

WORK STARTS ON NEWHOUSE LINE.

Diri Begins to Fly on Grade Between Frisco and New Mining Camp

TO BE CLEANED UP IN 60 DAYS.

Utah Construction Company Will Submit Contract Into One-Mile Sections to Expedite Work.

Work has started on the Newhouse extension of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake, and the contract calls for the completion of the branch in 60 days. It is on the cars that the grading will be done by the Utah Construction company in one mile sections so as to expedite matters. Outfits are now being rushed down, the first of them going through on Friday. The work embraces some pretty stiff cuts and fills also some rock work on the opposite side of the mountain from Frisco. Among the sub-contractors who have undertaken to clean up sections of grading are half a dozen small concerns from Springfield, another outfit came in last night from Davis county. The extension will be a fraction over nine miles in length and will tap a decidedly rich mining district.

FOR THE TEACHERS.

Burlington Buys on Tourist Sleeper—More C. & B. & Q. Accommodations.

Coupled with the announcement that on May 30 the Denver & Rio Grande and the Burlington will put on a tourist sleeper for the accommodation of those taking advantage of the teachers' excursion to St. Louis, official circulars were received this morning by General Agent Nelson to the effect that W. W. Johnston has been appointed assistant general freight agent of the C. & B. & Q. at Omaha. Following this promotion several other railroad officials have been moved up, H. L. Lewis succeeding Mr. Johnston as division freight and passenger agent at Beatrice, Neb., H. B. Seger taking his place as general agent at Atchison, who in turn made room for F. W. Kilgus, chief clerk at the general freight office, now general agent at Billings, Mont. Another appointment is that of E. V. Kosi as traveling freight and passenger agent at Lincoln, Neb.

TRACKLAYING BEGINS.

Steel Going Down in Great Shape on the Utah Road.

C. O. Baxter, general manager of the Utah road now under course of construction from Black on the Rio Grande to the asphaltum fields, is up from the front today. He reports work to be rushing with the result that over 24 miles of steel is laid, nearly one mile having been put down on Saturday. Forty men are engaged in the work, and as soon as the engine arrives tomorrow still further progress will be made. The big road is now about 14 miles out pushing things to the limit.

H. S. TOOKER'S INVENTION.

Former Young Salt Lake Railroad Man Has a Gold Mine.

Harry Tooker, inventor, the secretary of the American Smelter and Refining company's fleet of steamers has blossomed out into a young Edison. Seriously, however, Mr. Tooker has a good thing which he was showing to his friends this morning. The invention, which is pronounced a winner, is the form of an automatic eraser for typewriter work and the most successful invention is a very simple affair and does the work in a fashion that defies detection. Mr. Tooker has just received a patent on the Saturday, and when he returns to New York with Mr. Eccles he will sign up a contract for royalties. One gentleman this morning said that he would undoubtedly work anything over $20 a month for the former young Salt Laker.

COMING OVERLAND.

Chief Engineer Hawgood and San Pedro Officials Start for California.

H. Hawgood, chief engineer for the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake, accompanied by other officials of the road, left Los Angeles today for Daguerre, from whence he comes overland over the route to California. He expects to arrive in Salt Lake about the middle of next week.

It was the original intention for the party including Vice President J. Ross Clark, to make the trip about two weeks ago, but owing to pressing business the trip was postponed. Mr. Clark at the last moment was compelled to remain behind.

CHANDLER TO MARRY.

Secretary to Manager P. E. Wells to Wed Los Angeles Belle.

Another secretary to a Salt Lake railroad official has slipped out of town and headed towards California with the express purpose of returning with a bride. The time it is Leo S. Chandler, the debonair young member of Manager R. E. Wells' force on the San Pedro. Mr. Chandler said not a word to anyone last week. He is now in Los Angeles, where a certain young society belle is awaiting him and will change her name from Miss Shanklin to Mrs. Chandler. The wedding is now being planned a reception along the lines given to Chief Clerk Monroe some months ago—Monroe, it is understood, wants to get even.

SPIKE AND RAIL.

Kenneth C. Kerr is once more back in harness as railroad reporter for the Tribune.

The Denver & Rio Grande is building a new telegraph line between Pueblo and Trinidad, Colo.

There is now some talk of the Lucin cut-off being opened for passenger traffic by the end of next week.

The armed guards will be again placed on the Union Pacific passenger trains this week with the opening up of spring.

Olds G. Croes, formerly with the Union Pacific here, has accepted a position in the advertising department of the Tribune.

There are now several parties of surveyors reported to be working on the preliminary lines of the Grand Valley, Colorado River & South Pacific.

George F. Hendrick of the passenger record auditing department of the D. & R. G. at Denver, is numbered among the visitors to the city today, on his way to Portland on a vacation.

Geo. L. Black has been appointed general superintendent of the Union Pacific Coal company with headquarters at Rock Springs, vice D. O. Clark, previously reported to be working on the preliminary lines of the Grand Valley, Colorado River & South Pacific.

noted to vice president and general manager at Omaha.

