

SHRINERS STILL POURING IN CITY

Estimated That Trains Containing Five Thousand People Will Pass Through Today.

IMPERIAL POTENTATE ON ONE.

Several Organ Recitals Being Given at The Tabernacle—Many Visit the Chamber of Commerce.

Shriners tourists continue to pour in from all points east, north and south. It is estimated that 5,000 people will pass through Salt Lake today. Nine magnificent equipped eastern special trains are scheduled to arrive today, and some of them came in this morning. The Iowa special, consisting of 13 cars, arrived early this morning, and comprised 252 people. Two sections of the Chicago Medina train, and two sections of the St. Joseph, Mo., Mollie lodge, came in at 1 o'clock today. The first section of the last named train, carrying Imperial Potentate Clayton, chief of the Shriners order in the United States. Other trains carry Shriners, from Michigan, New York and England, and the last train expected to arrive today has on board a large delegation from Virginia. All the above trains and routed over the Salt Lake road, and will reach Los Angeles in time for the big "Feast of the Flowers." The Salt Lake train, comprising members of El Kahal lodge, leaves this city at 5:15 sharp this evening. Meanwhile the town is full of Shriners tourists, all eager to see everything there is to be seen, and to hear the tabernacle organ. So Prof. McClellan, who is giving several recitals, is having a strenuous day of it. The Deseret, Mich. Shriners are attracting a good deal of attention with their olive drab uniforms trimmed with black braid, and ladies wearing white felt toppers. The Salt Lake Singing Choir company had its hands full showing patrons over the town, while for the last two days the Utah Chamber of Commerce has been crowded by visitors much interested in seeing evidences of the state's natural resources. Three "Buick" automobiles, light running and strong hill climbers, sold by the C. W. & M. Co. this week.

DEFEATED COUNCILMAN WILL CONTEST ELECTION.

Special Correspondence.

DAHO FALLS, Ida., May 2.—Ed. Jemmett, who committed suicide at a saloon in this place by shooting himself in the head, was a son-in-law of Mr. Shelley. He was formerly in charge of Mrs. Kearney's saloon here. The cause of his action is not known.

Joseph W. Higham, one of the oldest residents of the Falls, died at his home on Water avenue Tuesday morning, from cancer. He was operated on at the local hospital and later taken to Salt Lake, but nothing could be done for him. Mr. Higham was high-bred and was a member of the Woodmen lodge and was buried by that order.

William Rogers, who was defeated at the late election for councilman from the Third ward, has filed a contest suit in the district court, and proposes to have the court decide whether he was elected or not. There have been several heavy frosts lately, and it is feared that the fruit is damaged.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL IS EVENT OF SEASON AT MALAD

Special Correspondence.

MALAD, Idaho, May 2.—The musical festival held Saturday at the tabernacle here, was a grand success. The affair was under the management and direction of Prof. Giles. The principal features of the afternoon program was the children's chorus of 20 voices, which did excellent work. Mrs. Lizzie Thomas, Edward was the soloist of the occasion and all were delighted with her singing.

In the evening the Malad tabernacle choir, under the direction of Prof. Giles, also Christensen's orchestra of Brigham City, with Mrs. Lizzie Thomas as soloist, furnished the program. It was a great musical treat. Last Friday evening Christensen's orchestra gave a dance at the pavilion which was a social and financial success.

Sunday the Malad Stake Sunday school conference was held at the tabernacle. Stephen L. Richards of Salt Lake City and D. T. Evans of Ogden, members of the general Sunday school board were in attendance. Our expert gardeners are a little disheartened, as the cold weather hinders their gardens from looking their best. Yesterday while riding a horse to water little Victor Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Richards, was thrown from his horse and kicked in the face. Dr. Kerns says the injuries, though complicated, are not very serious. The cement block, being erected at the corner of Bannock and First West streets is to be a spacious building. Manager Ralph Harding of the Consolidated Implement company supervised the construction work. The block will be an improvement to the town.

