"Apparently, however, a third at-tempt will be made without loss of time. Indeed, it seems probable that the movement is now in progress. We must hope that the splendid bravery of our men will be rewarded by success. When Mr. Churchill says that the 'public must nerve themselves,' he probably means 'prepare our countrymen at home for heavy losses in the coming battle," Winston Churchill's dispatch from Pietermaritzburg, in addition to details respecting the position on the Tugela, gives a most interesting survey of the general position. He says:

These most serious attacks upon the war office appear unjust. The great army in Africa is of the finest quality. beautifully organized and equipped in all details, and has excellent artillery. The Boer guns are few but spiendid, and are cleverly handled. The Boers can find the range of moving targets at 7,000 yards, often at the first shot of our guns. We cannot explain how."

The war, therefore, is brought nearer an end even by unsatisfactory operations." Mr. Churchill, who anticipates that the consequences of the war will not be altogether evil, "as there will be a great increase of respect between the combatants, and contempt. the former wedge of cleavage, will be gone for-ever," recalls the American Civil War, and says that "union is nover born without travail, and after the refining flames have cooled we shall find the pure gold of a more harmonious sys-tem. Let Great Britain persevere." As regards the forces engaged in South Africa, Mr. Wyndham said in the house of commons yesterday after-noon, that exclusive of the eighth division and the fourth cavalry brigade. Great Britain had 142,000 foot and artillery, 3,700 cavalry, thirty-six thirty-eight naval guns, siege guns, thirty-six howitzers, fifty-four batteries of horse artillery and 234 field guns, while the combined forces of the two republics were estimated in 1898 at 58,000 men. The parliamentary secretary of the war office also said he would have to ask the house for larger financial means in order that the war might be brought to the only possible conclusion, and that the system of home defense be put on a sound footing.

SEVERAL MEN ARE INJURED

Frost Has Serious Effect on Firemen Fighting a Big Blaze-Property Loss $500,000.

Dayton, O., Feb. 1 .- Fire broke out in the manufacturing district of this city this morning. The department was called to the tobacco warehouse of J. P. Wolf on East First street. The fire had started in the boller room caused by an overheated boiler. The boiler exploded.

Chief Larkin sounded a general alarm, at the same time calling on Springfield for assistance. The threestory brick building at the corner of Foundry street was a mass of flames.

the large stock of tobacco burning like a candle." In ten minutes the flames had taken hold of two-story building adjoining, also occupied by J. P. Wolf. It was believed the fire walls of the two story building could arrest the progress of the fire, but the flames were too hot for it and soon the first room of that building was ablaze. By this time it was seen that nothing could stay the progress of the flames except the heavy fire wall at the west end of the Wolf building. The property des-troyed included the warehouses and factory of J. P. Wolf & Sons, tobacco merchants; E. Bimm & Sons, grocers; Benedict & Co., clgar manufacturers; the Dayton Paper Novelty company, and merchants the paper of the show and several in the rear of the above concerns, escaped destruction by rea-son-of the slate roof. The office portion of the building was gutted. How ever at 10:30 the flames were practi-cally under control, the fire having been confined to the district named.

Nightwatchman Snedinger, while trying to locate the fire, was overcome by smoke and was found unconscious by the firemen. Louis Swaneger, a firethe firemen. Louis Swaneger, a fire-man, was badly frozen. Wolf & Sons, the heaviest losers., were insured for $255,000, Benedict &

Co., $30,000, and the Dayton Paper Novelty company for $50,000. In each instance the loss is complete.

The total loss is estimated at $500,-

At 11 o'clock the east wall of Wolf & Sons' building fell, burying beneath it three firemen, George Coy, George Nienaber and George Griesmier, Coy received injuries which will likely ter-minate in his death. The other two were not badly hurt. A hospital was opened up-a private residence near by,

BURNED TO DEATH.

Teacher and Pupil Lose Their Lives in a St. Louis Fire.

St. Louis, Feb. 1.-Sister Stanislous, a teacher, and Mary Foley, a pupil, lost their lives as the result of a fire which destroyed the parochial school of St. Lawrence O'Toole's Catholic parish, Fourteenth and O'Fallon streets, this afternoon. There were 200 pupils and twelve sisters in the school building, a four story structure, when the flames broke out

When the first alarm of fire was given the teachers hastily marshalled their little charges and marched them to the streets. Sister Stanislous had got all those under her immediate care to the street except Mary Foley, and before they could escape they were overcome by smoke. A fireman found the two bodies on the fourth floor and carried them to the open air. While awaiting an ambulance to take them to the city hospital, the two sufferers died.

The cry of fire caused the wildest alarm among the pupils, and but for the coolness of the sisters and the help of Father Brennan and two other priests, the result of the panic might have been worse than it was. Only a few children were injured.

Summer, corporal, thigh, moderate, Orige 1

the Twenty-fifth infantry was born in Baltimore, Md., December 21, 1872, and served as private, corporal and serserved as private, corporal and ser-geant of the First cavalry from No-vember, 1851, to November, 1899, when he was appointed second lieutenant of the Testic Information After a short talk Mr. Edelen de clared that Gov. Taylor and the F ub lican party were anxious to avoid any-thing that might possibly lead to serious trouble, as the present conditions might do, if nothing was done to prevent it.

He was assured by the Democratic attorneys that they were as anxious to save any clash between the parties as the Republicans could be. There is very little heard now about

London, and there seems to be a gener-al feeling among the Democrats and Republicans alike that the next regular meeting of the legislature will be held in the capitol building. There has been no announcement of any intention on the part of Gov. Taylor, but it seems to have become a tacit belief that he will rescind his action of yesterday before the time set for the meeting at London. At S o'clock Speaker Trimble posted a notice in the office of the Capitol ho-tel, calling members of the house to meet in one of the hotel parlors. Forty. four members only were present, and this being no quorum, an adjournment was taken. The meeting was not originally intended as much for business purposes as to serve notice on the military that the legislature was able to meet when it chose. The notice was posted in ample time to have allowed the soldiers to prevent the gathering.

The senate also held a short caucus and nominated Senator Carter of Anderson county to be president pro tem. of the senate, a position heretofore held by Goebel.

Anonymous letters threatening assas. sination are going through the mails in considerable numbers. They have been received by the Democratic attorneys by the Republican attorneys and by every judge of the court of appeals. They are all practically of one nature, nforming the recipient that unless he mends the error of his political ways he will be shot down. Occasionally somebody threatens to stab, but the general trend of assassination sentiment seems to run toward gunpowder.

Ex-Gov. Bradley's house is guarded night and day by soldiers, and even in the daytime the inside blinds on the first floor are kept closed to prevent anybody from being able to fire through the window with accuracy.

To Absorb State Trust Company.

New York, Feb. 2.—According to the Times, the Morton Trust company, which was incorporated last July, with ex-Gov. Levi P. Morton at its head, is to absorb the State Trust company.

The merger was virtually settled at a meeting of the men who have been carrying the negotiations through. The consolidated company, which will bear the name of the Morton Trust company, will have a capital stock of $2,000,000, and a surplus and undivided profits of well over $2,500,006.

The negotiations have been conducted principally, it is understood, by ex-Secretary of the Navy Wm. C. Whitney, who is a director in the Morton Co, as well as a trustee in the State Trust company; by ex-Gov, Morton and by George G. Haven, a trustee in the Morton Co.

On Co. On the side of the Morton Trust com-pany figure such names as John Jacob Astor, Henry M. Flagler, D. O. Mills, A. D. Juilliard, President Richard A. McCurdy of the Mutual Life Insurance, and Core Morton. and ex-Gov.
