WHERE RUINS ARE LOCATED.

The Principal Ones Are Twenty-five Miles From Mancos-Writer Tells How to Reach Them.

A letter, giving an account of a visit to the Cliff Dwellers, has been received by Col. I. A. Benton, general agent of the passenger department of the Denver & Rio Grande, from Asst. Gen. Pass. Agent F. A. Wadleigh, of Denver. Thu "News" is permitted to publish the letter, which will be of general interest bere. The letter, under date of Oct. 15. follows:

THE CLIFF DWELLERS.

I have just returned from a trip to the Cliff Dweller Ruins located on the Messa Verde in Montesuma county Colo., and for your personal information as well as for the information of prospoctive tourists, give you some data regarding the trip.

The best way to reach the ruins is by rail to Mancos on th Rio Grande Southern railroad. At the last mentioned point Mr. C. B. Kelley, proprietor of a stable, furnishes guide, team, food and lodging for the trip, which requires three days to make-one day to go, one day at the ruins and one day returning, Kelley's charge is $15 for one person or $12.50 per capita for two or more.

PRINCIPAL RUINS.

The principal ruins are located 25 miles from Mancos. The first 15 miles to thertoot of the Measa Verde is covered by wagon, and the last 10 on horseback. wagon, and the last 10 on horseback. There is no wagon road to the top of the Mesa Verde and the only way to reach it is on horseback or afoot. The time required to reach the ruins is ap-proximately five and a half hours, two and a half hours by wagon and three horseback. Kelley has a cabin at the process Tree House ruins where sleeping accommodations are furnished at night. The Balcony House is located about a mile and a half from the Spruce Tree tuns, and the Cliff Palace about the same distance in another direction. These three ruins are the largest and most impotant and all that the tourist used in the cliff Palace about the same distance in another direction.

I. A. BENTON. There are a great many other ruins but they are much greater distances and the time required to visit them is considerably longer. All three ruins are in a wonderful rule of preservation and now that the

All three ruins are in a wonderful fate of preservation, and now that the povernment has made that portion of the Mess Verde on which they are lo-rated a government reservation, there will be no more tearing down or car-rying off of the relics.

ADVICE TO TOURISTS.

Tourists should be advised to wear old clothes and heavy shoes, as climb-ing about the ruins is very hard on wearing apparel. As a rule men wear overalls and women divided skirts. Selley can furnish the latter, provided yomen do not have their own. The lood is plain, and the accommodations of the ruins, primitive: there are, no to the ruins primitive; there are no sardships, but there is a lot of rough and heavy climbing to be done.

ANAEMIC WOMAN CURED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

Doctor Despaired.

Has a New Lease of Life and Rec-ommends the Pills to All Others Who Suffer.

Anaemia is just the doctor's name for bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Fills for Pale People actually make new blood. Can any cure be more direct or certain? Blood is bound to cure bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Fills cure anaemia just as food cures hunger. They cured Mrs. Thomas J. McGann, of 17 Lincoln Place, Plain-field, N. J., and they can do as much for any other pale, weak, alling, blood-less person. ess person.

for any other pale, weak, alling, blood-less person. "In the spring of 1903 I did my us-ual house cleaning," says Mrs. Mc-Gann, "and soon afterward I began to have the most terrible headaches. My heart would beat so irregularly that it was painful and there came a morn-ing when I could not get up. My doc-tor said I had anaemia and he was surprised that J had continued to live in the condition I was in. I was con-fined to my bed for nearly two months, the doctor coming every day for the first few weeks, but I did not improve to amount to anything. "Altogether I was sick for nearly two years. I was neak as a rag, had headgehes, irregular heart beats, loss of appetite, cramps in the limbs and was unable to get a good night's sleep. My legs and feet were so swol-len that I feared they would burst. "One day while I was wondering how long I could live, feeling as I did, I received a booklet telling about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

I received a booklet telling about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I read it and told my husband to get me some of the pills. Before very long I felt a change for the better. I have taken about twelve boxes and although I was as near the grave as could be, I now feel as if I had a new lease of life. I have no more headaches, the life. I have no more headaches, the heart beats regularly, my cheeks are pink and I feel ten years younger. I feel that I have been cured very cheap-ly and I have recommended Dr. Wil-liams' Pink Pills to lots of my friends." When Dr. Williams' Pink Pills re-place bad blood with good blood they strike straight at the root and cause of diseases like headache, billousness, indigestion, anaemia, neuralgía, sciatof diseases like headache, bindusiess, indigestion, anaemia, neuralgia, sciat-ica, locomotor ataxia and other dis-orders often pronounced incurable. She Wants Divorce for Purpose of Ending Peril of Moral Desolation Of Her Household.

