LOCAL BRIEFS.

Shock Recorded Here—The earth-quake, which was felt in two states on Saturday night about 9 o'clock, was registered on the seismograph at the University of Utah. The in-strument showed that the shock was very slight.

Murray Makes a Change—The many friends of D. S. Murray in this city, will be interested in learning that he has resigned the San Francisco position he left Salt Lake to accept, with the Pacific States Telephone company, and has accepted a posi-tion with another company. with another company.

tion with another company. Bulletin For Truck Farmers—Col-onel M. M. Kaighn, former department commander of the G. A. R. urges the farmers in this immediate section of the coun-try to raise all the produce they pos-sibly can, including poultry and eggs, so that when the national encamp-ment comes, there will be enough pro-duce to feed the multitudes gathering here, here.

The Rev. Dr. Wishard a Visitor-Rev. Dr. E. S. Wishard, formerly, synodical missionary of the Presby-terian church in Utah, and of late wars a resident of Los Angeles, was in the city yesterday, after a trip to China, and en route to attend the general assembly of the Presbyterian church. The doctor spoke last even-ing, in the Third church on his Chinese trip.

Two Deaths in Evans Home-Hazel Two Deaths in Evans Home—Hazel Evelyn Evans, the 7-year-old daughter Of Joseph F. Evans, died Saturday morning of scarlet fover at the home of the parents in Oakley addition, This is the second daughter the parents have lost in a week. The other died on Thursday. The funeral of Hazel will take place today at a o'clock and the interment will be in the city cemetery.

in the city cemetery. No Center Street Walks—Mayor Eransford has vetoed a resolution passed by the council for the laying of two miles of sidewalks on Center street. The chief executive says that the city has no more money and that it is unable to do any more improve-ments than already laid out for this year. The property owners on Center street have been wanting sidewalks fore more than two years.

M. I. A. at Wandamere-The Young Men's and Young Ladies' as-sociations of Liberty stake will give a dance at Wandamere tomorrow evening, May 18. A first class orch-estra has been engaged for the occasion, and the floor of the pavil-ion is said to be in excellent shape for the season's dancing. Everybody will be made welcome at the dance by the young people of Liberty stake.

by the young people of Liberty stake. Cantata at St. Paul's—The cantata, "The Daughter of Jairus" was given last eyening, before a crowded house, in St. Paul's Episcopal church, It will be given again tomorrow evening, the proceeds going toward the sum-mer choir fund. The soloists are Mrs. A. S. Peters, Miss Marie Berkhole, Miss Florence Locke, Miss Bertha Johnson, Fred Graham, and A. J. Kissleberg, assisted by Ascher Cowan, violinist; Mrs. Edward McGurrin, harpist, and John B, Berkhole, or-ganist. Activity is Benewed—Since .the Yesterday's addresses at the tabernacle were delivered by Elders W. W. Riter and B. H. Roberts. Peace was the subject of both talks, owing to the fact that yesterday was Peace day. The services were in charge of President John R. Winder. The choir sang, "Behold the Mountain of the Lord," Prayer was offered by Elder Joseph S. Wells of the Ensign stake presidency. The choir sang, "High On the Mountain Top a Banner is Unfurled."

ELDER W. W. RITER.

Elder Riter expressed himself as be Elder Riter expressed himself as be-ing thoroughly in sympathy with the object of the meeting, which was "peace." It is said that as a man thinketh, so is he. All are influenced by their thoughts, and by thinking of peace men are likely to grow more peaceful. It is therefore a good thing that at least one Sunday in a year should be set aside for a peace meet-ing. ing.

Reference was made to the prophecy of Isaiah, who foresaw the day when men would beat their swords into plow-shares and their spears into pruning hooks. He believed that the prophet saw things as they would be and after the lapse of time things are working toward that end.

toward that end. It was stated that the ferocity of man towards man, has at times superseded that of the brutes. The refinement of cruelty in those days was illustrated by the story of King Zedekiah, whose sons were killed before his eyes, and as if that were not enough, his eyes were then seared with a hot iron, and after that was done he was led off captive to Babylon with a ring in his jaw. The story was told as recorded by Josephus, where the Romans decided to crucify the obstinate Jews. This was carried so far that there was no more carried so far that there was no more wood available for making crosses. Eleven hundred thousand lost their lives at that time. All atrocities did not cease then but that event seems to be the climax of all that was vicious and cruel. Pagans did that, but Christians, in spite of all their teachings, have been guilty of serious wrongs in this direc-tion. Things have improved though war is not wholly eliminated yet.

