BREVITIES.

Who discovers what is infinitely small? Only one. The Infinitely Great.

If one does not hold still, when stung by a bee or by fate, the sting remains behind in the wound.

Men, like their books, at their beginning and end have blank leaves—infancy and old age.

A New York paper laments the completion of the Pacific Railway, because it will facilitate the importation of fire-crackers.

A great number of American children attend school in Brussels, where tuition and board are at a much lower rate than in New York.

A Portland man has cured one of the most dangerous cases of cancer by drinking red clover tea and applying a red clover compress, and thinks it will prove an infallible remedy in all cases.

A Mohammedan merchant recently arrived at Marseilles, accompanied by his harem, the inmates of which perambulated the streets of that city in the dress of European ladies.

There is only one stimulant that never intoxicates—duty. Duty puts a clear sky over every man into which the skylark, happiness, always goes singing."

M. Thiers is said to have won over one of the electors by going into ecstacies over his pet cat. Madame Thiers accompanied the veteran statesman in his canvassing expedition.

"Why don't your father take a newspaper?" said a man to a little boy whom he caught pilfering his paper from his door steps, "Kos he sends me to take it," answered the urchin.

In well fed fowls the difference will be seen not only in the size and flesh of the fowls, but in the weight and goodness of the eggs; two of which go farther in domestic uses than three from hens poorly fed.

A visitor, who, for the first time enjoyed the luxury of a Turkish bath, remarked to a friend upon leaving: "This sort of thing takes the conceit out of a fellow. It makes him believe that he never was really clean before."

In Hopkinton, Mass., a newly elected constable, while drunk, went to the house of a citizen, at night, and having awakened him commanded him "in the name of the Commonwealth to come out and carry him home."

A company has been formed in New York to bring fresh meat to that market from Texas. The entire hold of their vessels is lined with a non-conducting felt, and by chemical means a cold below the freezing point will be kept up.

Hon. Jack Hamilton, who aspires to be Governor of Texas, promises, in case of his election, not to pardon any fairly convicted criminals. With such a pledge, and a vigorous Judiciary, half of Texas would soon be in jail.

The Vigilance Committee of Bryan, Wyoming Territory, called upon a desperate character a short time since, and gave him fifteen minutes to leave town. He mounted his animal and said: "Gentlemen, if this mule don't balk, I don't want but five."

Man endures opposition and reproof more readily than we suppose, only he will not endure them when violent, even though they are deserved. Our hearts are flowers, they continue open to the gently-falling dew, but close against the storm.

In the course of a recent conversation held by the Emperor Napoleon, on the subject of the recent elections in France, he is said to have uttered the following sentence: "At the present France only acknowledges Bonapartists and revolutionists."

The San Diego (Cal.) Union says that several persons have arrived in that country from the Hawaiian Islands, and intended to commence the cultivation of sugar, coffee, and the banana. A thousand cuttings of sugar cane and a number of banana plants have arrived.

A submarine diver who has been operating in the river at Norwich, Conn., says there is a cave under the banks of considerable size, the hidden beauties and strange formations of which, could the water be drawn off so as to make it accessible, would form one of the wonders of the world.

Be not astonished when you see men of virtue in disgrace, and dignities worn by those who have no right to them. Open your eyes and consider the innumerable stars which never loose anything of their brightness, but the heavens turn, and the new moon, now the sun, is eclipsed.

Bertrand, the little grandson of Napoleon III.—that is to say, the son of Madame de Bienville, daughter of Napoleon's mistress, Kate Howard—bears so striking a resemblance to his Imperial grandfather that he creates quite a sensation whenever he makes his appearance in the streets of Paris.

A Weatherafield paper says there are more deacons in that town than in any place in Connecticut. The other day a well-known deacon went to the steamboat wharf to see a friend off, and as the steamboat started the friend said Good-bye, deacon,' whereupon twelve men, who stood upon the wharf, immediately tipped their hats and responded 'Good-bye, sir.'

An enthusiastic Bostonian, speaking of Parepa-Rosa's singing at the Jubilee and the ease with which she was heard in all parts of the vast Coliseum, placidly says, "she was built for the occasion."

We heard it said, while the lady was in this city, that we owed the pleasure of hearing her in our Theatre to the fact that the great Eastern was not on the Pacific coast at the time that she wished to go East.
