"Where we formerly killed about 2.200 rats a day, we now do not get more than that number in a week. "They are getting very scarce." he said. The statistics of the local health offi-cars showed that 25,335 rats had been brought to the hacteriological labora-tory since the middle of September for examination. Of the 7,897 rats last ex-amined, only 64 were found to be in-fected with the plague.

In searching for her. Disguised as gypsics themselves they invaded the gypsy camp and found their daughter. She threw herself into their arms, but a number of gypsies, under direction of their leader, King John Adams, selzed the girl and drove the parents out of the camp, asserting the girl had been voluntarily sold to them and belonged to the tribe. The grief-stricken parents invoked the ald of the court and secured a writ of habeas corpus. Accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Banker and a number of citizens of Clayton, they returned to the camp later today, and the girl was taken from the gypsies, although for a few moments the nomads made a demonstration and threatened a riot.

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 4 .- In response St. Joseph. Mo., Dec. 4.—In response to a telephone message received from E. V. Moorehouse, who said he was in trouble, Dr. J. Koch of Maryville, Mo., went to the Moorehouse home in that city and found Mr. Moorehouse dead on the floor, one bullet hole in his right temple and another near the heart. Mrs. Moorehouse was away from home at the time.

Mrs. Moorehouse was away from home at the time. There is no motive known for Moore-house's suicide. He was a prosperous real estate dealer, and his affairs were evidently in good shape. He was about 20 years old. He was the son of former Gov. A. P. Moorehouse, who was elected lieutenant-governor of Missouri in 1884 and succeeded Gov. Marmaduke when the latter died. Former Gov, Moore-house killed himself by shooting some years ago.

The Temps today dwells at length upon the naval section of the message of President Rocasevelt, and says: "The difficulties which the govern-ment at Washington and Tokio must regulate antedates the dispatch of the American fleet to the Facific; their origin is economic and moral. The Japanese, as a result of the California incident, cannot fail to see in this movement of the American fleet a measure of precaution directed against themselves. But in the present state of international relations aplitury pre-cautions never are useless precautions. President Rocsevelt understands this well and his foresight entitles him to honor."
