HOMICIDE IN EMERY COUNTY.

WILLIAM GIBSON, JR., SHOT AND KILLED BY A COMPANION.
 MOAB, EMERY CO., Utah,
 Jan. 17th, 1887.

FRAGMENTS.

The funeral of Brother John P. Horne was held in the Fourteenth Ward Assembly Rooms this afternoon.

The Grimsen-Davis combination hold forth in "Caled Back" at the Theatre this evening. They are great favorites here and will probably do a good business.

A social party will be given in the Thirteenth Ward Assembly Rooms to-morrow evening (Friday). Olsen's band will be in attendance. Dancing to commence at 7:30.

Walter T. Conway, of the Twentieth Ward, was playing with a giant cap and face last evening, and the result was an explosion which took off the first two fingers of his right hand and otherwise injured him.

Herrmann gave his last entertainment in Salt Lake City to a good audience in the Theatre yesterday evening. After the display of temper, added to the advertised programme, a great many were willing that it should be the last.

Scene in the Police Court this morning:

Attorney to witness—Where is Second South Street?

Witness—One block south of First South Street.

Attorney—H—m! That is all.

LOUIS A. MORGENTHAU, business-manager of the Grimsen-Davis combination, which appears in "Caled Back" at the Theatre this evening, arrived in this city with the company this morning, having come on a special train from Provo, where a performance was given last evening.

By reference to the Mantel Sentinel of the 17th we discover that the local field of that paper extends over the District of Columbia and New Jersey. This is a hopeful sign for the latter, which is usually considered outside of the United States. The Idaho Independent goes further, taking London into its local fold.

One of the most sensible, because useful, calendars we have seen, is one issued by L. Jeff Milbourne & Co., advertising agents, Baltimore, Md. Besides the ordinary information given by calendars, it has much that is not usually given through such mediums. One of its most useful features is a diary in which notes may be made relating to any day of the year.

This morning Thomas Barbour came before Commissioner McKay with a complaint, charging that Mrs. Anderson, who had formerly been his wife, had collected from Patrick Feehey $3 which should have been paid to Barbour. The Commissioner, however, informed him that she had committed no offense against the law, so proceedings were not commenced.

LOCAL NEWS.

Bound Over.—At Provo, on the 18th, R. S. Hines was bound over to await the action of the grand jury, for mixing a compound of croton oil, etc., a poison, with intent that two alleged "spotters" should take it. The bond was fixed at $500.

Broke His Leg.—Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Heber C. Clive was on his house cleaning out the gutter, when he slipped and fell, breaking his leg in two places. One of the family were home at the time, and it was an hour before he received any assistance. His injuries are very serious.

Going to the Asylum.—On the application of his father, A. G. Paddock, Wm. Paddock, who has figured in the Police Court frequently of late, was brought before the County Court of Salt Lake County, and after an examination by physicians, was declared insane. He will be taken to the Territorial Insane Asylum on Saturday, by Sheriff Burt.

Shop-lifting.—To-day a Miss Robinson, a "maiden lady" about 40 years of age, was charged on a charge of petit larceny. She recently came from England, and has been in Utah once before, about twelve years since. On Tuesday evening she was detected in attempting to steal two jerseys from C. M. I., but was liberated. She came to the institution again yesterday and attempted to make off with another article, when the police were notified, and one of them "shadowed" her. He learned enough to show that the woman was a professional shoplifter, and going to her house discovered a large quantity of goods, including kid gloves, ribbons, silk, shoes, purses, etc., that had been stolen from various places. In one of the purses he discovered deposit checks on a London bank for nearly $300—in exact figures, £175 sterling.

Police News.—To-day in the Police Court, Lemuel Dunbar, proprietor of the Mint Saloon, was fined on the charge of keeping a gambling house, and being convicted, were each fined $50.

Louis Oviatt, the doorkeeper, was also convicted, and was fined $20.

G. Coke, for drunkenness, was fined $5.

Michael Fleming was placed in jail to-day, charged with vagrancy and drunkenness.

James H. Wright, Busby Due and James Park were brought before Justice Pyper this afternoon. They are accused of having stolen a ride on a Utah Central train, and of having stationed themselves near the Hot Springs last evening and when the D. & R. G. W. passenger train came along they began throwing stones, breaking several of the windows.

