

ENSIGN STAKE CONFERENCE

Interesting Sessions Held Yesterday in Assembly Hall and Tabernacle.

WARDS IN GOOD CONDITION.

General Efficiency of Various Organizations a Characteristic of Instructive Addresses Given.

The quarterly conference of the Ensign stake convened in the Assembly hall Sunday morning. President Richard W. Young presiding. The session was well attended.

Of the general authorities of the Church, there were present John R. Winder of the First Presidency, Rudger Clawson of the quorum of apostles and Seymour B. Young of the first council of seventy.

The singing during the service was furnished by the president and youth ward Sunday schools, and the excellent manner in which the selections were rendered made them a very interesting and pleasing feature of the meeting.

The services commenced at 10 o'clock by the Sunday school children singing "Choose the Right," after which invocation was offered by Elder Joseph E. Taylor. The officers then sang, "True to the Faith."

ELDER J. M. KNIGHT.

Elder John M. Knight of the stake presidency made a brief report of the conditions prevailing in the stake. He stated that the presidency of the stake together with the high council associated with them were perfectly united with reference to all matters pertaining to the welfare of the stake, and were endeavoring to carry out the suggestions and instructions received at the last general conference of the Church.

He reported the death of Elder Joseph H. Fell which occurred recently, thus leaving a vacancy in the presidency of the high priests' quorum, and paid him a high tribute for his faithful services in that quorum, and also in the work he accomplished among the young members of the stake.

He also reported the death of Elder John E. Hansen, an officer and faithful worker in the Sunday schools. He reported a very much improved condition existing in the quorums of the stake, and that the majority of the young men having been brought into these quorums; and in their meetings older and more experienced brethren had been called to assist and instruct the new members.

The organization of two new quorums of elders had been effected since last conference, making at the present time six quorums of elders in the stake. All the auxiliary organizations were well officered, and those in charge were commended for the excellent work they were accomplishing among the young people.

A recent change in the stake superintendency of Young Men's Mutual Improvement association was reported. Elder Mathoniah Thomas, who had formerly acted as stake superintendent, had been honorably released, and Rodney Hillman Jr. had been appointed as his successor with Louis R. Wells as first assistant, and William H. Holland as second assistant.

The matter of the proper organization of the stake was strongly emphasized by the speaker, and parents were urged to use all their influence among the young people to the end that they might remember the Sabbath day, and keep it holy, as many of them were inclined to listen to the invitations of their associates and were influenced to attend the various places of amusement and resorts, rather than giving themselves up to the proper worship of God on that day.

ELDER GEORGE H. WALLACE.

Elder George H. Wallace, stake superintendent of Sunday schools, gave a report showing excellent conditions prevailing among the Sabbath schools of the stake. He stated that the high percentage of attendance and punctuality both on the part of the officers and teachers, and pupils. He stated that parents' counsel had recently been organized in all the schools of the stake with very satisfactory results. In connection with this work, they had recently sustained a great loss in the death of Elder John E. Hansen, who had been called to the stake board and had been given the supervision of this branch of the work.

President Young then presented the general authorities of the Church and stake officers, all of whom were unanimously sustained.

The song entitled, "The Joy and the Song," was then rendered by the Sunday school children.

ELDER RUDGER CLAWSON.

Elder Rudger Clawson expressed the pleasure he had in listening to the reports and excellent singing of the Sunday school children. The reports given indicated a most excellent condition prevailing in the stake, and he pointed out the great sacrifice involved in time and labor to keep up such a condition and increase the efficiency of the various organizations. He was profoundly impressed with the amount of sacrifice the brethren and sisters were willing to make for the cause of Zion. He spoke at length upon the principle of sacrifice, and of the manner in which all are repaid in the bestowment of the gifts and blessings of the gospel. In conclusion Elder Clawson read from the 7th section of the Doctrine and Covenants.

PRESIDENT WINDER.

President John R. Winder congratulated the presiding officers and people

PILGRIMAGE OF THE UTAH PIONEERS

SIXTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 23, 1847.