Paris, Oct. 31 .- The Castellane divorce case was heard this afterneon before M. Henry Ditte, president of the tribunal of first instance of the Seine. Neither the count nor the countess was present. Maitre Cruppi, for the countess, pleaded for a divorce on the documentary evidence submitted. In an extended review counsel declared that the countess at the beginning of the suit was not acting under influence but solely for the purpose of ending forever the peril of moral desolation of her household. He explained the marriage contract, by which the regime of separa tion of property was established from the yery beginning, and stated that domestic difficulties are over the question of money. Ill treatment soon followed, the count even striking the plaintiff be-

CUSTOM HOUSE BUSINESS.

According to Report of Collector Greenwalde it is Quite Heavy.

The Salt Lake Custom House appears to be doing a land office business, and Collector Greenwalde reports the business for the current month as very heavy, while the business of September was good. Present importations include was good. Present importations include 4 whole car of champagne and large shipments of several kinds of wines and pirits from France, with preserved fruits and candles from the same coun-try, silk goods, and for the first time worsted yarns, with charceoal iron, goods from Japan, Bavarian hops, and many ther European importations direct from the old country. Even in spite of their domestic infelicity, the countess was too good and scrupulous to begin an action for di-vorce until she possessed full proof. She was only 20 when she was married in 1895, and the happiness of the honey-moon was disturbed on their arrival in Paris by the count's demands for money. The countes' income was then $100,000 and the count allowed her $80 money. The countess' income was then $700,000, and the count allowed her $80 pin money. The courtroom was crowd-ed, among those present being many members of the American colony. By 1899, the countess' interests, M.

Cruppi said, were so heavily compro-mised by the count's extravagance that it necessitated a family meeting in New York and the appointment of a legal trustee. But the difficuities regarding money were unceasing and in order to money were unceasing and in order to obtain funds the count pawned or sold at ridiculous prices the most costly ob-jects. When the countess protested, the count abused her in the presence of servants, and when she declined to attach her signature to documents he frequently pinched her and sometimes struck her, the first time being four months after their marriage. M. Cruppi protested against the "malicious reports in regard to the coun-tess' intentions," and announced that she would leave France for America immediately after a divorce is granted. Recounting the count's infidelity, the first instance cited by counsel was that with a married woman, described as "Madame A." in 1898. The correspond-ence was conducted through M. Moret, the count's secretary. The countess later placed the jetters in the custody of a lawyer. M. Cruppi read passionate extracts from one of the letters. It read: "I am kissing you on the neck. Do you feel it?" and so on.

Counsel also detailed llasons with "Madame B." and "Madame C," whom

Some coin, however, is being plac-ed at even money, for while it is con-ceded that Berger is a clevor boxer, it is claimed that Kaufmann has the heavier punch. Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia will be at the ringside. He puts his faith on Kaufmann, but whichever way the fight between the heavyweights goes, it is inti-mated that O'Brien will challenge the winner. Interest in the mill is high, and a fierce fight is expected as there is con-siderable feeling between the two men. Berger says he owes Kaufmann a grudge for many disparaging remarks that his opponent has made concerning his fistic ability. Both men are in spiendid condi-tion.

It is learned that the robbers first intended to altack a shipment of $1.-250,000 from the state bank, Oct. 17, but they were forced to abandon their plan because the authorities were warned and strengthened the police on duty in all the districts traversed by the treasure and also sent the money in installments by various routes.

The past fortnight's record of import-ant robberlas throughout the empire show that 203 crimes of that nature were committed, and that the total booty secured, in addition to the St. Petersburg robbery of last week, was $152,000.
