

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

CORRESPONDENTS writing for publication are requested to write on one side of the paper only. No notice can be taken of anonymous communications. Correspondents' names must in every instance accompany their communications, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of reliability.

THEATRICAL.—This evening Miss Ince makes her last appearance in the splendid character of Jeanie Dean, "in the play of the same name." The power of principle and honorable, deep, religious training, which the stern old Governor, David Dean, has bestowed upon his daughter, and its effects upon a mind of correct instincts, are powerfully illustrated in the character of Jeanie, while the weak, yet loving, fumbling, David Dean, Robertson, Hamblin, is carefully sketched in that of Emma. The court scene is a most interesting one. The farce, alone, with the cast of characters in it, is worth the money to see. Go early and fill the house.

PRESIDENT'S MOVEMENTS.—President Young and company left Payson at 9.15 this morning, and held meeting at Santaquin at 10 a.m. He goes to Nephi to-night and stays there till Monday.

CAPT. MUMFORD'S TRAIN.—The passengers' names coming in by this train will be found in another column. By letter from Capt. Mumford to President B. Young, with which we have been favored, dated Rock Creek, Sep. 11th, we learn that the train started on the last inst. The company having been organized with Elder James Smith President of the Saints, Elder James A. Brown, Chaplain, and Elder Samuel S. Wick Secretary. Four deaths had occurred in the company up to date: Mary Robinson, 72; John Williams, aged 75; and two infants. The health of the company was good at the time of writing. The nights were very cold and extra clothing was ordered for the trip. No Indians had been seen by the company on the way. The returning missionaries are James Smith, Francis A. Brown and Henry Barlow.

THE "COLUMB."—We were shown to-day 200 oz. of gold worth $5,000, by Joseph Ford, Esq., brother of Wells, Fargo & Co's bank, which was mined yesterday from Sweetwater. It was found in the mine's Delight ledge, and was about one-third of a ton, from Roberts, Tozer & Co's mine. There is gold out there.

MARGARET'S BENEFIT.—Mr. Margret takes a special on Tuesday night, and we hear that his company has been on the occasion. He is a member of the Deseret Dramatic Association now on the boards, and for years has labored hard to please and amuse the public, in which he has admirably succeeded. His bill is in preparation for the occasion, announced in double sheet posters. Give him a crowded house.

INVITED TO LEAVE.—Yesterday evening a number of a stamp seldom seen in Utah was being issued personal invitations for interviews, and had the pleasure of a free lodging in the city prison rendered to her. She was just from the Green River country. This morning she had an interview with Alderman Johnson, and concluded that pressing business required her to leave the Territory immediately. From them on.

RECEIVED.—H. A. Hanson, Esq., the gentlemanly representative of Taylor & Wright, Chicago, left this morning. The favorable impressions received on his previous visit, of our business men and city, are deepened by the interview he has had with them on his late visit. The firm he represents is a most reliable one.

CALIFORNIA MEDICAL GAZETTE.—We have received the September number of this Medical and Surgical Journal. It is published by A. R. O'Connell & Co., the publishers of the Oregonian and Monthly, and is edited by Thos. B. Bennett, M.D., and J. Campbell Smith, M.D. It is a most valuable journal, treating on subjects of the utmost interest to all. Every man on the coast who professes to practice medicine should take it; while its value in families in many instances would be very great. Price five dollars a year in gold coin, or fifty cents per single copy.

RETURNED.—The Hon. Edwin M. Higgins, Secretary of our Territory, called upon us this morning, having arrived from the East last night, after a three months' absence. He is in good health, and has enjoyed himself exceedingly while absent. He was accompanied by Major Randall, brother to Postmaster-General Randall, who has been in the city since Wednesday. The Major has spent some two years in Montana and is quite new to mountain life. He admires our city, its appearance and people. He served through the war, and has an honorable record of his services. We did him welcome to the city.

For the benefit of the public, Mr. Higgins wishes us to announce that his office is removed to Little's row, Second South street, west side of East Temple street.

A NEW IDEA.—In re-opening the commercial department of the University of Deseret, Professor Calder proposes to develop a new idea in commercial education, which will claim the approval of every intelligent mind, and is much superior to any means now adopted to give a practical character to such institutions. The aim of commercial colleges is to give the education as near as possible all the characteristics of actual business, and for this purpose the various departments and kinds of business are properly represented, banks, telegraph offices, railway offices, &c., are opened, and students are placed in them to buy and sell, transact and go through the routine of business. College scrip is used for money, and everything is made to assume an air of reality, as far as it is possible. This, Professor Calder will continue with his students; but there is not the moral responsibility, nor the object of ambition for the keener exercise of business faculties, that exist in real business. This he proposes giving his students the full advantage of by opening in the lower story of the Council House places of business and trade, where actual buying and selling will take place, the students being the actual business men, the clerks, and book keepers, and the public doing the buying in the retail business. A large and choice stock of goods, suitable for this purpose will be distributed into various departments of a bazaar. There will be wholesale houses, where the students who act as merchants, can buy. The sales and purchases will not merely have the air of reality while being fictitious; they will be actual sales and purchases. The moral responsibility of business will be entered upon at once, while the manner in which the business will be conducted, will preclude the possibility of loss or error, except as a result of the utmost carelessness, and added to this, students will have practical causes for seeking to excel. And there will be genuine banking, with Uncle Sam's legal tenders as the money to be deposited and withdrawn. In fact, the whole of the business will be conducted as in the real houses in the east.

This idea is vastly superior to the mode of fictitious business in use in Commercial Colleges. It will bring the students into actual intercourse and dealings with the public, and will give them opportunities of learning real business in a way that they never could by fictitious dealings. The advantages to the students will be incalculable.

By reference to the advertisement it will be seen that the Commercial Department will be open on October 12th.
