Is the Peer of the Canadian. WHAT DICKERSON THINKS Says That Over Longer Route Middle Weight Champion Would Win -Gives Good Reasons,

Tommy Burns is a French-Canadian, born in Hanover, Canada, and raised in and around Detroit; his true name is Noah Brusso, Before taking to pugilism he was a hockey and lacrosse player of considerable ability, his sturdy build standing him in good stead in the formr game, which is a most strenuous one calling for speed, agility and courage. He was not rated as one of the stars of the game, but was among the best among the semi-professionals around De-

of the kane, but was among the better among the semi-professionals around De-troit. Before reaching national prominence in his line, Burns fought around Michigan for several years, and was rated as a good trial horse. His first bid for more than local fame was a six-round bout to a draw with Mike Schreck in Milwau-kee, followed by a couple of six-round draws in Chicago with Toni Caponi, the man Billy Papke knocked out in two rounds. He fought several battles in the west with fair success and then return-ed to Milwaukee, where he was defeat-ed in a six-round bout by Jack O'Brien. After the Milwaukee bout Tommy fraveled westward again, surprising pu-gilism by holding Jack (Twin) Sullivan to a draw in a Seattle bout. He follow-ed by winning a decision in 20 rounds over Dave Jarry, the man whom Jim Flynn knocked out in short order in a Pueblo bout last year. Ten and 20-round ther a knockout of Barry in 20 rounds, Jack (Twin) Sullivan and this time the buld-pated one was an easy victor. Traveled wostward again, surprising put raveled wostward again, surprising put gilism by holding Jack (Twin) Sullivan to a draw in a Seattle bout. He follow-ed by winning a decision in 20 rounds, over Dave Barry, the man whom Jim Flynn knocked out in short order in a Pueblo bout last year. Ten and 20-round draws with Dave Barry followed and ther a knockout of Barry in 20 rounds. Jack (Twin) Sullivan was tackled again and this time the bald-pated one was an casy victor. D Dec. 2, 1006, Tommy gained what Hitle claim he has on the heavyweight championship by defeating Marvin Hart was claiming the till through a victory over Jack Root in a bout refereed by Jim Jeffries, who was reported to have announced his retirement at the time and said that the winner might take up the robes he cast aside. Shortly before Hart had won a decision over Jack John-son, or rather Johnson was robbed of a decision in favor of Hart, a celd case of giving the big negro a raw deal because of his color. Burns' defeat of Hart was followed by the fighting of a couple of dubs, and then Jim Flynn was taken on. Flynn trained but three days for the fight, and, despite that handicap, was holding his own well until the fiftenth round, when condition asserted itself and the better trained man slipped over a knock-out wallop. Next came the 20-round draw and the 20-round fake bout with O Brien Since that time the chunky one has con-tented himself fighting dubs of foreign lands.

FROM POLISH FAMILY.' He came of a Polish family, his pa-rents being highly respected in the Polish colour, where they resided and maintained a splendid lodge building, ethurch and school. The Polish are much like Danish in that they with fight until they die if they think they are right. It is on the buildog tenacity of the race that made me ligure on Ketchell to remain undaunted by the once defeated for his letters and the very disposition of the boy convinced me that he would enter the ring for his third meeting with Papke with his confidence as unshaken as it was after man. The Poles are great soldiers and the contactive as unsharen as it was after this first meeting with the Illinois German.

The Poles are great soldiers and the conditions in their mother country made them so, just as it has made great fighters of the Irish to live in a country oppressed. They are of the disposition to fight an uphill battle, for that has been their country's fate for many generations.
I do not believe Burns comes of the stock which will march up the hill in the face of heavy fire like the Poles will. There is more dash and fire about the French than the Poles, but it is a fire that is easier smoldered than the slow and steady burning coals of the Polish disposition.
If Burns and Ketchell are matched for a finish fight and the mill goes over 20 rounds. I would figure it a lo to bet on the cool and phigmatic Ketchell to win. Burns has never traveled over a route of that length. Ketchell spang into the first ranks by downing Joe Thomas in 22 rounds. If I had to fight for my life in a room alone with one or the other of the would not hesitate a minute in picking Burns.

he most dangerous enemy I can see Ketchell to contend with is him-

CLASS CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY SOPHOMORES

The Utah University interclass foot-ball series for the school championship came to an cid yesterday afternoon when the sophomores and juniors lined up on Cummings field and fought it out for the honors. The sophomores were victorious, winning the game by a score of 2 to 0, the score being a safety near the end of the game. On several occusions both sides were in striking 'distance of the goal, but each time something happened to pre-vent a score until near the close of the game when Coates tried a place kick for the sophomores from the 2-yard line. It went short and a junior touch-ed the ball behind the line thinking that he had scored a touchback. Referee Spow called it a safety. The teams lin-ed up as follows: Sophomores, Juniors,

YOUNG CORBETT TO FIGHT. One Time Champion Meets Phil Brock

Tomorrow at New Orleans.

Tomorrow at New Orleans, Young Corbett is going to try oneo again. The boxer, who had a short and exciting career in the boxing game, and who was liked by, every one connected with boxing, will meet a tough little fellow in Phil Brock at the Southern Athletic club of New Orleans tomorrow. The bout is bocked to go 10 rounds. Every time Young Corbett's name is mentioned in the puglifstic business all those who know him take a long, deep breath. Just think of a boy who rose up as champion when it was 100 to 1 against him the night he defeated. Terry McGovern. William Rothwell, his right name, beat all the good ones, and had he not taken the broeze down the great sugar barrel full of money, and been able to slt facts in the big-gain data money, he would have filled the sugar barrel full of money. He had the money, he would hand it out to anyone who came along and said. "Hello, Kid, how are they going?" He gave coin away to people he had never come in contact with. They would watch for him, and all they had to say was the word and they would be slipped some-thing.
