Mining Stocks Were Slumpish

This Was the Condition on 'Change This Forenoon.

Daily is Still Acrobatic.

California Tries the Stunt and Falls To 15c—Grand Central Keeps To the Up Grade.

Mining stocks were down this forenoon. The morning call of the exchange presented a number of features in the shape of toboggan slides. Daily appeared as the first acrobat on the list, and tumbled to the lowest point reached in several weeks, selling down to $3.40, and closing with $3.32 1/2 asked. California came along a little later and it too, was a star performer in the tumbling act. The best price anyone was willing to bid for the stock was 18 cents, but this was only once; then followed further declines and the last bid was registered at 15c. The prediction made that the bottom has not yet been reached. Everyone awaited anxiously for Wabash's turn; some expected to see this Park City mystery "booster," but the mine failed. The board lot offered was dropped into the basket at 45 cents, but the price did not hold and it dropped back to 42 1/2 bid. Daily-Judge was slightly off color, while Daily-West kept even with yesterday's figures. Grand Central was active in the bidding, but did not sell until after the regular call closed. Martha Washington remained unchanged.

The closing quotations and sales posted were as follows:
