

MINING, BUSINESS AND STOCKS

HAS UNCLE SAM GOT FAMOUS VEIN

New Find in Lower Winze Makes Management Feel Sure of It.

THE ORE IS OF LITTLE VALUE

But the Discovery is Cause for Elation Among Officials of the Company.

In the winze, down about 800 feet from the 300-foot level of the Uncle Sam, another body of ore has been found. The rock is not of a commercial grade, going only $12 to the ton, but the management feels elated and confident that something else is to come. Some of the officials who are in close touch with the work at this point believe the Beck Tunnel-Colorado vein is being reached. If that vein ran due north from the properties from which it derived its title, it would go through Yankee ground. But the Yankee has not yet found it and there are those who believe the vein swerves and goes through the Humboldt claim of the Uncle Sam.

High grade encountered last week in a drift on the 90-foot level, is panning out splendidly. Twenty-five tons will be shipped soon. It is expected the carload will bring $10,000,000.

TINTIOS, WHOLE SHOWS.

With Exception of Four Outsiders These Stocks Hold Center of Stage.

Business tapered off a wee bit this morning on the local mining stock exchange but the Tintios remained favorites up to the last minute. With the exception of an occasional Alta or Bingham stock, the Tintios were the favorites. Brokers will rest tomorrow and Saturday; that is, they will go over to Tintio with a thousand or more other good fellows and their families to take a hand in celebrating the opening of the Knight smelter. This has been a reason for the strength of all Tintio stocks. The closing quotations and sales for this morning follow:

WATER OUT AND ORE UNCOVERED

Columbus Con. Has Encountered Milling Rock on Four Hundred Level.

IMPROVEMENT IS EXPECTED

Management is Pushing Drift Into Full Face in Hope of Reaching Shipping Stuff.

Tony Jacobson, president and manager of the Columbus Con., at Alta arrived from camp yesterday evening and confirmed the reports coming down from the mine during the past few days. These reports had it that the company had broken into milling ore, 800 feet west of the shaft on the 400-foot level. Mr. Jacobson went up to the property to look over the new conditions himself. That he found them even better than reported is evident. He says the drift mentioned presents a face covered with ore; some of the stuff is of a shipping grade, but the average is a good quality of milling rock. No attempt has been made to cross-cut on the ore, and will not be made until the drift has been carried into the body further.

It is believed the drift will lead to the uncovering of shipping ore in some quantity.

FLOODS HINDERED.

Whatever success the Columbus Con. meets on the 400 it has earned by patient work against huge obstacles. While development in this portion of the mine was reaching an interesting stage, the pumps broke and the drifts were filled with water. This forced a shut-down at that depth, and for two months the mine has been idle. To fighting the floods, victory was finally attained and development pushed ahead with speed calculated to make up lost time. Just now it looks as if the mine is going to be rewarded for these two months of superhuman efforts. Mr. Jacobson has been the man at the helm and has demonstrated that he is not misplaced. The management is generous with its praise for him and his lieutenants.

YAMPA SMELTER READY.

Mine, Too, Is Prepared to Keep New Plant Running Merrily.

By the first of August, the Yampa smelter will be running in good shape, according to Charles W. Saxman, general manager of the company. Mr. Saxman spent Tuesday and yesterday at the mine and smelter in Bingham and upon his return was feeling better with the new furnace going. He will be in charge of the plant for a long time. "Exasperating interruptions, delays and drawbacks made the work of installing our new equipment slow, almost tedious," says Mr. Saxman. "Now the new blast furnace is about all that is not in a condition to permit work being resumed. The $80,000 converter is installed and waiting, so that the plant will be ready to start up in a few days."

"We have got to go on with it," said Mr. Saxman. "The $80,000 converter is installed and waiting, so that the plant will be ready to start up in a few days."

IMLAY SACKING ORE.

In a letter to Judge O. W. Powers, Sept. 3, R. Turner of the Imlay, a Humboldt, Nev., property, says 40 sacks of ore going better than $100 a ton, are being piled up at the property. The ore is of the highest grade, and is being sacked up for shipment. The Imlay property is located on the lower levels, drifting towards the point where the ore is believed to rest has reached a distance of 121 feet with 20 more feet to go. PLANNING BIG WORK.

