GREAT SPORT IS SEEN AT RACES

Books Get an Awful Job in Three Horse Event—Hannah Louise Causes Grief by Falling.

There was plenty of excitement at the horse races yesterday afternoon. The events were sensational, the finishes close and the books got an awful job. The horses that were the favorites in the first race were the ones that were the favorites in the second race. The horses that were the favorites in the third race were the ones that were the favorites in the fourth race.

There was an accident in the third race which caused grief to the latest book. The horse, Hannah Louise, fell at the start of the race. The fall was so sudden that the bookmaker did not have time to take the odds. The horse was injured and had to be taken to the hospital.

OCCIDENTALS DEFEATED.

In the first ball game of a series between the Yampa stables team and the Occidentals at Murray yesterday afternoon, the Occidentals were defeated by a score of 2 to 0. Smith, a twirler from the Occidentals, was the star of the game and had the colored boys at his mercy all the time.

MANAGER OF NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONS AND TWO IMPORTANT COGS OF PITTSBURG MACHINE.

Although the National League race does not close until Oct. 5, the Pittsburgh club will within a few days be officially declared the champions of 1909. The pirates have been the sensation of the major leagues this season. That so many youngsters should be given regular positions and the team maintain the high position in the race during the campaign is considered little short of wonderful. With but one veteran, Hannu Wagner, in the infield and another in the outfield, the pirates have been consistent winners. In addition, Clarke has stood pat on his twirling staff. When the buccannens started their campaign the club was generally expressed that they would not make as good a showing as last year because they had three young players in the line-up. The solidity and precision shown by the Pittsburgh infield have been a source of surprise and intense chagrin to the other clubs. The reliable old Hannu Wagner has undoubtedly been the salvation of the team, both in the way he has braced up the new infielders and the way he has killed that old ball. He never hit so savagely as he did this season, and his fielding work stirred up the kids who are playing around him. As a manager of a ball team, Fred Clarke has few, if any, peers in the game today. He has everything a successful leader needs. He is a developer of youngsters, a fighter, and no one knows more about inside baseball than does this fellow. Besides being a grand leader, he is also one of the greatest players in the game. Clarke has been manager of the Pittsburgh National League team for nine years, and in that time the team has never finished out of the first division, winning three consecutive pennants, finishing second three times, third once, fourth once and last year being tied with the New York Giants for the second position. Tommy Leach, who has been playing center field all season, was formerly one of the greatest third sackers in the game, but early in the spring he asked Clarke to give him an outfield berth. Right off the start he made good in his new position. As a batter and base runner he is among the first 10 in the league.

Pittsburg vs. Philadelphia, Friday, Oct. 15, at Pittsburg; Saturday, Oct. 16, at Philadelphia; Tuesday, Oct. 18, at Philadelphia; Wednesday, Oct. 19, at Philadelphia; Thursday, Oct. 20, at Philadelphia.

CLARKE GETS BUSY

Pittsburg, Sept. 28.—Manager Fred Clarke is losing no time preparing for the world's championship series. Another evidence of his activity is that he recognized yesterday in the absence of Leach from the game. It became known that Clarke intends to have a line-up of the team winning the American League pennant when he gets his men against them in the big game. Leach left the city yesterday and will follow today. These men and others of the Pittsburgh regulars will drop in at the remaining games to be played by the American leaders, accidentally, of course, but at the same time conveniently enough to size up the team they will play.

WELCH THIRD MAN IN THE PRIZERING

He Has Been Chosen as Referee of Ketchel-Johnson Fight On Oct. 12.

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—When Jack Johnson and Stanley Ketchel meet here on Oct. 12 for the 160-pound-weight championship of the world, Jack Welch will be the third man in the ring. With the selection of the referee, all the plans for the big match have been completed, but promoter Cuffroy has not given up hope of persuading the champion to consent to a postponement of the fight until Portland week. Johnson still holds out for the original date set for the contest, but it is believed that the chance of securing a better house during Portland week may induce him to consent to a change in date.
