

MARBLE BEDS IN LOGAN CANYON.

A property that promises to prove of as much value to its owners as a great gold or silver mine, and of even greater importance as a home industry, consists of marble beds in Logan canyon, on which extensive development work is now being done.

These beds are located about 20 miles from Logan, and near the head of the main fork of Logan canyon. They were discovered many years ago by Mr. John A. Montrose, a life long resident of Logan, but he was not able to do anything with them on account of inability to secure title to the land. But about two years ago, he and his associates obtained from the state a title to two adjoining sections, which embrace all of the deposits of marble in place yet discovered in that vicinity.

A little less than a year ago the Utah Marble company was incorporated with an authorized capital of $50,000, and Mr. Montrose and associates conveyed to this corporation these two sections of land. A number of prominent men in Logan, about 20 in all, became stockholders. The officers of the corporation are as follows: President, J. E. Car-don; vice president, J. A. Montrose; secretary, N. Ralph Moore; treasurer, H. E. Hatch.

The land which embraces the marble beds is part of a sloping mountain side. It is steeper in some places than others, and part of it lies in terraces. The strata of marble crop out over an extensive area, and vary in thickness from four inches to four feet.

The marble is harder than that obtained from Italy or Vermont, and is known as dolomite marble. One vein softer than the others, is called oolite marble.

A most remarkable feature of the deposit is the large number of colors that are obtained from different veins. No less than 14 distinct colors are found, including perfect white, jet black, gray, brown, pink, and several different mottles.

An extremely valuable quality of the marbles found here of different colors is their susceptibility to a remarkably high polish. In a marble yard in Logan is a gravestone black marble from these beds, which has been so highly polished, even with inadequate appliances, that its surface is a perfect mirror, at which a man might shave himself. In the state capitol at St. Paul, a truly magnificent structure is a room lined with marble so highly polished that the guide calls special attention to it; but its surface is inferior to that of this monument.

Chemical tests show that the marbles from these beds will withstand the elements longer than most varieties in common use, and that they will hold their polish longer under exposure than will the Italian or Vermont varieties.

Some marble has been shipped to stone cutters at different points, and machinery for sawing slabs of various sizes has been purchased and will shortly be in operation. The beds are near Logan river, which will furnish power, and the saws will be set up at the quarries. The sawed stone will be hauled to Logan, where the corporation has another water power, and where it will be worked up, polished and shipped.

The industry is firmly established and the company will shortly be able to fill orders for marble for all purposes. This means an immense saving in freight to the public of the intermountain states, and the marble will be sold in them as from Vermont and Italy.

A limited amount of the treasury stock of the company is for sale. Interested investors should write to the secretary, N. Ralph Moore, Logan, for particulars.

LOGAN KNITTING FACTORY.

This is one of the leading home industries of northern Utah, and during the year now closing it has added to its trade and prestige by invading new territory, and to its capacity by adding more machinery to its already excellent plant.

This year this establishment has sent agents into the state of Colorado, and they have met with excellent success, orders sent in from that state during the year amounting to over $1,000. For the first year's business in that state, this is an excellent showing. This factory has also sent agents to Montana, and has received liberal patronage from that state.

It has increased its plant by the addition of several new knitting and sewing machines, and it now has a separate machine for each process through which a garment passes in the course of manufacture. The result is a more perfect garment than was formerly produced.

The leading articles turned out by this factory are the following: L. D. S. garments, union suits for men, women and children, undershirts, drawers, sweaters, and hosiery of every quality, and description. All kinds of knit goods are kept in stock.

The establishment has a retail store which is one of the handsomest salesrooms in Logan. The stock embraces all the articles produced in the factory, and a full line of notions and dry goods. The latter includes ladies' wrappers and undershirts, blankets and comforts, etc., etc. The retail store enjoys a heavy patronage.

