CAMPBELL'S FAILURE.

THE position in which Campbell of Frisco, will find him elf, whether Delegate Cannon maintains the seat in Congress for Utah or not, is thus plainly defined by, the Sacramento Record Union. Campbell has played a foul game for glory, his attorney has loaded the dice and primed and prompted him for pelf. They will both of them achievenothing but the infamy which should be attached to such villalnous proceedings:

"If Cannon can be ousted because of his failure to prove his citizenship doctrine, others are not so situated. Congress will venture upon the cre-ation of so extremely dangerous a precedent as the admission of Camp-bell would assuredly be."

NEWN THE "AMERICAN" FURTHER CONSIDERS THE PROBLEM.

THE Philadelphia American, which recently lreated of the solution of the "Mormon problem" by what it supposed to be the "Mormon" method, in its issue of November 19th, takes up the several "Gentile solutions." Tue subject is discussed with temperate fairness and much common sense. The policy of force, that is, of extermination, the denial of legal rights to "Mormons," the establishment of a military government in Utah, and the rational enforcement of the law of '62, with protection to women who revolt from the system, 'are all considered and discarded except the last.

The policy of violence is acknow ledged to be quite feasible, but it is claimed that "Persecution is worth" nothing unless it is complete." The history of "Mormonism" is cited to show that the drivings of the Baints and the martrydom of their leaders only tended to increase their faith and their numbers, and it is therefore argued that a new perse-cution would be "a real gain to the sect," unless it were carried out to extermination, and this, the American affirms, the worst enemies of "Mormoulsm" would shrink from when it came to the test, As to the denial of legal rights it

"Under the Presidency of Mr. Grant, there seemed to be a purpose to crush out Mormonism by means of the United States District Courts. Precedents were set in the treat have been dangerous to the liberties of the people at large, had not the Bapreme Court set them aside. We cannot afford legal Intolerance any more than religious intolerance in our treatment of these Baints. If we did, our inventions would return to plague the inventors,"

The military government is affirmed to be within the power of Congress to impose, but it is doubted that the gains to be achieved would be sufficient to justify the changes from a territorial government, and seeing that the acts of the territorial Legislature under the control of the national Government, and the officers of the Territory are appointed from Washington, the conclusion is reached that the change would not be of any real benefit.

ingly intimate. After he married the Supreme Court ruling in the here was more or less allenation matter, there is some show of reaon in making the statement that those why practise polygamy in Utah, do so in deliberate violation of a national law, although in the opinon of the "Mormon" people the law is unconstitutional maugre the dictum of the Judges. We have the right to hold this opinion, and it is strengthened by the illogical and puerile arguments of those Judges in rendering their opinion. Of course the national authorities can proceed to punish those of us who carry their opinions into overt acts, and to this we interpose no forcible pposition. All we ask is that the aw shall be enforced by lawful a knife and slay him as Abraham methods.

We cannot reasonably object to he main conclusions of the American upon the proper way to treat the "Mormon" question, viewing 1 from the standpoint of non-"Mormons." If "Mormon" plu marriage cannot endura to himself. hostility of public opinion and the proper enforcement of law, ben it will have to go down as preects. Men and women now are similarly constituted to those who stood up against the tyranny of the ntolerant in former times. And while the reckless adventurers stir up strife and attempt to crush by brute force that which should be vercome, if wrong, by the power of ruth clearly presented, or at the utlegal and passionless methods, so g there will be zealous people who will risk anything and everything h what they deem to be their duty, trusting in God and calmly determined not to yield but to endure dven unto death.
