

WATER RESOURCES OF GRAND RIVER

Basin is One of the Most Important Districts in Colorado.

NARROW FERTILE VALLEYS.

Interesting Data Furnished by Hydrographic Branch of United States Geological Survey.

Special Correspondence.
Washington, Oct. 29.—One of the most important districts in Colorado, from an industrial standpoint, is that drained by the Grand river and its tributaries, and the development of the natural features of the basin has received no greater aid than that furnished by the investigations of the hydrographic branch of the United States geological survey.

Comprising chiefly a mountainous region, with a high and constant run-off of which not more than 50 per cent is used for hydro-electric power development, and the actual construction of plants is now in progress. Irrigation, largely confined to the lower end of the basin, is limited rather by the area of suitable land than by insufficient water supply—a condition the reverse of that prevailing on the arid slopes of the Rockies.

The Grand rises on the western slopes of the mountains, among the high peaks of the front range, and flows in a general southwesterly direction across Colorado into Utah, where it unites with Green river to form the Colorado. From source to mouth the total distance traversed is about 350 miles, and of its 28,180 square miles of drainage area, 22,000

North inlet to the lake, and on the outlet of the lake; the data collected at these stations are valuable in connection with the proposed diversion of water to the South Platte watershed, on the eastern slope of the mountains. In the maintenance of a number of these stations the power companies co-operate.

CHILDREN ARE SAVAGES.

At Some Time or Other of Their Life, Says Pres. Hughes of Ripon College, Chicago, Nov. 2.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Janesville, Wis., says:

Every girl and boy is a savage at some time or other, according to President Hughes of Ripon college, who made such declaration yesterday in an address to 1,000 teachers attending the meeting of the Southern Wisconsin association. Furthermore every child has the right to be as savage as it pleases, he said. Continuing, President Hughes said:

"The real master is the one who does not kill this spirit in the child, but getting in sympathy with it leads it out. To so teach, no new program is needed, no charged curriculum. All that is necessary is to love the savage, for all ages must be developed in order that the complete man will result. We must respect selfhood."

RETURNS FOR STEAMERS.

New York, Nov. 2.—The managers of the American and Cunard lines have made arrangements with their passengers on the Philadelphia and Umbria, which leave New York today, that they shall receive the result of the election by Marconi wireless on Tuesday night from Cape Race.

SOCIALIST SPEAKERS ARRESTED IN SEATTLE.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 2.—Fifteen Socialist speakers were arrested on the streets of Seattle tonight, lodged in jail and denied bail. Among those taken in custody were candidates for Congress, the supreme and superior benches and other offices to be voted on next Tuesday.

For several months there has been war between the police and the Socialists, the latter insisting on holding meetings against the orders of the former. The Socialists allege police persecution, and claim that in being denied the privilege of street speaking the right of freedom of speech is being trampled on by the police.

During the arrests tonight two men were arrested and booked on charges of assaulting police officers in the performance of their duty. Nearly 3,000 people assembled on the streets. The arrests occurred in different parts of the city.

WANTS CHANGE OF VENUE.

Seattle, Nov. 2.—Application will be made tomorrow morning to Judge Frater of the criminal department of the superior court, asking that a change be granted in the case in which Chester Thompson is charged with the murder of Judge G. Meade Emory. The application was filed in the office of the county clerk yesterday by Will H. Morris, acting for the firm of Morris, Southard & Shipley. This is the first appearance of this firm in the case, although it has been stated that the members of the firm were to be retained in the case. The papers have been served on Prosecuting Atty. Mackintosh, and the application is backed by a number of affidavits to the effect that the people of this county have been prejudiced in the case by the daily press. No particular county is specified in the application for the change of venue.

Pull In the Slack

Women, who have let themselves down into a condition of weakness, because of some chronic female disease, are in a pitiable state. Their nerves and muscles are like the slack lines over a horse's back, almost useless in an emergency. They can no more control themselves, than the driver can turn his horse, or hold him back from running away, until he has PULLED IN THE SLACK, just as you can do, for your nerves and muscles, by taking

WINE OF CARDUI

Woman's Relief

Slack nerves and muscles mean pain, suffering, nervousness, weakness, the blues, general misery and inability to enjoy life, all of which can be cured by curing the female disease, which is the real cause. "My doctor treated me for five months," writes Mrs. J. F. Byrd, of Stapleton, Ala., "but did me no good. My head, shoulders and back hurt me so I could hardly do my work, and my hands and feet were cold all the time. I was weak and miserable, but I took two bottles of Cardui, and have been in good health ever since." Safe. Reliable. Non-intoxicating. Try it.