Among the many establishments of this kind that have been established in Utah during recent years this one is the largest in capacity and output and in the number of hands it employs. It shows the remarkable record this year of an increase of 25 per cent over the business done by it in 1904. This increase, and the ever unbroken prosperity which this company has enjoyed, are mainly due to the ability of its management, and the enviable reputation its officers have established for fair and honorable dealing. They are as follows: President, Joseph Morrell of the clothing house of Campbell & Morrell; vice president, Melvin J. Ballard, a rising young business man of Logan and a native of the town; secretary and treasurer, Joseph E. Cardon, another young native of Logan, who is rapidly coming to the front in business circles and enterprises. These gentlemen with Matthias F. Cowley and Louis S. Cardon comprise the board of directors. Messrs. Cardon and Ballard are in direct control of the institution.

A heavy jobbing business in all kinds of knit goods is transacted, and dealers and merchants who handle this class of merchandise would do well to correspond with this establishment in regard to goods, prices, etc.

Mail orders are given special attention and the people, whenever in need of anything made by this company, are invited to send for their samples and prices.

MUTUALS TEMPORARY PRESIDENT.

Frederick Cronwell, for 21 years treasurer of the Mutual and trustee since 1889, has been elected by the board to serve as president pro tem, to succeed Richard A. McCurdy, who resigned.

Mr. Cronwell has been chosen to act as president only for a brief period pending the selection of some one to take the place permanently.

He was graduated from Harvard university in 1863, and is now one of the leading spirits in the Harvard club, of which he is a governor. He is a member also of the Metropolitan, Century and University clubs.

RAPID BUSINESS RISE OF GEORGE W. PERKINS.

George W. Perkins, herewith pictured, is a notable example of the speed with which a man may advance in the business world if he is lucky enough to get a good start. At the age of fifteen he went into the employ of the New York Life at a salary of $300 a year. From office boy he rose to clerk with a salary of $1,200, which was increased to $1,500 when he became a cashier. A few years later he was promoted to general solicitor and special agent and received $3,000. A year afterward his salary was raised to $15,000 as agency director. In 1893 he was elected third vice president at $20,000. Five years from that time he was second vice president at a salary of $30,000 and finally he became vice president, drawing $75,000 yearly from the company. Then he became a partner of J. Pierpont Morgan. Mr. Perkins is only forty-three years of age.

PRINCE KROPOTKIN.

Prince Peter Kropotkin, the famous Russian social reformer, now resides at Bromley, England. He belongs to one of the proudest and oldest Russian families. It is said that he had a better claim to the throne than Alexander II. His career has been unique. As a boy he wished to study music, but was discouraged by his father, who told him that all a man required to learn of music was how to turn over the pages for a lady. He has been in turn soldier, explorer and geographer, prison reformer, revolutionist, scientist and litterateur. There is much food for reflection in the fact that, although he is now an exile, he was once in such favor at the Russian court that he was appointed chamberlain to the czar.

NEW MONUMENT TO A GREAT FRENCH HISTORIAN

The noble monument herewith pictured has recently been unveiled at Vouziers, the birthplace of Hippolyte Adolphe Taine, the famous historian and critic. No modern French writer has been more successful in gaining English literary appreciation than M. Taine. His "Notes on England" and "History of English Literature" have had an immense popularity in English speaking countries. Even when one cannot agree with him it is possible to obtain the greatest pleasure from his admirable diction.

MILLIONS EXPENDED

IT SEEMS to be the fad in this age for owners of business houses and those who build elegant homes to vie with each other in putting up their respective places for the comfort and convenience of its occupants, and perhaps no one firm in the west can refer to so many business houses, consisting of banks, manufacturing concerns and professional institutions, whose offices have been fitted up with the finest and latest designs as the firm of J. P. Paulson, manufacturer of Bank, Office, Bar and Store fixtures and Billard and Pool tables.

All the rare woods are used in the elaborate houses, stores, offices and bar rooms of the western empire. Mahogany from Cuba, Rose wood from Mexico, Holly from the land of Dixie, and the famous curly Maple from the Eastern States, as well as Walnut, Birch, and various other varieties of hard woods. The art of veneering and polishing these woods has come near to perfection and a visit to the extensive plant at 170-172-174 West Second South, will convince anyone of the magnitude of this line of business, and they will also see one of the finest sales and show rooms in the country. For instance, the most elaborately fitted up drug store between Denver and San Francisco; viz. the Halliday Drug Co., and the magnificent business offices and counting room of the Deseret News, were fitted up by this firm and scores of other institutions throughout the west. They have equipped in this city the largest bowling parlors in the intermountain country.

