There are two points of danger in harvesting the root crops. One is harvesting so early that they will rot in the field because of bad weather. The other is in those getting frost by putting out the harvest before the last frost.

The root crop must be stored by digging them and covering them in small piles, which should be covered with dry straw and two or three inches of earth. Never throw the green tops on the ground. They ferment and develop heat, which is injurious to the roots.

There are many days warm enough to bring roots after frost freezing at night begins, and according to the low temperature, at such time there is no danger in putting large quantities in cold storage.

Retired from Oklahoma.

Edgar E. McArthur returned from a mission to Oklahoma on the 10th of October and gave the Nexus a pleasant salutation yesterday. He says that he enjoyed his work in the mission field very much and he regards the condition of the mission generally as being first-class. Considerable opposition is met by the Elders from the ministers of other denominations and even from the people. It is growing very rapidly in the Oklahoma mission. Elder McArthur's home is in St. George, for which place he expects to leave tomorrow. Brother MacArthur, in the latter part of his mission, upon his return to Salt Lake, stopped at the Academy of St. Francis from Oklahoma to Mexico, where they located at Colonial Union. The prospects for the welfare of the Indians to the enemy are very bright, and the people are well satisfied.

Dr. J. W. D. Dillan, of Ogallala, was made by wagon. The Indians in Mexico are all in a preparation condition and are enjoying good health and happiness in the Gospel which they espoused.

SLEEP OR DEATH.

For Years Mr. Burgeheim Had Suffered.

Faige's Celery Compound Soon Made Him Well.

Publisher of Two Great German Papers.

Our New Work Fourier Hours Every Day.

Sleep Soundly and Peacefully Every Night He Lives.

Sleep is one of the things that cannot be put off night to night.

The punishment of sleeplessness is worse than pain. It means a shattered mind.

It often happens that a sudden stress of work or anxiety rob us of the right rest. The effect is soon apparent in the language, health and mind. Recovery from that state of exhaustion is slow.

If rapid and abundant means are employed to repair the exhausted parts the nerves regain their elasticity. But if an unnatural privation of sleep is carried on the system becomes weaker, the body weakens, the heart becomes unsteady, and preservation ceases.
