MEET A DAY EARLY IN TEXAS.

An Army Officer's Experience, Which He Would Like to Repeat.

"Only on one occasion did my life seem like the hand of a woman," said an officer of the United States Cavalry, who had many stirring experiences during his four years of service. "It was at the battle of Fredericksburg, when we fought over the water, and were compelled to swim across. I was swimming across, and a woman came up to me, and said, 'Don't you know there is a boat over there? Come to me, and I will help you across.' I did, and she swam with me across the river."

"The woman was really strong," he continued. "I had never seen such a swimmer before."

"She swam with me across the river, and I was safe again."

"She swam with me across the river, and I was safe again."
