NATION'S POLICY AS TO IRRIGATION

It is Not to Interfere With Private Enterprise But Rather To Aid It.

SO SAYS DIRECTOR WOLCOTT.

Several Cities After Next Congress-Vice Prest, Fairbanks Addresses An Immense Crowd.

Boise, Sept. 2 .- The afternoon session of the congress was presided over by Senator Carter. The program called for addresses by C. D. Wolcott, director of the reclamation service; F. H. Newell, chief engineer; F. W. Mondell, congressman from Wyoming, and by Elwood Mead, Morris Blen, Walter H. Groves, L. H. Taylor, Wayne Darlington, Walter Granger and Judge J. E. Baker. Mondell and Mead were not

Director Wolof Government Reclamation Work to Private Enterprise," saying it was not the desire of the government to interfere with private enterprise. On the other hand, its policy was to aid rather than hinder. In a general dis cussion following the address, a delegate inquired how the government obstruction of irrigation works in cases where the owners refused to sell at a the government was willing to pay. Director Wolcott replied that such cases were usually adjusted by mutual agreement, but added that in extreme ases it might be necessary to condem Senator Heyburn here took part in the discussion, declaring that the government could not, by a well settled rule of law, condemn land for the purpose of reselling it, but could condemn it if the land in question was necessary for the actual construction of the Engineer Newell discussed "The Progress of National Reclamation." He said that himself and other members of the service have come to this conbe taught, rather than to teach. With this end in view they want to meet as many of the people as possible, either as individuals or collectively in meet-ings and organizations. The government is now expending about one and one-half millions a month in reclamation work. There is yet doubt, he said, among some men of sound business sense in the east, whether the reclama-tion work is to be a success; the doubt being based on a belief that the homesteader will not be able to pay for the

The question of putting to profitable use the reclaimed land is the greatest now confronting the department. For himself, he feels that it is to be a success and he says that it has inspired many eastern investors with greatly in-creased confidence in the stability of western land prices and western investments generally.

Delegate Fred Klesel wanted to know why the Malheur project had been dropped. Mr. Newell replied that there were several, chiefly financial. It was estimated that the reclamation would cost $40 per acre and there were protests from many landowners in its territory that the price was too high. It was therefore dropped to the second class and might be taken up again when its time came if it had meantime been reclaimed by private enterprise. A tesolution was passed instructing the secretary to wire President Roosevelt the thanks of the congress for his message read at the morning session

President Mazson prepared and sent the following: The President-The fourteenth National Irrigation congress, by resolution adopted, returns sincere thanks for your splendid message to the congress, delivered through your personal repre-sentative, Hon. Gifford Pinchot." In round numbers 1,000 delegates have registered at headquarters and they are still coming in.

The campaign for the next congress is already on. Sacramento, Cal., Reno, Nev., Bozeman, Mont., Yakima, Wash, Denver and the city of Washington are candidates for the honor, Many delegates to the congress and influen tial officers of the reclamation service are urging Washington, arguing that the holding of the congress in Washington while the national Congress is in sesssion would necessarily have an important educational effect in the right

Every Heart Beat

Forces about 8 ounces of blood out of the heart, and sends it coursing through the veins to the remotest part of the body. This is the amount required by nature to nourish and sustain your body. Every ounce less than this means a shortage in nature's supply of building-up material. A weak heart cannot meet this demand, and consequently you suffer. If your heart skips a beat, or flutters, palpitates, pains you, or you have shortness of breath, you may be sure that the heart is working imperfectly.

"I had been a great sufferer for 15 years. At the time I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I had been confined to my bed for four months. I had frequent sinking spells, sometimes as many as three in a day, during which my heart would seem to stop beating, necessitating the calling of a physician to resuscitate me. Before finishing the first bottle the sinking spells had ceased, and I took sitogether five bottles for a complete cure. I now enjoy perfect health, and am very grateful for this wonderful medicine, for it is the means of my being with my family now.

VERY HARD TO BE A FUGITIVE.

Never Intended to Steal-Declares That Hering Owned Him Body and Soul.

Chicago, Sept. 4 .- A cable dispatch to the Tribune from Tangier says: Paul Stensland's confession, made to clears up much of the mystery surrounding the events leading up to the crash which involved the ruln of the Milwaukee Avenue bank. He took much of the blame upon himself, but declared Cashier Hering was a forger and Hering got most of the money. He exporated his son Theodore and the bank directors. He declared it a lie that he had spent any money on Leone Langdon Key, or any other woman. He declared that he never spent more than $5,000 a year himself and all the money he stole he put into real estate or investments in the hope of "making In his heart of hearts he was giad he was no longer a wanderer on the face of the earth. "Why," said he "think of signing a name not your own. It is worse than stealing. I did not know it would be so hard to be

You have not been found guilty yet; you have a chance to make a fight in court," was suggested. Stensland laughed and said:

I know what a Chicago jury will do to me. I know Chicago juries."
He said he made up his mind to flee on the Thursday preceding the Sunday on which he left Chicago. All Wednes-day night he wrestled with the prob-lem whether to blow his brains out or run. In the hours of darkness he decided to kill himself, but postponed the act till dawn, and with the sun light came the primal instinct to hold on to

His preparations were hurried. He had surrendered his life insurance policy for $5,000 and had received poncy for $5,000 and had received $8,000 as commission on the sale of property of the co-operative store to the Northwestern Life Insurance company which had held a mortgage lien on the premises. He drew $1,500 as salary from the Mount Olive Cemetery association. This was all the money he had taken with him. had taken with him.
"Why, with a million of dollars cash in the bank, did you not take more?" "I could have taken a quarter of a million dollars without trouble," said he, "but I did not want to. I never took one cent of cash from the bank and put it in my own pocket. I never took a dollar belonging to other peo-

Stensland's health at first was not the best. When he boarded the train on the start of his flight he fainted. On board ship he was again stricken and for four days was on his back In his first few days in Tangler, he was far from well, and he went to Spain, knowing the risk he took in moving from what he regarded as protected soil.

Stensland made no attempt to deny his guilt. His confession began with a statement that he was surprised to learn that the total loss involved in the bank's failure would reach $2,000,-

A DRAMATIC ARREST.

Tangler, Sept. 3.—The arrest was due to Asst. State's Atty. Harry Olsen, a telegram addressed to Stensland by his son announcing an important remit-tance and which was addressed to Gibraltar or Tangler putting justice on the track. Olsen, who was in Paris on a vacation, was at once instructed to fol-low up the clue and arrest the fugitive. On his arrival at Tangier, he was convinced that he was on the right track, as Stensland had presented himself at several banks and tried to get letters of credit for large sums. It is a strange coincidence that the fugitive had as-sumed the name of Olsen, and, profitthis fact, the attorney presented himself at Stensland's hotel representing himself as his son, and learned that the latter had just left for Gib-raltar. Olsen was just in time to catch the boat. Reaching Gibraltar, he found that Stensland had just started back to Tangler on board a German steamer. Olsen immediately chartered a steamer and by traveling under full steam arrived at Tangier before the German steamer, which he boarded on its arrival at 3:30 o'clock this morning. He recognized the fugitive and dogged his steps until 9:30, when Stensland went to the British postoffice and requested that all mall addressed to the name of Ol-sen be forwarded to Magador. As he was signing the request form Olsen interposed, saying:

"I am Olsen; sign your own name, Stensland. Stensland was thunderstruck and, after vainly protesting for some moments.