Beaver county's Gold Reef property is to have an opportunity of proving just what it is. A thorough inspection of the mine has been made by Engineer W. Bohm and the filing of his report so encouraged the mine owners that they have ordered a gasoline hoist and other machinery necessary to development on a rather extensive scale. The property comprises 19 claims in the neighborhood of the Horn Silver and Newhouse properties, and only six miles from the tracks of the Salt Lake Route railroad. Two fissures, 1,000 feet apart and one from 600 to 800 feet higher than the other cross the property for 5,000 feet. Depths ranging from 50 to 150 feet have been reached at various points about the ground and good values in gold, silver and lead taken out at numerous points.

A PART OF THE TREATMENT.

"I believe," said Dr. John M. Kitchen, "was the first physician in northern Indiana to use the electric current. I was a young fellow, not much past 21 years old, the ink hardly dry on my diploma, when I had sent word by messenger to have an aching tooth pulled out."

I had a small bottle of chloroform and with the hardihood of youth I made up my mind to use it. He readily went under the influence of the new anesthetic. I pulled manfully and the grinder came out. I waited, but the patient did not return. I was badly frightened, and hastily seizing a bucket with about two gallons of water in it, I poured it over him. Gasping, he came out from the influence of the chloroform. When he wanted to know what I meant by giving him such a soaking, I calmly replied: "That was a part of the treatment, and he went away happy to my relief, entirely satisfied."

DIEHL DECREES DEATH.

Police Judge Orders Capital Punishment Upon Canine.

By order of Judge C. B. Diehl in the criminal division of the city court the death sentence will be carried out by the sheriff of police or one of his officers and the victim will be a "black Italian pointer," owned by James Chamberlain. The latter was charged with keeping a vicious dog, and the dog was charged with being vicious and dangerous. The complaint was made by James Buzzo, a business man who resides near J and Sixth avenues.

On Monday evening Mr. Buzzo was walking home and had occasion to pass the Chamberlain residence. As he did so the dog sprang at him and sank its fangs into the calf of Mr. Buzzo's leg.

The case was tried this morning and Mr. Buzzo briefly told his story. Mrs. Chamberlain and her daughter Elizabeth took the stand and testified that Mr. Buzzo walked too close to the gate and that was the reason the dog bit him. They stated that the canine had been trained to protect the house and the family and that the dog would never bite a citizen just because the latter happened to walk close to the gate. Accordingly, he found Mrs. Chamberlain and the dog guilty and ordered that the chief of police carry out the death sentence. Therefore, there will be one less "Italian pointer" wherever that means, in Salt Lake in a few hours.

TEACH HIM LESSON.

Foreigner to Learn He May Not Trifle With Police Court.

Gus Pappas, a foreigner, will learn on Saturday morning that it does not pay to trifle with the court. A few days ago he had Charles Kibers arrested on a charge of larceny, alleging that Kibers stole a $2 chair from him. The case was called yesterday morning and was continued until today. Kibers was on hand ready for trial but Pappas was not. There had been sent word by messenger to have an aching tooth pulled out.

"This sort of business is becoming altogether too common," said the prosecutor. "This man was ordered to be here this morning. These foreigners should be taught that they can not make a monkey out of the court and I will see that they are."

Judge Diehl ordered that an attachment be issued at once and instructed the clerk to send a writ for the arrest of Pappas at $50 where he is arrested.

MARKET STRONG AND VERY ACTIVE

While Demand for Stocks Was Large Selling Orders Were Plentiful.

SPECIALS MADE WIDE GAINS

New Points of Strength Were Developed Among Properties Not Usually Doing Much.

New York, July 23.—Opening dealings in stocks were on a large scale and prices made fractional gains throughout. In Illinois Central the advance reached 1 1/2.

Transactions were heavy during the first hour and price movement irregular. The favorite trading stocks did not advance together but rose successively as a point and sustained the market against the large realizing sales which were in progress. Wide advances in some high grade investment issues served the same purpose. The demand began to sag towards the expiration of the hour and prices fell