Novel Ornamentation.—Utah is becoming a fruitful field for the development of genius in the various branches of art. Some of those gifted with talent in these directions are youths reared in obscure towns, who have to work their way into public appreciation by the force of native genius, having no auxiliary advantages. This morning we had the pleasure of examining a piece of ornamental work from the hands of G. H. Jack, a young man from Mantel, Sanpete County. It stamps him as an original decorator. The work is done on the ceiling of a room in the residence of Mr. Fall, 553 E. Third South Street. The decoration consists of a combination of leafy forms, heads from the Greek mythology, groups of figures, medallions, etc. These embellishments are raised, the forms being constructed of a species of composition originated by Mr. Jack. The work is largely introduced by modelling, and is very fine, and decidedly antique. We have seen nothing similar to it in this city. It is a specimen piece of work, and the artist invites inspection. We hope he will receive encouragement.

In 1880 a speculator introduced seven rabbits into New Zealand. Since that time they have increased so rapidly that between 1874 and 1884 50,000,000 rabbit skins were exported.

Wm. Gibson, Jr., was shot and killed last evening, Jan. 16th, by one Joe Young, an Indian boy who has been raised with the victim since he was a little boy. He was in the employ, some years ago, of Geo. Howard Stooze, who was shot and killed some four years since, while being arrested for stealing horses. This same Joe Young and Gibson used to go to school together at Moab, Utah Co.

It seems the young men had been gambling some two weeks since, and Gibson had won a horse, saddle and bridle from Young, which no doubt caused a feud between them. They met at the corral of Mr. Gibson, Sen., and were talking for a few moments. Young was said to be under the influence of liquor, and when the words were heard at the corral, Gibson started to see what was the matter and saw Young riding away on a horse. Geo. Gibson was with him, and the deceased started for the corral and heard three groans. When they got to the corral they saw Gibson, Jr., lying on his face dead, being shot in the back, near the bone, the bullet coming out near the center of the chest. Young was met by some other parties and said he was sorry, and that he was sorry. Bill Gibson: "I don't know whether he is dead or not, I took a shot at him."

The justice was notified and a warrant was issued at once for the arrest of Young, and parties sent in three directions to hunt him up. A jury was summoned and, with the justice, held an inquest. They gave the following verdict:

TERRITORY OF UTAH, ss.

County of Emery, ss.

At an inquest held at Wm. Gibson senior's residence on the 17th day of January, 1887, before the justice of the peace and jury, upon the body of Gibson, Junior, there lying dead; the said jury upon their oaths do say, that the said Wm. Gibson, Junior, came to his death on the 16th day of Jan. 16, 1887, by a pistol ball fired from a pistol said, or supposed to be, in the hands of one Joe Young, feloniously and with the intent to kill. In testimony whereof we have set our hands and seals this 17th day of January, 1887.

M. H. DARROW, } Jury.

F. E. CALDWELL, }

O. J. WARNER, Justice of the Peace.

This Gibson who was killed, is the one who struck down R. H. Stewart, a little boy with a forked stick, some five years ago, and he (Gibson), served a term of one year in the penitentiary for the same.

Yours, Uno

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

HARRINGTON AND MUSSELMAN HELD

ON BOTH CHARGES.

Last evening at 4 o'clock, the examination of John Harrington and David R. Musselman, charged with assault and battery on the two Einlanders at Bingham Canon, last week, was proceeded with before Commissioner McKay.

The first witness called was Robert H. McConnell, who, although present for the saloon, knew very little of the row.

Jacob Wallace testified that he had seen Hoime and Erickson in the saloon on the night of the trouble, and had also seen Harrington and Musselman there; had seen Erickson lying on the ground after the saloon closed, and had heard Harrington talking to him, telling him to get up and go home. Erickson was moaning and crying to himself. Harrington said, "Get up and go home, or get up and fight." Harrington afterwards told him that Erickson had drawn a knife on him some months ago, and for that he had knocked him down; had seen Musselman and Hoime tussling and had seen Musselman strike him a number of times with a pistol; had also seen both Harrington and Musselman kick him in the head and back when he was down.

James Landon and J. H. Fitzgerald gave testimony corroborative of the preceding.

Commissioner McKay, in summing up the case, said that Musselman had been before him on a former occasion for a similar charge. He said that Varian had then interceded for him, and Judge Zane had reluctantly released him on payment of costs. After that he had heard of Musselman's being a terror to the camp, and of his drawing a gun on several occasions. He was disposed to make an example of him and his bonds would be fixed at $1,500 on each case, and those of Harrington at $1,000 on each case.

