LOWER RATES FOR OREGON FLOUR

Short Line Grants Petition of Northern Dealers to Give Them Reduced Tariffs to Utah Points.

The Oregon Short Line has granted the reduction in the rate on flour asked for by Oregon millers and the O. R. & N. and on and after the 20th inst., the rate on flour from all points east of the junction to Utah points will be 40 cents, the same as on wheat. A prominent grain dealer claimed this morning that "it is all moonshine about the Utah millers having to shut down because of the reduction in the rate on flour from 50 to 40 cents. Now, look here, our millers pay 55 cents per barrel for wheat in Washington and 34 cents freight, making it 79 cents in Utah, as five bushels of wheat make a barrel of flour, and the cost of manufacture is 50 cents per barrel, there is a cost to them of $4.45, but which includes 100 pounds of bran and shorts from the five bushels of wheat. Now, flour in Oregon costs $3.25, and the freight from there here is $1.35—at the rate of 40 cents per cwt; an even stand-off as to cost with the wheat. So where does this terrible what the millers come in? They have been making about a dollar per barrel, and the change will cut this down somewhat—that is all. For a long time both wheat and flour have been shipped into Denver at a rate of 60 cents each, and there has been no kick or trouble between the millers and the dealers in Denver."
On the other hand, the Intermountain Milling company of this city is inclined to take a gloomy view of the situation, and the management says that there is on hand enough wheat to keep the mills busy for the coming six weeks, and after that it is uncertain what will be done. The company has received a large consignment of wheat from the northwest, of late, but has canceled a recent order for Palouse wheat, and thinks of placing an order for flour with the Oregon mills. They hold that the railroad would get more tonnage hauling in wheat than flour, and do not remember that the roads have given a rate on flour out of Utah.

MYTON COMES TO TOWN AGAIN.

This Time the Major Did Not Talk Much to the Deseret News—He Only Smiled a Broad Diplomatic Smile.

Major H. P. Myton, the Indian agent at White Rocks and Lieut. C. G. Hall of the Fifth United States cavalry, arrived this morning from Duchesne, and are at the Knutsford hotel. The major is here to draw $27,000 from the U. S. treasury which will pay the Indians their regular governmental allowances. He will be met at Price by a detachment of the Fifth cavalry to act as an escort to the military post, and will be the imprudent hold-up who ventures to show his gruesome visage within range of the carbines of those cavalrymen.
Major Myton was asked this morning what he had to say about the leases which McConell, Timms and Henderson had been after, but he only smiled a large square smile of a smile and said he knew nothing beyond what had appeared in the papers, and he had not seen these for three or four days. However, the major observed his doubt as to there being the precious metal all Matters Expedited.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Secretary Hay has received a telegram from Mr. Buchanan, president of the United States delegation at the Pan-American congress, fully confirming the press report that a complete understanding has been reached on the question of arbitration by the congress. This subject was the only one promising serious difficulty in adjustment, and the officials are now satisfied that the congress will be a success. It is expected that with this last obstacle removed, such rapid progress will be made in fixing the final protocol and of fixing the signatures of the delegates, that the congress will be able to adjourn within the present month.

WANT THEIR $376,600.

Silver Bullion from Salt Customs Captured by The American Marines.

Would Have Been Returned Before, But There Was No One to Pay The Money To.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Minister Wu called upon Secy. Hay today in connection with the restoration to the Chinese government of the value of silver bullion, amounting to $376,600, which was captured by the American marines at Tien Tsin, forming part of the revenues of the salt customs. This money would have been restored long ago, and indeed, Secy. Long had contemplated turning it over soon after it fell into the possession of the marines, but in the disorganized state of the Chinese government there was no official to whom it could be handed. Mr. Wu has now been ordered by his government to receive this money and it will be given to him in the shape of a draft on the treasury, where the money is deposited, which may be readily exchanged for bills on Shanghai.

WAS A REAL "SCOOP."

Morning Papers Publish Their First Fresh News Item in Weeks.

The readers of the morning papers were given a real exclusive news item this morning, the first that either one has published under the "community of interest" policy that permits them to know each other's secrets and to have access to each other's "scoops." Just what effect the surprise will have is rather uncertain at this hour as all returns have not been received. A partial canvass discloses the fact, however, that many were greatly shocked at once more being privileged to read something that had not already appeared in the papers the evening previous. But most of these quickly recovered when assured that it would probably be a long time before they would gain by seeing anything that had not been published at least once.
The item referred to was profusely illustrated and purported to show that an edict had gone forth from the management of the "News" to the effect that the unnamed members of the staff must take into themselves wives before the 1st of June proximo, or make room for writers accustomed to trot in double harness. Of course the publication was intended as a joke, but its composition was such that it was necessary to label it in each case. Otherwise it might have been construed in the serio-tragic vein in which it was written.
"News" readers will observe a strong similarity in the articles which appear in its contemporaries from day to day. It is needless to say that the readers of the latter have already done so, and have marveled thereat. Somewhat later they will learn how "manifest" are their ways. When that is done the wonder will cease, and they will understand why the morning papers never scoop the "News" in any merchandise, it would be through pre-arrangement.

