AFTER THE COMMISSION.

Some of our local cotemporaries are pouring hot shot into the Utah Commission. They seem to be suddenly placed in a similar position to that occupied by a battered old hat on the sidewalk. Every passer-by appears to be inspired to give it a kick.

The position of the NEWS in reference to the august body has been unmistakably defined from the date of their creation. They are a superfluity. Seeing that they were made and appointed, however, notwithstanding they occupied the position of a boll on the body-politic, they had to be accepted. They were received here with much pomp. The Legislature will doubtless pass another election law which ought to obliterate them but the veto power in the hands of Mr. Murray ties the hands of the representatives of the people.

The creation of the Commission was an undemocratic superfluity; the continued existence of the unnecessary body is a burlesque on popular government.

THE B. Y. ACADEMY.

ON Monday next, the 10th inst., a new term commences at that deservedly popular institution of learning, the Brigham Young Academy, at Provo. Prof. Karl G.
