inst., says: "Payson is thriving pretty well, considering the general hard times. Breadstuffs are scarce and hard to get. Flour has run up to $5 and wheat to 1.75. We have, however, good prospects for an abundant harvest. The season, thus far, has been very favorable for all kinds of small grain. Our fruit crop looks promising and will, undoubtedly, be very large. No grasshoppers, of any consequence, have appeared here yet. Caterpillars were very numerous a short time since, but they are disappearing very fast. We hope to have our new meeting house finished by next Christmas. A great many strangers have passed through here during the past few weeks, anxiously enquiring their way to the rich hills of Tintic."

POLICE.—John Dawson, arrested on Friday, for stealing, was fined $25.

Ralph Johnson, brought up on a charge of drunkenness, assault and battery, was fined $15.

W. A. Jhonson for being drunk and throwing stones at T. Linburg.

WEBER COUNTY.—Henry Somes, writing from Hooperville, on the 28th inst., says: Our crops all look well and will soon be ready for harvesting. They have not been injured by grasshoppers, none of those insects having appeared here. Good feelings and health prevail among the people.

HYRUM.—O. N. Liljenquest, of Hyrum, Cache County, who is now in town, informs us that the people, men, women and children, of that place and the grasshoppers are contending vigorously, the former in saving, the latter in destroying the crops. The insects have probably taken about one-tenth of the grain. A machine for killing them, the invention of Mr. A. Winberg, will be shipped from here for that place in a few days, with the aid of which the people will probably be able to more successfully resist their ravages.

UTAH COUNTY.—Brother R. T. Booth, of Alpine City, called this morning and gave us the following items concerning that place: On Thursday last a son of David Adams accidentally shot himself through the upper part of the left arm. The wound was severe, but he is doing as well as could be expected.

On Saturday evening the stables, corn crib and other out buildings of W. J. Strong were destroyed by fire, loss about $300.

The foundation for a new meeting house, fifty by thirty-three feet has just been completed. The entire building will be of stone.

Mining matters in American Fork Kanyon are quite lively, furnishing an excellent market for surplus produce.

Crops look well and no hoppers are visible. Fruit will not be very abundant this season.

J. H. CONLEN.—There is a message for you at the W. U. T. office. Call and get it.

MESSAGES.—There are messages at the Deseret Telegraph Office for the following: Mrs. R. H. Dumas, Alexander Watson and J. J. Schofield.

CALLED.—We were pleased to receive a visit at our office this morning from the great actor, Mr. C. W. Couldock. He is one of the few who adhere strictly to the legitimate line of the profession, and if there is such a thing as perfect acting this veteran of the boards has attained to it. The general taste for theatricals has become, we believe, greatly vitiated nearly the world over. This depreciation of good taste in the general public for natural, true-like or legitimate acting has caused the stage to be flooded with a class of plays of a questionable tone and tendency. Authors, to pander to the taste of the people have produced the "leg drama," the purely sensational," "blue fire," &c., but there will always be a class who will delight in witnessing the successful efforts of genius in portraying those scenes which touch the heart and intellect without appealing to the baser passions of thrilling the senses. This class delight to see the ideal pictures of legitimate authors brought into life by actors like Mr Couldock and such actresses as Miss Couldock, his accomplished daughter, and will look upon their truthful pictures of everyday life as bright green spots in the midst of the theatrical demoralization of the age.

THE SEA LIONS.—The sea lions now on exhibition at the Museum and Menagerie will leave this city early on Thursday morning. Those who have not yet seen those curiosities of the deep should bear this in mind.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—This forenoon, while Brother J. H. Rumell was at work on the new church, immediately east of his residence, he met with an accident by which one of his legs was broken in two places a short distance above the ancle. It appears he was getting down from a building scaffold to the sill of a large back window, when he lost his balance and fell to the ground, a distance of over twenty feet, upon some rough rocks. Drs. Anderson and Richards were in attendance shortly after the accident and set the injured limb, and Brother Rumell, this afternoon, was feeling as easy as could be expected under the circumstances.

ACCIDENT.—A severe accident has occurred on the steamer, recently launched, The City of Corinne, of which the Corinne Daily Journal of Saturday gives the following account:

"Yesterday afternoon, a little after one o'clock, the smokestacks, which had been placed in position, a derrick holding them, fell with a crash, striking and precipitating Capt. Evans from the hurricane to the main deck. The cause of the accident was the fault of Capt. Evans himself. While Mr. Diefendorf and Capt. Howe were at dinner, he ordered the stays to be cast off that held the derrick, thereby supporting the smokestacks, in order that he might lower it, without for a moment considering the result. As a natural consequence they fell as stated. Capt. Evans, who is a man of about fifty years of age, received a fracture of the left arm at the elbow joint, a severe sprain of the right wrist, a very bad cut over the left eye, and other general injuries. Dr. Graham informs us that his injuries will most likely permanently disable him, especially the left arm, as a fracture extending into the joint is rarely, if ever perfectly replaced. The damage to the steamer was slight, not to exceed twenty-five dollars, but will occasion some delay.

THE AMERICAN SUBMERGED PUMP

BEING an Agent for the sale of this most valuable article, having seen them tried in different deep wells, and finding them give universal satisfaction, I offer them to the public as the best means of raising water for culinary use, irrigating, washing carriages, extinguishing fires, or any other use for which a force pump may be applied. From the tests I have put them to, more water can be raised with a 4-inch cylinder pump now offered to the public with the same power. As some objections have been made to these pumps for deep wells, I have tested them in one 600 feet deep, from which I raised twelve gallons per minute. They are positively non-freezing, and will not get out of order. If references are wanted or instructions in relation to them, call at my place on Emigration Street, one block east from State Road.