Mr. David Napier and Miss Charlotte Jones were married at the Salt Lake Temple Wednesday. They returned to Malad, Saturday, accompanied by Miss Pamela Jones.

KAMAS.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE.

John Carpenter's Barn, With Contents, Totally Destroyed.

Special Correspondence.

Kamas, May 1.—John Carpenter's big barn was burned to the ground this morning, between the hours of 3 and 5. The flames were discovered by Jesse H. Burdidge, and help summoned, but the large frame structure burned like tinder, and all efforts were turned toward saving the adjoining buildings.

The barn contained a fine survey, a single buggy, wagon, harnesses and farming implements, none of which were saved. The loss is estimated at $2,000, with no insurance. The Summit stake quarterly conference will convene at Kamas on the 14th and 15th. Preparations are being made to entertain the many visitors from adjoining towns. The Hoytsville Dramatic company will put a play on at the opera house Saturday night. Carpenter's store, dancing hall and opera house have recently changed hands. Robert King purchased the former, and a company of number of citizens from Kamas, Francis and Woodland have come into possession of the amusement buildings.

E. J. White returned from Salt Lake Saturday, bringing with him his bride, Miss Ethel Hodgson, sister of John Hodgson of Salt Lake. The happy couple will make their home here, where Mr. White has extensive business interests. The couple have the best wishes of their friends, who are many. May they live long and prosper. Mr. and Mrs. Will Russell have received an application on the center of the C. W. & M. Co. the ensuing week; three are already sold.

There have been heavy frosts every night for a week. Trees are not yet in leaf, and vegetation is backward, even for this country.

OBITUARY.

In 1858 removed to Payson; in 1861 made a trip to the states to bring a load of farm machinery; on the return trip assisted a company of saints on their journey from England to Zion; among those assisted was Elizabeth Baldwin, with whom he was afterwards married. March 22, 1862, from this union eleven children, five sons and six daughters were born, of which three sons and four daughters are still living; married Ann Frieschla, Birkhead, March 16, 1867, and to them were born seven children, four sons and three daughters, all of whom are living. He was ordained a high priest by Apostle C. C. Rich.

He went on a mission to the "Muddy" in Nevada, where he was ordained a bishop and presided over the St. Joseph ward until the breaking up of the "Muddy" mission under the counsel of President Young, when he removed to Lone Valley, Utah, in 1871, where he continued to act as bishop until about 1874, when he returned to Payson, where he has made his home until the time of his death, April 3, 1907. He was a man of indomitable will and iron constitution owing largely to his strict obedience to the Word of Wisdom and has been prominently identified in building up the city and county in his many lines of labor. He has filled many positions of trust in Church and civil capacity; was for several years county surveyor and acted as county assessor; was an active member of the Payson city council; was actively identified with the High Priests' council in Payson, and at a time acted as an alternate High Councilor of the Utah Stake of Zion. In connection with his work of surveying he followed that of carpentering for many years and was built and assisted in building many of the homes and public buildings of this city and county. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, sixteen children, eighty-six grandchildren and twenty-six great-grandchildren.

DANIEL STARK.

Daniel Stark, son of John Stark and Sarah Mann, was born at Windsor, Nova Scotia, June 25, 1829.

In his youth he went to Boston, Mass., where he served as an apprentice at the trade, while there he first heard the gospel, and united himself with the Saints on Dec. 15, 1841.

He was married to Ann Cook, at Boston, Dec. 1, 1844, from which union four children, two sons and two daughters, were born.

In 1846 removed to New York and set sail on ship "Brooklyn" with 23 saints and 80 non-members of the Church, bound for California by way of Cape Horn, expecting to meet the pioneers, under President Brigham Young, who the same year had left Nauvoo on their perilous, though now famous, trip to the west.

Removed to Utah about 1847, locating in Parowan, bringing with him a threshing machine and other farm machinery; about the first of the kind brought to Utah.