At one time no attention was paid to the wounded. At the Crimean war in 1856, 60 per cent of them died until Florence Nightingale went to the front and ameliorated the conditions of the wounded.

wounded. It was different in the Russo-Jupanese war when every care was taken of the wounded of their own ranks, and even the Russian soldlers, who fell prisoners were better treat-ed by the Japanese than they would have been in their own hospitals. At one time a part of the territory of the conquered was taken by the conquerer thus planting the seed of of the conquered was taken by the conqueror thus planting the seed of perpetual discontent. When the war was over there was a feeling that part of China's territory should be taken in addition to each. This might have been done had it not been for the counsel of the diplo-mats mats. There are evidences that the pro-which he interprets as meaning that righteousness and justice must prevail righteousness and justice must prevail in order for peace to exist. It is said that God has redeemed the land by the shedding of blood. Men today should prize their liberty all the more because of the sacrifices oth-ers have made for it in the past. Sor-row and suffering nave been caused by war, but they have their mission, and he did not believe that all sufferings of those who had gone were wasted. "Let us have peace if we have to fight for it, and in my judgment for some time to come, if we have peace, it will be because we are prepared to fight for it." When God judges among the na-When God judges among the na-tions He will judge in rightcousness and justice and that will insure The choir and congregation sang, "Now Let Us Rejoice." the people having a voice in matters of government. He referred to the splendid ex-ample of the United States govern-ment with respect to Cuba. The terri-tory was not wanted but in a spirit of unselfishness the United States stepped in at the right moment, and helped to right conditions. The warlike utterances of the em-peror of Germany and the re-cent restrictions placed on him by the Reichstag were referred to as showing that the power of the peo-ple is growing greater and the pow-er of the throne is growing less even in that country.

In that country. He held it to be the duly of every American citizen to strive to main-tain the principles of the government that peace may eventually be established in all the earth. The choir sang, "Hallelujah."

ELDER B. H. ROBERTS.

Elder Roberts read the passage in the Bible referred to by Elder Riter, and stated that it would probably be repeated oftener that day than any other. The love of most men for peace was spoken of, the words of the angels at the birth of Jesus were peace was spoken of, the words of the angels at the birth of Jesus were quoted. "Peace is desirable because it is the mother of plenty and is es-sential to progress, with individuals and nations. While this is true there is such a thing as ignoble peace and honorable war. Some things cannot be arbitrated, as in the case of a burglar who is caught redhanded, with the goods upon him. Ho must be brought up and suffer, So when invaders enter another country. Their right to do so cannot be arbitrated. The soldiers must be withdrawn. Napolean once said "Laws are noth-ing without power to enforce them." God is spoken of as a God of justice, but it is recorded in Holy Writ that He has justified war. Some things are greater than peace. Justice is greater and slavery is worse. To be deprived of liberty is worse than war, and to maintain liberty is worth the cost of War. and to maintain liberty is worth the cost of war. He was interested in the subject of peace but he was not very much interested in the hysteria that sometimes goes with it. Righteousness and peace go together and he did not care much for peace without righteousness, Peace has been promised and when it comes, that is universal peace, it will be because of righteousness, When justice and righteousness are on time.

Progress along these lines is being made of late years by leaps and bounds. The speaker referred to the atrife with England and later the Civil war with all the hardship in-flected on relatives and friends by those dear to them as helping the peo-ple of America to favor peace and not war. This feeling has grown un-th the principal nations have taken not war. This feeling has grown un-til the principal nations have taken up the cry of peace and The Hague tribunal was formed which has passed upon 12 cases. This is more than men ever dreamed of at one time.