At 9 o'clock a. m. the thermometer stood at 48 degrees; the morning was calm and clear. At 7 o'clock the camp moved on; crossed during the forenoon a small stream, and passed by several small hills, situated upon the plain, of fine grained calcareous sandstone, very friable. The company traveled nine miles and stopped to noon directly at a place where the river proceeds from between the hills, which rise very abruptly from each side. Latitude 43 degrees 21 minutes 20 second. The road here ended off a short distance to the south, and then again assumed a westerly direction; and after a journey of eight miles, during the afternoon, through deep sand, the pioneers again struck the Sweetwater, and encamped upon its right bank for the night. The ground here was good, no wind, the river chain of mountains exhibited in the distance their towering peaks whitened by perpetual snow, which glittering in the sunbeams resembled white fleecy clouds.

THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1847.

At 5:30 o'clock the thermometer stood at 42 degrees F. The morning was calm and clear. The country over which the pioneers passed during the day was very sandy and barren, and not finding good grass they made no noon halt, but traveled 17 1/2 miles and encamped on the Sweetwater. The road here crossed that stream. The pioneers passed in the forenoon Sulphur Springs (sometimes called Ice Springs). They took a spade and dug down about one foot, and found the ground frozen and large quantities of ice. A few rods west of this they found a small pond of water, the water in them was very salt and of a bitterish taste. The soil was covered in many places with saline effluences of considerable depth. President Young had the misfortune, after the company had encamped, to have one of his best horses accidentally shot, which died during the night. It was one of the best horses in camp. Two camps of the Oregon emigrants were but a few rods distant. Dense patches of willows grew upon the margin of the stream.

There's never any falling off in the grand flavor of of the stake upon the excellent condition existing as indicated in the reports given. He expressed the pleasure he had in listening to the beautiful singing furnished by the children, and said he much preferred such selections for meetings of public worship to the singing of solos, and felt that the singing of anthems and hymns should be encouraged. In addition to the passing of the brethren already spoken of, he felt to mention a very worthy and respected member of the stake, who had not held any office, but was a high priest; this brother was Joseph Locke, who had been a faithful worker for years in the house of the Lord, where he had performed the work for hundreds who were unable to work for themselves.

The song, "Onward Christian Soldiers," was then rendered, after which benediction was pronounced by Elder James H. Moyle, and conference adjourned to meet in the tabernacle at 2 o'clock p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Elders Levi E. Young and James E. Talmage the Speakers.

Elders Levi E. Young and James E. Talmage were the speakers of the afternoon session. The invocation was offered by Elder Samuel G. Spencer, and Bishop Robert Morris pronounced the benediction. The selections rendered by the choir were, "Let the mountains shout for joy," "Come ye that love the Lord," "Great God, indulge my humble claim," and "Song of the redeemed."

ELDER LEVI E. YOUNG.

Elder Young said that the words he should speak would be addressed to strangers within the gates, as well as to members of the Church. Each should ask himself the question as to whether he approached his Maker in the proper spirit. It is impossible to love God, and at the same time to hate a brother. The golden rule should be engrained in the heart. The gospel holds out a very broad conception of the plan of salvation. The principle upon which Mormonism is based is that every man and woman may become a child of light. Christ is the Messenger of life, and man should become a helper in the great struggle of redemption, not only as to his own salvation, but for the benefit of all.

He said that the great principle of life is to take hold of it and live it intellectually.

The Latter-day Saints do not desire to approach the world with antagonism. The claims of Christianity cannot be lived up to, without the spirit of charity and liberality towards all, and it would be impossible to come to know God with any other feelings. Love is the sum and substance of Christian ethics. Truth is absolute and the great principle of Mormonism lies in the fact that it is based upon the truth of Christ. In His justice and mercy, has sent law into the world, and it is the observance of law that makes men free.

