LOGAN.

The "spirit" of Halloween was certainly abroad in Logan and inspired a goodly number of society people to entertain their friends in a most appropriate manner. One of the very jolliest parties of last Monday evening was that given by Prof. and Mrs. W. S. Langton and Prof. and Mrs. E. D. Ball at the home of the latter. The invitations were very unique, being a yellow jack o' lantern on a white card. The guests were met at the door by the ghost of Prof. Langton, while at the top of the stairs the specter of Prof. Ball silently pointed the way. Ghostly figures, skulls, jack o' lanterns and all sorts of "scary" things greeted one from every conceivable corner. Each guest was requested to tell a ghost story, and while in the list of these blood curdling tales from nobody figures came slowly in succession they were discovered to be none other than Capt. and Mrs. Steyer and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hemming, the gentlemen having represented the ghosts of Napoleon and Sitting Bull.

Miss Julia Nibley made a most charming hostess at an evening party at her home on Thursday, given in honor of Mr. Will Morrell. A very delightful evening was spent in social pastime. Among others were present were Miss Nibley, Misses May Morrell, Myrtle Ballard, Ollie Martineau, Maggie Jones, Messrs. Ed. Hanson, Will Morrell, Ernest Hall, Joe Morrell, Luther Howell, Will Bassett of Provo.

The social given by the people of the First ward on Friday evening was a very successful affair. It was given in honor of Mr. Will Morrell, who leaves on Tuesday next to fill a mission in Germany. A very interesting program was given and light refreshments were served. Mr. Morrell is one of the ward's most esteemed young men, and will be greatly missed by a host of friends who wish him every success.

A number of the younger set were most delightfully entertained by Miss Marie Barber on Halloween, at her home. All came dressed in sheets and pillow cases, bent on making the evening a very jolly one, and many were the cracks and jokes indulged in. A very dainty luncheon was served. Those present beside the hostess were Misses Lou Thatcher, Barbara Howell, Winnie Morrell, Vera Ormsby, Belle Pratt, Radia Ormsby, Vivian Hatch, Lettie Busby, Florence Hanks, Julia Hendricks, Messrs. Booker Preston, Alex. Preston, George Sorenson, Ricey Jones, Ed. Jones, Reese Howell, Vincent Cardon, Earl Crandall, Edgar Mitchell, Earl Daniels.

THE NAPOLEONIC BEAVER

All sorts of pranks and jokes were resorted to to create fear and at the proper time a most suitable supper was served. Huge pumpkins filled with autumn fruits, sautéed in cream cups, cider, pumpkin pie, walnuts which on being opened, were found to contain large worms, other walnuts sealed together contained toasts for each guest. After supper the lights were put out, and a number of horrible things, such as frozen hands, live turtles, blown up sausage skins, pieces of wet fur, potatoes stuck full of tooth picks, etc., were passed around, and, of course, caused a great deal of excitement. Those who enjoyed this very pleasant evening were Prof. and Mrs. Ball, Prof. and Mrs. Langton, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Fleming, Capt. and Mrs. Steyer, Prof. and Mrs. Ostlen, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Thatcher, Jr. and Mrs. W. B. Preston, Jr. and Mrs. W. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Thatcher, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Prof. Upham and Prof. Studer.

A very delightful Halloween party was given by the Misses Afton, Genevieve and Veda Thatcher and Elsie Veda Thatcher at the home of Miss Veda Thatcher. The guests were ushered into the parlor, where they were greeted with the sign, "All hope abandon ye who enter here," and on entering, found his Satanic majesty in the form of John Christiansen, in supreme control. No end of fun was created by his telling each guest what they had done while on earth, to be condemned to such places. Fortunes were told by Miss Florence Miner, and the company was all guided to the chamber of horrors by a witch, impersonated by Miss Kate Thatcher. In this room skeletons, grinning faces, and all such things stared at the from all corners. Out of doors on the lawn, a frozen cadaver was presided over by three little witches—Misses Harriet and Lettie Thatcher and Florence McAllister. All kinds of Halloween jokes and games were played and a very appropriate dumb supper was served and had to be eaten with chop sticks. Those present were the Misses Afton, Genevieve Thatcher, Veda Thatcher, Elsie Latout, Nora, Jennie and Elva Elison, Gertrude Trout, Estelle Evans, Venna McAllister, Brett Morrison, Josephine Thatcher, Helen Lowe, Kate Thatcher, Florence Miner, Mrs. Seth Langton, Messrs. N. B. Moore, Geo. Fergenson, Carl Garf, Dr. Denike, Dr. Emis, Matlocks, Charles Hansen, Niels Hansen, Leo Campbell, A. Campbell, Ariel Cardon, Ron Thatcher, Leo Squires, Geo. P. Thatcher, John Christiansen, Art Jenkins, Seth Langton, Oliver.

The Kensington given on Friday afternoon by Mrs. Jesse Earl was one of the nicest affairs of the week. The decorations consisted of autumn flowers and leaves, and were very pretty. The luncheon served was delicious. The following ladies once again visited Mrs. Earl a charming hostess. Mesdames E. W. Robinson, W. S. Langton, F. W. Thatcher, S. A. Langton, T. W. Naylor, D. H. Thomas, Leo Campbell, A. L. Farrell, Nettie Sloan, M. Thatcher, Jr., C. A. Cummings, C. F. Goodwin, F. W. Brock, J. B. East, W. E. Pers, M. R. Needham, V. Crockett, B. G. Thatcher, G. W. Thatcher, B. Kimball, C. A. Gowen, D. C. Badger, V. Howell, Misses Milda Elison, Annie Elison, Richardson, Ollie Martineau.

That the young men know how to give a party as well as the young ladies was proven by Ed. Hanson and Will Morrell, who entertained a number of their friends at a most enjoyable Halloween party on Monday night at the home of Mr. Hanson. Among other weird and ghostly things which the boys had arranged for entertainment was to blindfold their guests and lead them in a very roundabout way to the basement, where, in the darkest corner they found a hideous demon head with smoke issuing from nose, eyes, ears and mouth, while moans and wails came from all parts of the dark room. All stood in fear and trembling when a good lusty scream from Joe Morrell caused a general stampede for the stairs. All the good things which go to make up a Halloween supper were served, and all pronounced the boys royal entertainers. The following are the names of those present: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. David Allen, Misses Ollie Martineau, Julia Nibley, Marie Morrell, Maggie Jones, Roebel Hall, Maggie Morrell, Myrtle Ballard, Lettie Edna and Millie Daniels, Messrs. Ed. Hanson, Will Morrell, Ernest Hall, Joe Morrell, Luther Howell, Will Bassett of Provo.