Thomas Hull and wife have conveyed to the Oregon Short Line a lot of 163 feet wide by 350 deep on the west side of Third West, between First and Second South. The consideration is placed at $12,500.

A. N. Graham, who represented the Chicago & Alton in this territory last year and subsequently went to New York with the Mexican Central, has been appointed contracting agent for the Northern Pacific in New York.

Owing to a derailment of a freight train on the Tintic branch between Eureka and Oshosh yesterday, the 100 people who went down from Salt Lake yesterday had to be transferred before they could proceed on their way home.

If all the projected lines reported to be built through to the coast at an early date go through, residents in eastern Utah will be able to work in the gold fields. The latest in the field is the Golden road, which is to go through from Colorado to the coast.

The policy of appointing district freight and passenger agents is not to be confined to the Oregon Short Line according to San Francisco papers and on June 1 several appointments will be made on the Southern Pacific including those of S. P. Booth and C. Clifford, respectively freight and passenger district agents.

SALT LAKERS DOING WELL.

Charles Asplund Says They Are Making Money in the Philippines.

Charles Asplund, a former resident of Fairview, Sanpete county, who in 1888 was a student at the Agricultural college, from which he enlisted in battery B and went to the Philippines, was in Salt Lake today shaking heads with his many friends. Mr. Asplund entered the battery as sergeant under Capt. Grant and was advanced to quartermaster sergeant, quartermaster's clerk and finally to cashier, which position he held when the regiment left for home. He then took the civil service examination and has now been assigned to the chief quartermaster's department on Governor's island, for which point he is now heading.

Speaking of the success of former Salt Lakers on the islands, Mr. Asplund says that Harold Pitt is bottling mineral water and doing well. He and others have organized a company and are shipping their product to Australia and China, with grand results. Mr. Pitt is also doing something in real estate.

Carlos Young, a former member of the Utah battery, has accepted a clerical position with a large commission house and is also doing well. The same case of Frank Wickstrom, who is in the quartermaster's department, and of Carl Hurd, a former Salt Lake newspaper man, who is now a detective on the Manila police force.

The climate of the Philippines, says Mr. Asplund, is all that could be desired, the temperature being from 75 to 90 the year round. The fine sea breeze is also a factor for healthfulness.

The gentleman called on Major Young during the day, and expects to go south to his old home tonight, where he will visit his mother and sister prior to continuing his journey east.

MINISTERS ACTIVE AGAIN.

Make Usual Plaint About Saltair Which Was Discussed in Secret.

The Salt Lake Ministerial association was in session again today. As usual, the session was secret. What happened in detail was not given out. But it was ascertained that they made their usual plaint against Saltair and alleged that there were many indiscreet acts there on Saturday night, and that the conduct of the young people there was something shameful. It is understood that the complaints are based on personal observation made by several clergymen who visited the lake for the purpose of taking notes. Beer drinking on the part of the boys and girls was said to have been indulged in to a horrid extent. After a discussion of conditions a committee was appointed to wait upon the owners of the resort for the purpose of soliciting their aid in the matter mitigating the evils complained of.

The Rev. Mr. Fowler read a paper on "Apostolic Unity."

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Fenton Harrison, a Sheep Herder, Instantly Killed Near Alford, Idaho.

During the most severe electric storm this vicinity has ever witnessed, says a special to the Tribune from Albion, Ida., and which began about 5 o'clock Thursday, Fenton Harrison, a well known herder in the employ of Thomas Horsey, while riding on the north hills, about two and one-half miles from town, was struck by lightning and instantly killed; also the horse on which he was riding was killed, but Horsey's little 7-year-old boy, who was on the same horse at the time, escaped with severe injuries and has returned to tell the gruesome news to his friends.

The escape of the boy is nothing short of miraculous, and that he was found wandering on the hills in a dazed condition is another wonder second only to his escape.

Friday afternoon Fred Taylor, another herder in Horsey's employ and who had his camp two or three miles from Harrison's during his work for the day had occasion to go within a mile of Harrison's camp. While walking along he noticed some unusual thing some distance from the road and wondering what it could be went in that direction. At first he could not tell what it was, but on approaching he found little 7-year-old Horsey in a very dazed condition, crawling on the ground.

From the torn clothing, blistered flesh and other signs, it at first seemed as if the boy must have been dragged there by a horse, but on examination it was discovered that the clothes were burned and scorched and the flesh blistered.

Taylor took the boy over the hill to the main road and the boy accompanied some travelers to town. While the doctor was dressing the boy, Taylor told him in a dazed way that he and Harrison had been riding a horse, rounding up the sheep, "when all at once the horse bucked—and he is lying up there—and the horse is on him."

At once a searching party went out, and about a half mile from his camp found Harrison, lying as he had fallen, with one leg under the horse's neck and the other one over it. The left side of his back was entirely bare, the lightning having burned all that part of his clothing off.