One important feature and which the Salt Lake points to with pride, is that all their magnificent work is designed, manufactured and put up by Salt Lake talent, and another one is that this firm is the largest one of its kind west of New York and Chicago. With its combined plants, it may be said to be larger and does more business than all other companies in the same lines combined in the territory which it covers. This plant is under the direct supervision and control of Mr. Nils Paulson, whose long experience in the business here and in other cities, has given him an enviable world wide reputation. Papers of the western cities in their annual editions point with pride to the manufacturing institutions, and we can refer to J. P. Paulson as a credit to Salt Lake City.

Mountain Home, Ida.

J. P. Paulson,
Salt Lake City, Utah.

Dear Sir:—Your men have just completed the installation of the furniture for my new place of business, and it affords me much pleasure to testify to the excellence of your workmanship. The partitions, cases and settees bear evidence of the capacity of your shop for first class work, and you have reason to congratulate yourself on your ability to compete with the best in the country as I congratulate myself upon having the most elegantly finished place in Southern Idaho.

I shall always be glad to speak a good word for your concern.

Yours very truly,
E. W. GODDARD.

Elko, Nevada,
Nov. 21, 1905.

Mr. J. P. Paulson,
Salt Lake, Utah.

Dear Sir:—It is now ten months since we started our new store. As there is scarcely a day passes that we are not reminded by some one that we have the finest store in the State, we thought, as the fixtures were furnished by you, you would like to know what comments are made about them. We are perfectly satisfied with the fixtures and feel very grateful to the party who gave us your address when we were contemplating buying.

Very truly yours,
ELKO DRUG CO.,
H. S. TABER,
J. M. TABER.

J. P. Paulson, Esq., City:
Dear Sir:—

We take pleasure in stating that the fixtures, counters, railings, etc., which you furnished for the Deseret News and the Deseret News Book Store gave the best sort of satisfaction. We do not think they could have been bettered by any eastern or western company. Our fixtures have been generally admired and copied by other institutions.

Yours truly,
THE DESERET NEWS,
H. G. Whitney, Business Mgr.

Nov. 6, 1905.
Mr. J. P. Paulson,
Salt Lake City, Utah.

Dear Sir:—

I have pleasure in stating that the office fixtures for the school of Commerce have been put in place by your men in accordance with our contract with you, and are in every way satisfactory. I very much appreciate your promptness in completing the work, and the satisfactory way in which it has been done. I have your statement of the amount due, which will be approved this afternoon and a warrant for the same will be sent you in a few days.

Yours very truly,
W. J. KERR, President.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 14, 1905.

Mr. J. P. Paulson,
City:

Hundreds of friends and patrons have expressed their admiration of our beautiful drug store and the perfect design and finish of our fixtures and it gives us great pleasure to tell them it was all done at home and by your capable workmen.

HALLADAY DRUG CO.,
Per T. S. Halliday, Mgr.

J. P. Paulson, Salt Lake City Utah.

Dear Sir:—We desire to express our gratification in the matter of the new fixtures recently installed in our Garland Drug Store. This is the third store which you have fitted up for us, and the workmanship in each case has been to our entire satisfaction, while in matters of smaller moment we have been treated in an equally prompt and satisfactory manner.

With wishes for your continued success, we beg leave to remain, Yours respectfully,
RITTER BROS. DRUG CO.

Heber City, Utah, April 5th, 1905.

Messrs. J. P. Paulson & Co., Salt Lake City, Utah.

Dear Sir:—We today received your last shipment of our fixtures and as this completes the contract we hand you herewith a check on the Deseret National Bank.

The workmanship is tip-top and material the best and many of our townpeople have commented on the superiority as compared with the work done by others.

Thanking you for the favors extended and hoping your trade will increase as your workmanship warrants.

We remain, yours truly,
HEBER PHARMACY, A. Hatch, Jr., Prop.