He made reference to the spiritual darkness that existed at the time that Joseph Smith came forth and delivered his message to the world. The incident of his going to the Lord in prayer that he might know the truth was related. The only claim made for the modern prophet was that he shed forth the light given to him of heaven, to lead men back to their Creator. The most ideal conception of life is that mortals are children of God, and by looking to Him with full purpose of heart may return to the realm of eternal happiness. Every person will be saved, according to the light that is within him. It behooves every Christian to be honest and upright, and to have the great law of love written upon the soul.

ELDER JAMES E. TALMAGE.

Elder Talmage said that the morning meeting had reminded him of the magnificent and splendidly organized condition of the Church. It is holding out the hand of fellowship to the world; there is a contest on, but the weapons of the Latter-day Saints are the word of truth. A noticeable change is coming over the people of the world, as regards this people. He had come back home from an extended mission trip to learn from local papers that the members of the Church are bad. The larger and better papers and periodicals of the country have no space in their columns for a rebuke of ails and diseases, myths and fables. Those who are engaged in vilification and abuse are away behind the times; thinking people want no part in such methods.

UTAH BOYS SCORE AT ANN ARBOR

Students From the Beehive State Give a Splendid Account Of Themselves.

EVIDENCE OF HONORS WON.

G. B. Hancock and G. A. Iverson Get Degrees—McAllister Makes Good—Clarence Snow's Fine Record.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 24.—The students from Utah attending the University of Michigan continue to keep up the prestige of their state and each "commencement" gives evidence of new honors won. George B. Hancock, of Pangulitch, Utah, and G. A. Iverson, of Mantli, Utah, have been given diplomas by the president of the university, conferring upon them the degree of Bachelor of laws. Both finished the three year's course in two years and had the distinction of being made "honors men" besides. They have been admitted to practice before the supreme court of the state of Michigan, but will take up the practice of their profession in Utah.

D. H. McAllister, Utah's representative in the engineering department, is making good. His junior year sees him a member of the editorial staff of the "Technic" and puts him in line for head man next year.

Clarence Snow of the medical college has, during the three years spent here, received every honor that could be bestowed upon a student of medicine at the university. During his second year he had charge of the laboratory work, and this year he has been made a member of the staff of internal medicine.

"The brainiest man in the medical department" is the verdict of student and instructors alike, and he carries the distinction gracefully. He finishes in 1908.

So well do the Utah students do their work that the very fact of their being from Utah gives them a distinct advantage when they enter the university. They are looked upon at once as honest men of sterling quality, and are treated accordingly.

CAMPBELL ASKS FOR PARDON.

Special efforts are being made to have a pardon issued to James Campbell who is on parole from the state prison and has been making a precarious living under the supervision of Capt. Woods of the Associated Charities by shoe-making. He is serving time for having two wives, the oldest of whom has secured a divorce and turned over to Campbell their four little children. The second wife is a girl of 15 now detained in the Crittenton Home at Ogden, but who is specially anxious for the return of her mother and children.

Moreover, the man now believes he is threatened with quick consumption, and can only hope for relief by removal to a lower altitude. A number of friends are exerting themselves to secure his release from parole, as well as the release of the girl, that the family may go to California. Campbell has conducted himself in an exemplary manner since his release, and is very anxious that the children shall be properly brought up.

Thomas C. Callister, secretary of the state land board, is home from Denver, where he attended the land convention in session there during the past few days.

"Forty organizations, and associations were each represented by five delegates, and to a large extent," he said, in discussing the gathering, "they sought extensions of privilege rather than a new plan that would be best for all. None of them really represented anything, because it was not representative. Future action was left in an indefinite shape, although there was much talk of another convention on a different basis of representation."

"I do not believe the Utah delegates voted once in the negative. It was much different with Wyoming, which always was in the negative, due largely to the fact that the public land question is in use so long by those controlling them that they imagined they were entitled to a fee simple title. The convention started in by adopting a resolution endorsing the administration, and then passed two resolutions. The first was to endorse the administration, and the second was to endorse the administration, and the third was to endorse the administration, and the fourth was to endorse the administration, and the fifth was to endorse the administration, and the sixth was to endorse the administration, and the seventh was to endorse the administration, and the eighth was to endorse the administration, and