The stroke had apparently entered at the left side of his head above the ear, had cut the left ear almost entirely off and had cut a hole in the left throat. Beginning at the base of the skull the stroke left a broad dark stream down the spine and along the left arm. The hat was entirely gone. As near as can be ascertained the horse was killed.

A watch which belonged to the dead man was found under him, broken. It had stopped at exactly 5:15 o'clock, showing that he had been the exact time of the stroke.

The tracks indicate that as soon as the little fellow was able he had extricated himself from the dead horse and had run down the canyon for a mile or more and had then returned and walked and stamped around the dead horse and rider until some time Friday, when he again walked down the canyon, where Taylor found him.

When the child was brought in he was almost famished for food and water, having had neither since noon of the day before last. He was about 20 hours. The boy is still in a dazed condition and sleeps a great deal, but hope for his recovery is entertained. It is supposed that the lightning struck him as he stood a shock sufficient to burn all his clothes off and blister and burn the flesh and still be alive.

PEDAGOGUES DINE.

Enjoyable Function in Honor of Supt. D. H. Christensen.

The private diningroom at the Commercial club was comfortably filled with guests, who had gathered to do honor to Supt. D. H. Christensen of the district schools. The occasion was the first annual banquet of the department of supervision in the city schools. The table, which was in the shape of a U was tastefully decorated with banks of ferns, anemones and other flowers. At each place was an artistic menu card. All of the supervisors, the principals and their wives were present and a most enjoyable evening followed.

Principal George A. Eaton of the West Side High school acted in the capacity of toastmaster in a most happy manner. Among the numerous timely remarks which were received with applause were: "Our Guest," by W. C. McCoy; "The Little Red Schoolhouse," by Fred D. Keeler; "Our Principals," by Miss Ruth Pollock; "The Ladies," by William Bradford; "The President," by O. Cross; "America's a la Mode," by Miss Etta Powers; "The Trust," by Miss L. M. Quail; "The Unmarried Principals," by David A. Nelson; "The Married Principals," by A. S. Martin; "Our Associates," by Oscar Van Cott; "The Janitor," by H. B. Polson; and "The Good Old Days," by William A. Wetzel.

WATER FOR TREES.

If You Haven't Got It, Ask Maxwell, Says Supervisor Sedden.

In regard to the complaint made by a resident of the Fourth precinct to the effect that the irrigating water in that precinct is allowed to go to waste while the trees are suffering for want of water in all the ditches of the precinct and any person who wants it for irrigation purposes will be accommodated by just asking James Maxwell, the foreman of that precinct. So it is evident that if the trees are to be saved it is due to the negligence of owners of the same in not asking the foreman for the water which will be gladly furnished upon application for the same.

CHIEF LYNCH EXPLAINS.

Tells Why He Would Not Sign Liquor License Application.

The appended communication from Chief of Police Lynch to the city council with reference to his refusal to sign the application of S. T. Stansbury for a liquor license, explains the chief's reasons. It will be recalled that on or about April 1, a man named J. W. Burnham was assaulted by Stansbury in the latter's saloon, and was badly injured, losing one eye as the result. Chief Lynch called on the injured man at the hospital and asked him to prosecute the saloon man, but Burnham declined to sign a complaint. When Stansbury applied for a renewal of his liquor license, the chief refused to sign it, and the council, since then the man went to Chillicothe, Mo., where he was arrested but was later released by Judge Unphalbaugh, on writ of habeas corpus. In making an explanation of the matter, Chief Lynch said: "In spite of the fact that Burnham would not prosecute the man, when Stansbury applied for a license, I bore the assault in mind and sent for the loving communication to the council."

"To the Honorable President and Members of the City Council: "Gentlemen—I return herewith, without my approval, application for retail license made by S. T. Stansbury, for the following reasons: On or about the 4th day of April, 1904, a party by the name of Burnham was most brutally assaulted and beaten by Stansbury. As a result of said beating, said Burnham had two ribs broken and his right eye was so badly injured as to necessitate the removal of said eye in order to save the sight of the other."

"The operation of removing Burnham's right eye was performed at St. Mark's hospital, Sunday, March 10, 1904."

"W. J. LYNCH, "Chief of Police."

Old White House Corner Building to be Remodeled Throughout.

The National Bank of the Republic will expend over $50,000 in the reorganization of its apartments in the White House hotel, and reconstruction of the building. The changes include tearing out the partitions and stairway between the present quarters and the offices of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad on East Temple street, and throwing the entire front into spacious quarters and offices for the bank. There will also be a large vault which will be much more ample and convenient than the one now in use. The basement will also be used by the bank for a safe deposit department, a trust department, and a savings department, provided with suitable clerical forces, and all conveniences for ready transaction of business.

In the hotel upstairs Promotor Mulford will expend $25,000 in improving his hotel equipment, including the addition of marble lavatories, and Stephen Akridge, of the building, will expend about $5,000 in remodeling and making over the exterior.
