The Christmas edition of the "News" this year will be printed on Saturday, December 21st, 1901. It will contain an exhaustive review of the year's developments in business, mining, commerce, real estate, building, and all other branches of business, and will form the most elaborate compliation of the resources and attractions of Utah which has ever been issued.

Our sister state, Colorado, and its industries and attractions will be well represented in the issue, many beautiful views of Denver and Colorado scenery being given. A big part of the edition will be circulated in Denver, and Colorado's principal cities.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL. Utah Woman's Press club cel brated its tenth anniversary last night in a delightful gathering, the club being entertained by Mrs. C. C. R. Wells, the retiring president. The members were dressed in costume, each representing some lady of the White House, and each giving a short sketch of the person rep resented. These exercises were inter-spersed with musical selections and a history of the club for the past decade by Mrs. Lydia Alder, the latter being a resume of the important work and events of the club since its organiza-tion. The program was opened with a vocal solo by Mrs. E. C. Wetzell, en-titled "The Swallows," followed by a plano selection by Miss Mary Olive Gray, and other members were a song "False or True?" by Miss Nettle Raleigh, and a mandolin selection by Miss Bertha E. Milzner, with plano accom-paniment by Mrs. Wetzell. Each number was beautifully rendered and great ly enjoyed by those present. After the program the officers for the ensuing year as nominated at last week's meeting were voted in by acclamation, and Mrs. Mary S. Houtz was admitted to membership. At the close of the busi-ness Dr. Romania B. Pratt on the part club presented the retiring predent, Mrs. C. C. R. Wells, with a hand some volume of poems by James Rus-sell Lowell, as a token of the esteem of the club, and Mrs. Wells responded in an appropriate speech of apprecia-tion. A short speech was made by Mrs. Lydia D. Alder, the new president, afte which dainty refreshments were served Those in costume were: Mrs. Richards, as Martha Washington previous to her marriage with the great hero; Mrs. Doolan, Martha Washington at 57 years; Mrs. E. Major Young said he was there to indict the present city administration and was sure that on the morrow the grand jury, made up of the citizens of Sait Lake, would bring in a true bill against it. JUDGE POWERS TALKS.

As Judge Powers stepped to the front he was saluted with the cheers and applause that have so often greeted him. He said that he thought inasmuch as was a campaign of moral reform he thought it would be appropriate to choose a text. He had therefore selected one from the book of Ezra. It was possible that some did not know that Ezra had a book. Most everyone knew ne had a horse but few knew he had a book. The words of the text were: "For Ezra had prepared his heart to seek the law of the Lord, and to do it, and to teach in Israel statutes and judgments." Judge Fowers said the main difference between the Ezra of old and the modern Ezra was that the former prepared his own heart, while the latter hod deputies to prepare his for him The speaker then devoted his atten tion to the campaign logic used by the Republican orators and ridiculed them all. He thought if President Roosevelt were a citizen of Salt Lake and re-mained true to his reform ideals he would turn his back upon the present city administration. Fisher Harris was the next speaker, and his remarks evoked applause fre-quently. He urged that the election was local in its bearing and that the Democratic platform and candidates stood for good moral government, eco nomically administered. The last epeaker was James H. Moyle who made a vigorous speech in derogation of the present city adminisin tration. He denounced it as extrava-gant and profligate, and spoke in sarcastic terms of the issuance of the water bonds, and claimed that they did no good. Turning from the economical to the moral side of the administration

Mr. Moyle said: "It took Mayor Thompson hearly two years to find out that the people didn't want the Sunday saloon," Mr. Moyle "This, too, in spite of the continued: meetings of the Ministerial association and other religious organizations where the Sunday saloon was de-nounced.