The bail was given, and the defendants set at liberty.

An Old Folks Item.—Yesterday Acting Bishop Hunter of American Fork, assisted by a very competent committee of the brethren and sisters of that city, provided a splendid entertainment for the benefit of the old folks. All the arrangements were complete and satisfactory. Nothing was omitted calculated to give joy and pleasure—the whole arrangement did honor to their appreciation of the veterans.

The gathering took place at Grant's Hall, which was tastefully decorated with flags and mottoes of an appropriate character. Kind-hearted citizens owning teams had the invited guests in sleighs from different points, and on their arrival were welcomed with lively strains of music from Grant's Cornet Band. A large assembly completely filled up the hall and adjoining rooms and a more joyous and merry gathering it would be impossible to have.

Eighty-four persons, mostly over seventy set down, to the first table, which fairly groined with the best of the country good produce. One would have thought that each guest had just cut a new set of teeth by the way that each one did justice to the occasion.

The oldest person present was Bro. Julian, who was in his 92nd year; he is still hale and hearty. The general conduct afforded forcibly the propriety of the word "old folks."

"Some men heads give out before their legs, and some men legs give out before their heads."

Brothers Goddard, Dunbar and Savage were present; each one did his part to entertain the company. The always welcome banquets, played by Brother Dunbar, was a welcome feature, especially to the natives of auld Scotland. Short, pithy speeches, beautiful songs, recitations, as well as music by the band, helped to make the afternoon hours glide rapidly away, and the shades of night deepened the aged ones and granddaughters were taken home with thankful hearts towards the kind souls that had helped to make one day happier than the preceding one.

This was the fifth year that such gatherings in the winter time have been given in American Fork. Each succeeding occasion seems happier than the last, and the same sentiment is held by all who took part that the movement should never die out.

A NOVEL INCIDENT.

A peculiar wedding has been celebrated in this city, the contracting parties being a Chinaman and a white woman. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Thrall, of the Congregational Church, last Friday evening. The bride is a native of England, and came to Utah with her parents in the Fall of 1878. Her maiden name was Nellie Adair, her father being James Adair, at present resident in this city. She is now in her twenty-third year, is a brunette, of slight build and just under medium height, and has a rather pleasing appearance. She appears to have conceived a strong attachment for her husband and seems perfectly satisfied with her choice.

The bridegroom is Hong Hop, the well-known Chinese merchant, proprietor of the Japanese Bazar on East Temple Street, near the corner of Third South. According to his own statement he is a full blooded Cantonese, his birthplace being the city of Canton, China. He makes a distinction between Chinese and Mongolians, claiming that while the reigning dynasty is Chinese, as well as all government officials, are of the latter race, the former constitute the original Chinese nation, to whom he belongs, and who hope at some future time to reclaim their national independence. Hong Hop came to America thirteen years ago, being then only fifteen, his present age being twenty-eight years. Though his early training was in the religion of his race, he has become a "Christian Chinaman," and ascribes his belief in the Bible as his rule of faith. He came to Utah seven years ago, and after a short time opened up a business which has brought him a rich harvest. He declines to make any statement as to his earnings, but he is worth in cash, but as all the goods in the store are paid for, and he carries on this stock an insurance of $4,000, it can be surmised that his property equals at least twice that sum. In appearance he is a typical Chinaman, and is possessed of considerable intelligence. He is about five feet four inches high, weighs about 120 pounds, and dresses in the American fashion. He is devoted to his wife, whom he has been married for about two years, but when spoken of the matrimonial alliance, evades conversation on that point.

The residence of the newly-wedded pair is in the apartments at the rear of the store, which have been fitted up in the style of an American home. The matrimonial incident is a novelty in Utah, and it is to be hoped that it will permanently remain an isolated occurrence of its kind.

Alaska.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Henry W. Elliott, agent in this city of the Alaska Commercial Company, says in a published statement credited to Governor Swineford, of Alaska, to the effect that the Alaska Commercial Company was opposed to the extension of the land laws to that Territory, is without foundation. The Alaska Commercial Company, he says, he does not desire to exercise and has not exercised any influence either for or against the extension of the land laws to the Territory, but he himself has favored such extension because from his knowledge of Alaska he believes it to be, as Governor Swineford also believes it to be, necessary to the development and settlement of the country.
