THE INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION.

Nothing Definite Decided Regarding Its Details—London Full of All Kinds Of Sore Suggestions.

Vigo, Spain, Nov. 1.—All the Russian warships left here at 8 o'clock this morning. The Russian squadron was followed by the Spanish cruiser Esmeralda.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT ANNOYED

London, Nov. 1.—The government here received a notification from the British consul at Vigo that the Russian squadron had sailed today and some irritation was felt at the fact that the Russian government had failed to previously notify the government regarding the departure of the squadron.

Count Benckendorff, the Russian ambassador, has received in audience by King Edward at Buckingham palace this afternoon. It is assumed that the ambassador was the bearer of a message from Emperor Nicholas.

Count Benckendorff had a most cordial interview with the king, who, it is understood, expressed his satisfaction at the Russian ambassador's attitude at the present juncture of settling the dispute.

Up to the time he saw the king Count Benckendorff had received no indication that a detachment of officers from the Russian squadron had been notified of the departure of the squadron.

The ambassador informed the Associated Press that the departure of the squadron would naturally follow the departure of these officers in accordance with the understanding reached between himself and Foreign Secretary Lansdowne.

Count Benckendorff had a long conference at the foreign office last night with Premier Balfour, Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, as well as Foreign Secretary Lansdowne.

It is stated that the draft of the proposed convention relative to the scope, composition and venue of the international commission was drawn up. At this time he saw the king Count Benckendorff had received no indication that a detachment of officers from the Russian squadron had been notified of the departure of the squadron.

JAPS NEARING PORT ARTHUR.

Drive Russians Out of Their Trenches but They Do Not Occupy Them.

SEEK COMMANDING POSITION.

Could Have Entered Fortification but Could Not Have Held It Because of Fire From Forts.

Chefoo, Nov. 1, 11 p. m.—The messenger additional details reaching Chefoo concerning the last general assault on Port Arthur, which began in a preliminary way on Oct. 24, and later developed into the third attempt of the Japanese to secure a commanding position, say that on the night of Oct. 28, the Japanese, who on Oct. 26 had daringly entrenched themselves on the slope of Rihlung mountain, forced their way further and drove the Russians from their last trench before that fortification.

The Russians retreated from their trenches to the other side of the mountain. It is alleged that the Japanese might have entered the fortification but that they refrained from doing so as it would obviously be impossible for them to hold the position in the face of the fire which would be sure to be directed against them from other forts.

It seems to be the intention of the Japanese to enter several co-operative forts simultaneously or not at all. The Japanese have found it impossible to remain in any solitary fortification while the other big forts were able to concentrate a fire upon them.

The Japanese also have advanced somewhat closer to Li mountain, having occupied a position above the cremation works.

On the night of Oct. 30 the Japanese flag was seen flying over two new positions, the names of which are not known to the informant of the Associated Press correspondent.

FIGHTING BY MOONLIGHT.

General Kuraki's Headquarters, Oct. 31, via Fusan, Nov. 1.—The Russians took advantage of the bright moonlight last night to cannonade the Japanese from positions on the left wing of the central army, but were repulsed after an action which lasted several hours, during which both infantry and artillery fire was brisk and continuous until daylight. The Japanese today for the first time replied to the Russian bombardment, which has been frequent for several days past.

JAP REPORTS ON OPERATIONS.

Tokio, Nov. 1, 9 p. m.—Imperial headquarters tonight published a series of reports covering the operations against Port Arthur during the months of August, September and October. The chief interest centers in the tremendous attack which was begun Oct. 26, and is still continuing. Hundreds of Japanese guns began battering against the northerly and easterly forts on Oct. 26, the infantry going forward with desperate rushes while the pioneers and sappers were running mines against the Russian forts.

The reports record a series of desperate encounters at close range and tell a dramatic story.

The reports, beginning with that covering the attack of Oct. 26, are as follows: "From 8:30 o'clock in the morning the forts on Sungshu and Rihlung mountains, the eastern group of forts on Keekwan mountain and a fort lying to the north of the latter were bombarded with our siege guns and naval ordnance and 250 shells took effect."

"The naval guns directed against the Sungshu and Rihlung mountain forts sent many effective shells. The parapets of Rihlung mountain fort were demolished and openings were made in the fort. Several portions of the cover were destroyed."

"Two of the most important covers of Sungshu mountain fort were destroyed by our shells. One 15-centimeter gun was dismounted and another was damaged. One gun on the northern fort of East Keekwan mountain was destroyed."

WENT DOWN TO LIBERTY PARK.

Passerby Saw Him Laying Beneath a Tree and Telephoned the Police Department.

Olaf P. Anderson, aged 32 years, a bartender by trade, and recently a scene hustler at the Salt Lake Theater, took a large dose of morphine about 10 o'clock this morning, and then went down to Liberty park to die.

He was found there by the police, and the man's limp body to the police station. Officers Sperry and Senger hauled the man's body to the police station.

Demographic trouble is the cause of Anderson's attempt at suicide, but just what the exact trouble was no one seems to know. It was learned, however, that he had a quarrel with his wife, Mrs. Ella Carme Anderson, this morning. They had resided on Sixth Street near Fourth East street.

After quarreling with his wife, Anderson came down town and was seen at the North Star saloon on East First South street about 9:15. He left the place hurriedly and went to his sister, Matilda Anderson, in the rear of 46 Seventh East street, where he took the morphine.

From there he went down to Liberty park and laid down under a tree. A passerby found him lying and telephoned the police.

