

CALLIS KNOWS WHAT HE IS AFTER

Southern Pacific Magnate Talks of Building in the Philippines.

UTAH CATTLE IN DENVER.

Railroad Conductors to Enter $10,000
Many Troops Passing Westward Through Ogden.

At the Union League club of San Francisco the other day, C. P. Huntington was in a pleasant mood. More than that, he was candid. He assured his hearers that he never did anything for his health. Huntington announced himself emphatically in favor of expansion and American possession of the Philippines. He said that in two or three years he would be building railroads in the Philippines. The railroad magnate spoke from notes.

He is watching everything in sight. That has been his motto for a number of years, and it has paid for better than conservation. Expansion, said Huntington, is the only way to get on. I might mention that in two or three years, if everything turns out all right, the Southern Pacific company will be building railroads in the Philippines. You are aware, perhaps, that we never do anything for our health.

"They can do all the talking they want to and carry out the work of your Trade Office as they please, but when the old man makes a move he understands what he is after."

RAILWAY CONDUCTORS MEET.

Efforts to Stop the Next National Council Held Here—$10,000 Needed.

Efforts are being made to have the national council of conductors meet in Salt Lake City. At a meeting of the Salt Lake division of the order of railway conductors yesterday, a committee of five, composed of Messrs. Corbett, Piquem, Koller and Arlow, has been appointed to canvass the situation in the city. It is estimated that it will require $10,000 in order to secure the meeting. A special meeting of the order will be held next Saturday afternoon. Delegate Koller will go to Denver on May 4th, with instructions to set forth the advantages of this city as the place for holding the next meeting.

U. P. SPUR AT PARKCITY.

Surveying for Tracks on Wide Hills to Handle Trains.

Runs the Park Road—J. J. Daily came out from Salt Lake yesterday and was met here by H. P. House of Denver, civil engineer of the Union Pacific. The route of the spur from the depot to the Utah state fair ground, which will be used, in every day,

West and Ontario area, was gone over. Surveys are now being made and if the route is practicable, the U. P. will commence at once to grade and lay track, and the work will be pushed to completion. Representative Daily pointed out lands the Utah-West line without hauling it in wagon, and it is proved that the present plan is not feasible. A temporary system will be inaugurated, Mr. Daily, however, is satisfied that a grade can be established on which U. P. trains can be operated. It will appear rather odd, in one railroad line running on one side hills, but it will stand as a monument of progressiveness to the Utah-West and Ontario railroads.

UTAH CATTLE IN DENVER.

The Market There Contains an Abundance of Material.

There were cattle in Denver and grades in the Denver market yesterday to satisfy any buyer. To the twelve carloads of shorthorn and feeders from Utah which arrived late Thursday afternoon were added about 30 head more yesterday morning, all of which went to sale. Besides these there were thirty-one carloads from Colorado and Idaho that were being to market feed lots, and therefore were not put to sale. The Utah stock started in to move about before noon, when about the head of the young stock averaged 10 head, changed hands at $4.00 per cwt. with freight paid to the river. The sale of a bunch of young mixed native cattle at $7 per head, and another bunch of 150-pound steers at $1.75 per head brought bids in this department to a close for a time. Buyers and sellers could not agree and trading dropped for the balance of the day.

In the last end of the market business was active. Seven carloads were put on sale and went over the scales as rapidly as possible. Three carloads were the combined meat and covered steers from Poudre, Colo. They averaged 1,240 pounds and sold at $1.70. Two carloads were sorted from New Mexico, averaging 1,170 pounds, selling $1.50, and two carloads were from Colorado, averaging 1,080, selling for $1.25. There was a scattering in beef owing to the steady run this week, and buyers were not only pretty well supplied but several have contracted for live stock that will be coming about at stated periods for a month. This is good and choice stock. However, the demand for medium grades is still good and can find a market at any time.

TO THE SEVEN DEVILS.

Work Progressing on Road from Weber to Copper House.

The Boise-Hamilton says: D. D. Korte is up from Weber. He says the work on the Seven Devils railroad is getting well underway, and that there is great activity. One of the most interesting features of the road and sub-contractors are strung out for a considerable distance along the line. The work has been delayed by the failure of equipment to arrive. Two hundred Japanese laborers have gone to the canyon to begin work there and they will soon be followed by 800 more. The Weber Herald publishes a report that the railroad work on the Pacific and Idaho Northern has been delayed by unavoidable circumstances, the care of grading and construction supplies have occupied a much longer time than necessary, owing to account of high water, but Monday they were reported this side of the big washout in Wyoming. The contractors have in the neighborhood of 100 teams engaged to go to work, but the non-arrival of wagons, too, has delayed the work, with the exception of the three small outfits working on sub-contracts. In the meantime, in order to get to work at the new crossing point, a small lot of wagons were telegraphed for on Monday of Tuesday. Mr. Korte says: George C. Thompson, partner of L. O. Williams, has returned from Salt Lake after getting the material for the road. The first outfit of the little workers arrived Monday from Nampa, 250 men with axes from Portland and by the middle of next week it is expected to have 500. Weber canyon at the rock work. They are contracted at $1.25 per day and board themselves. They are steady workers that can be depended upon, and will greatly assist in getting the road through the canyon on contracted time. The employment of this force will not interfere with anyone who may want to work on the road.

Central Passenger association have authorized excursion rates for the following meetings: International Woman's Health, Promotive League, Cleveland, O., May 2nd; United Church Evangelical Lutheran church in America, annual conference, Hutchinson, Minn., June 1st; Reformed church in America, general synod, Catskill, N. Y., June 7-10; American Institute of Homeopathy, Atlantic City, N. J., June 18-24; National Electric Medical association, Detroit, Mich., June 20-21; Western Union are considering a proposition to make a rate of one fare plus 25¢ for the round trip for the biennial convention of the Northwest International league to be held at Indianapolis, July 20-25. A total attendance of 10,000 is expected of the gathering, of which about one-third will probably come from the Western States.

It is announced that the present telegraph office at Ogden and the present train service between Ogden and the Weber and Grand Creek lines will be discontinued. The change may occur Monday or Tuesday. Mr. Kington, the engineer, with Mr. Whiston, his foreman, Mrs. C. J. Whiston, agent and Mr. H. S. Chandler, the branch conductor, will be laid off by the suspension.

The Washoe re-survey announced a further cut in second-class tickets from Ogden to St. Louis to the northwest, and the Missouri Pacific promptly made the same rates. The new rates reduce the fares from St. Louis to Ogden, St. Paul and Portland, from $22.50 to $20.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The U. P. W. deferred one train of freight to the Southern Pacific of Ogden this morning and will have two more tomorrow morning of the Pacific.

S. H. Babcock, traffic manager of the U. P. W., went to Denver on Saturday night. It is some perhaps for a few days.

The Rio Grande Western officials, General Palmer and Colonel Deffen, who have been taking a tour of inspection along the line, returned east for Denver on Saturday evening. Vice President Fawcett, who was with them, went on to California.

SALT LAKE TRAINS.

The Salt Lake train leave First West every day for the lake, returning about every day. Persons who desire to see the great resort, before the crowded season begins should take advantage of these trips before the bathing season comes on.

Thomas H. Benton of Lincoln, Neb., is in town today. He is the brother of J. A. Benton, passenger and ticket agent.

Three special trains of soldiers on the U. P. en route for San Francisco are scheduled to arrive at Ogden today at 2:00, 2:45 and 7:45 p. m.