HOUSE.

Washington, Jan. 18.—When the House convened today Mr. Joy of Mississippi, chairman of the committee on accounts, precipitated a discussion involving one of the patronage of the House by presenting a resolution providing for the appointment of two additional messengers. The resolution, after an explanation, was adopted.
Mr. Cannon, chairman of the committee on appropriations, reported an urgency deficit bill and gave notice that on next Monday he would call it up for consideration. He explained that the bill carried appropriations aggregating more than $15,000,000. In answer to an inquiry he expressed the opinion that near the close of the present session it would be necessary to pass another urgency deficiency bill. He could not say, however, how much the next bill might carry.
The following bills were passed:
For the protection of towns in the Indian Territory and providing that they may issue bonds to an amount not exceeding five mills on each dollar of taxable property of the municipality for the construction of sewers, water works and school houses; providing that the amount of the official bond of the United States marshal of Alaska, may be increased to $75,000 in certain circumstances.

For the States Journal today published a telegram from Berlin saying that the director general of the North German Lloyd and Hamburg American company would come to the United States together in February.

Friar Land Trouble.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Secy. Root was heard on the question of the friar lands in the Philippines, before the House committee on insular affairs today. He said these land holdings constituted one of the chief causes of discontent among the people; they were the hotbeds of insurrection and had furnished Aguinaldo his chief appeal to popular prejudice. The secretary said the religious orders fully recognized the bad condition of affairs that they were disposed to sell out and he urged that the government take advantage of the opportunity to remove the chief causes of discontent in the island. He did not believe conciliation proceedings would be necessary as there were indications that a fair price could be agreed upon. A rough estimate of the value of the lands, he said, was from five to seven and one-half millions of dollars, American money.

The Lagos is owned by the British and African Steam Navigation company, limited, (Elder, Dempster & company), and was built at Port Glasgow in 1883. She is 300.3 feet long, has 36.2 feet beam and is 20.2 feet deep.

BLOWN TO PIECES ON THEIR ENGINE.

Boiler of Rock Island Engine No. 503 Exploded at Victor, Iowa—Engineer And Fireman Killed.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 18.—A special train from Victor, Iowa, says: As the Denver limited passenger train No. 5 of the Rock Island was passing through this town this morning at 5:55 the boiler of engine No. 503 exploded, resulting in the death of the engineer and fireman and slightly injuring two porters and a brakeman. The killed are:
W. Williams, of Brooklyn, engineer.
E. Hoar, of Valley Junction, fireman.
The accident took place within 250 feet of the depot and the noise of the explosion around every person in the town. The force of the explosion threw every one of the seven coaches of the train from the tracks, but only overturned the Des Moines Pullman. Fortunately the passengers were uninjured. Pieces of the wrecked engine were strewn around for a distance of 200 feet and the boiler was found 150 feet away from the scene of the accident. The causes leading up to the explosion will never be known owing to the death of the engineer and fireman. Superintendent Lawrence of this division arrived at 8 o'clock from Des Moines and immediately proceeded to clear away the debris. He refused to make any statement with regard to the accident. The bodies of the engineer and fireman were horribly mangled and were found only a short distance away.
Train No. 5 does not stop at Victor. This morning the limited passed through the village at a speed of forty miles an hour. Three hundred feet west of the station begins a slight down grade which extends a mile to Cranford, where the Rock Island crosses Bar Creek. The accident occurred on the grade and it is suggested that Williams had decided to let his engine out for a burst of speed, during which the accident occurred.
Williams, the dead engineer, has been in the service of the Rock Island company for twenty-eight years and was regarded as one of the ablest in the employment of the company. The morning's run was not his regular one, he having taken it to accommodate a brother engineer. For years he was stationed at Stuart, Iowa, but in 1897 he moved to Rock Island, where he has been stationed since.

Favorable to Baker.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The Senate committee on judiciary today agreed to report favorably the nomination of Hon. Francis E. Baker of Indiana to be circuit judge in the Seventh circuit. The opposition to Judge Baker's confirmation was withdrawn, but the circumstances connected with his case were discussed at some length. There was especial reference to the fact that his father is district judge to the Indiana district and the fact was made that with the son occupying the circuit bench it would fall to his lot to review his father's decisions. There was, however, a general expression to the end that the prominence of a man's father should not be allowed to stand as a bar to his own preferment. It was suggested also that in such cases Judge Baker's own decency could be depended upon to find a proper solution of the problem. This view was accepted and the decision favorable to report the nomination was not opposed.

Among other nominations which the judiciary committee decided to report favorably were those of Fletcher M. Doane and Richard E. Sloan to be associate justices of the supreme court of the territory of Arizona.