AN ANGLO-RUSSIAN CRISIS AGAIN IN SIGHT.

London, Nov. 1, 5:16 p. m.—London has been bewildered all day long by alarming reports indicating a renewal of the Anglo-Russian crisis and showing that the most serious activity is prevailing at Gibraltar.

The first news received announcing the sailing of the Russian squadron from Vigo, leaving only four subordinate officers to give evidence at St. Petersburg and then testify before the international commission.

Count Benckendorff, at 1 p. m., went to Buckingham palace and spent nearly half an hour with the king. Later in the afternoon the ambassador again visited Lord Lansdowne, who also received Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty.

Prince Louis of Battenberg, the director of naval intelligence, and Admiral Sir John Fisher, senior lord of the admiralty. All this renewal of activity created apprehension in the public mind and late this afternoon the press association issued the following:

"The press association has reason to believe that the action of the Russian admiral has again brought the Anglo-Russian crisis dangerously close to an acute stage. Count Benckendorff arrived at the foreign office late this afternoon to see Lord Lansdowne. Mr. Balfour, who had already seen the first lord of the admiralty earlier in the day, has just received a visit from Lord Selborne, who was accompanied by Admiral Sir John Fisher."

A dispatch to a news agency from Aldershot camp says orders have been issued for strong drafts of all branches of the royal engineers to be in readiness to leave for Gibraltar at short notice.

TAKAHIRA'S CONDITION IMPROVED.

New York, Nov. 1.—Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese minister, who underwent an operation here last Sunday for appendicitis, passed the night sleeping more comfortably than he has for some time.

TO CHECK SMALLPOX.

Teachers of Lowell School Advised by Health Commissioner Wilcox.

City Health Commissioner Wilcox today visited the Lowell school at the request of the board of education and advised the teachers and pupils as to the best course to pursue in order to prevent the further spread of smallpox among those who attend the school.

Everything possible is being done by the school officials and the health officials to prevent the further spread of the disease and it is believed that they will be successful in their efforts.

Only three cases of the disease were reported to the board of health up to 1 o'clock this afternoon but all of them are in the infected district. They are: Leona and Laurinda Poulton, ages 8 and 18 years, residing at 176 I street; Lorenzo Jensen, aged 48, of 281 J street.

ANTI-JEWISH RIOTERS ON TRIAL.

Proceedings at Gomel, Russia, Are Slow, With Open Doors and Attract Much Attention.

THERE ARE ELEVEN DEFENDANTS

Sixty-Nine Other Persons Are Held Under Bail on the Same Charges.

975 WITNESSES ARE PRESENT.

Government Produced Evidence That Jews Were Thoroughly Organized, Have Leaders, etc.

Gomel, Russia, Nov. 1.—The trial of the persons charged with being responsible for the anti-Jewish riots here in September, 1903, is proceeding slowly and with open doors, and is attracting immense interest. There are 11 defendants and 69 other persons who are under the same charge are being held under bail. Nine hundred and seventy-five of the 1,100 witnesses are present.

The government's witnesses are attempting to prove that the disorders of Sept. 11, 1903, were in the nature of anti-Christian riots and not of anti-Jewish character. It is claimed that the first riot was organized by Jews to take vengeance for the Kishineff affair, while the rioting here followed as a retaliation upon the Jews. The government produced evidence to prove that the Jews were thoroughly organized and armed and had pre-arranged signals, regular leaders, adopted a provocative attitude towards the Christians and had committed many murders in the streets and jostling them off the sidewalks.

The affair of Sept. 11, it is added, grew out of a trifling quarrel between a Christian forester and a Jewess over the purchase of a herring. The Jewess, two days later, was killed, and a fight followed and Jews ran up and beat and burned the forester. Some Christians from the bazaar hurried to the rescue of the forester. The free fight then became general, the Jewish signal was given and the whole Jewish population assembled, attacking the Christians, dragging along the road by her heels. The peasants abandoned their goods in the bazaar and fled. One of them was stabbed in the neck and killed. The police and a lieutenant and four soldiers tried to restore order, but stones were thrown and the soldiers were fired at from windows of neighboring houses, the Jews shouting: "We are going to be avenged; this is not Kishineff!"

The police and soldiers finally escaped owing to the interposition of a rabbi, who had announced that they intended to take vengeance on the Jews came in to town at noon. The police had been warned and a company of soldiers was brought in and helped the workmen at the bridge. The Jews, however, did not listen to the rabbi, the two sides anathematizing each other, finally hurling stones. Appeals of the police chief to the rioters to disperse were vain. At last a policeman was struck by a brickbat, and the workmen, shouting "The Jews have killed a policeman," surged across the bridge. Then there were revolver shots from the Jews, whereupon the captain commanding the soldiers, placed his company between the opposing forces and the workmen finally were dispersed in the direction of the suburbs. But the Jews would not even listen to a rabbi who was present and the soldiers finally charged them with bayonets, and access to the wealthy Jewish quarter was closed. In the meantime the workmen were dispersed and the rioting continued. The Jews were continually engaged in dispersing them, while the Jews elsewhere were attacking every Christian they could find. The first victim fired by the soldiers was a policeman, who was killed as a rabbi, where two workmen were killed. When the two troops fired three volleys, killing two more workmen and one Jew. The total result of the rioting was three non-commissioned officers, two soldiers, a Jew, a Christian, a Christian killed and four Christians and four Jews wounded. A number of policemen were also killed or wounded. About 200 houses and shops of Jews were pillaged.
