BOY'S FATHER DEMURS.

J. E. Betts Corrects Report of Juvenile Court on His Son's Case.

A communication has been received from J. E. Betts, father of Roy Betts, in which he takes exception to several things in the "News" report of the proceedings in the juvenile court last Saturday in which the boy was charged with complicity in the robbery of candy and gum from Murphy Bros. candy factory and wagon. Mr. Betts' communication follows:

"In your issue of May 23, 1908, appears what is supposed to be a report of the juvenile court. The report says: 'Roy' Betts, one of the boys mixed up in the theft of sweets from Murphy's, came up for consideration and the young man admitted stealing a box of gum.' That part of the report is false. He admitted being with the boys but not being inside or taking the gum, but being in bad company, which was just as bad.

"Again, the report is wrong: 'The boy's father did not make any promises but asked the court to include in the order that the boy ask permission of his parents to be out nights.'

"The father appeared before the court for the sole purpose to object against the 'sweat box' conducted by Inquisitor Brown, whose manner and language is better adapted to a street bully than to an officer of a court whose object is to teach the boys to do better by kindness and good example not by abuse and threats.

"The judge stated the term, liar, meant an habitual liar, but not one telling a falsehood or making a misstatement.

"I find no fault with the court and think the judge a real gentleman. The kind reproof and good advice is such that any good disposed parent or young culprit ought to remember with profit. It appeared in such strong contrast to the bulldozing of Officer Brown as light is from darkness.

"Officer Thompson stated there were 35 boys mixed up in the candy business, but one name alone is mentioned. This appears so unjust that I am led to think it is spite for the father trying to protect his son from abuse and not from punishment.

"The officer stated to me that one of the ringleaders was a relative of Mr. Murphy, still his name is withheld. Give us a square deal is all we ask.

"I am respectfully,

J. E. BETTS."

"AMERICANS" PLAY FOR SALOON VOTE

Prosecution in Liquor Cases Leaves All to Youthful Assistant City Attorney.

ROGERS PRESENTS CASE ABLY

Absence of Municipality's Legal Staff, However, Causes Much Comment In Police Court.

Arguments in the saloon cases were concluded in Judge Diehl's court yesterday afternoon and the motion made by the defense to dismiss the case on trial was taken under advisement by Judge Diehl. The decision will not be rendered for several days. The other cases were continued until a decision is rendered.

Attorneys Soren X. Christensen, Judge A. J. Weber and S. P. Armstrong, made arguments in support of the motion to dismiss.

Assistant City Attorney Edgar A. Rogers, was alone yesterday in the handling of the prosecution, neither City Attorney Dininny or his assistant, Mr. Daly, being present. But Mr. Rogers handled the case skilfully and made a clear and convincing argument.

The attorneys for the defense denounced the methods used by Chief Pitt in getting evidence against the saloon men, and they also paid their respects to Peterson and Speers, the young men employed by Pitt, referring to them as "spotters," "amateur detectives" and bogus policemen.

PLAY FOR SALOON VOTE.

The fact that Mr. Daly was not present to assist young Mr. Rogers in the final clash with four experienced lawyers, was freely commented upon and not to Mr. Daly's credit. It was suggested that his absence was intended to discredit the attempts of Chief Pitt to enforce the city ordinances and that certain members of the "American" party were simply making a play to capture the saloon vote.

It is doubtful if the prosecution would have fared any better with Mr. Daly present, as young Mr. Rogers handled the case with great ability and was determined in his efforts to block the schemes of the defense.

In reply to the attack made upon Chief Pitt by the attorneys for the defense, when they said that Pitt, or the city, had deliberately induced the saloon keepers to violate the law so that they might be caught by "spotters" and "stool pigeons," Mr. Rogers said:

"I cannot resist the temptation to read an authority that I had not intended to read, and to unload the same on Judge Weber and other counsel for the defense. I have not quite figured out what was the matter with the judge when he wrote it. It is without a parallel."

A LAUGH IN COURT.

Judge Diehl created considerable laughter when he remarked to the young prosecutor: "Remember Mr. Rogers when you are unloading upon counsel you are also unloading it upon me." But the decision quoted by Mr. Rogers was brief and to the point and furnished an incisive answer to argument by counsel for defense. It was simply this:

"The serpent tempted me and I fell." Mr. Rogers defended the action of Chief Pitt and the method employed by him to secure evidenc against violators of the law.

Judge Diehl stated that as there were a great many points of law involved and many authorities cited, it would require some time to consider the case properly and he was unable to set a date for rendering his decision on the motion.

AFTER MOTORCYCLISTS.

Police Will Set Traps to Catch Reckless Riders.

Automobile drivers and the ordinary bike riders are not the only ones who find pleasure on wheels, who are to be made to suffer for violation of city ordinances. There is another class that some police attention is to be paid to, namely the motorcycle fiend who is dangerous to a degree between the bike rider who scorches on the sidewalk and the auto driver who tries to lower Barney Oldfield's record. Complaints have been filed at police headquarters against the motorcycle cranks and some arrests will be made soon—if the police are able to catch them.

One complaint comes from A. Riser, 54 Thirteenth East, about a motorcyclist who apparently has a total disregard for the safety of anything that walks or creeps. It is stated that this person dashes along the sidewalk at breakneck speed in front of the place mentioned every day. An officer has been detailed to lay for this individual and haul him before Judge Diehl for trial. There are others and the police department proposes to make a vigorous campaign against them.

WHOOPING COUGH.

"In February our daughter had the whooping cough. Mr. Lane, of Hartland, recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and said it gave his customers the best of satisfaction. We found it as he said, and can recommend it to anyone having children troubled with whooping cough," says Mrs. A. Goss, of Durand, Mich. For sale by all druggists.

BAD ATTACK OF DYSENTERY CURED.

"An honored citizen of this town was suffering from a severe attack of dysentery. He told a friend if he could obtain a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, he felt confident of being cured, he having used this remedy in the West. He was told that I kept it in stock and lost no time in obtaining it, and was promptly cured." says M. J. Leach, druggist, of Wolcott, Vt. For sale by all druggists.

BURGLAR SCARED AWAY.

Return Home of Mrs. L. M. Slade at Psychological Moment Stops Thief.

Mrs. L. M. Slade, 138 east Sixth South street, had an experience last night with a robber which she will not soon forget. She had been calling on a neighbor and returned to her home shortly after 8 o'clock. She was surprised to find the back door open. She saw a light in one of the front rooms, and thinking it was her brother she called out: "It that you, Fred?" Instantly the light was turned off and she saw the form of a man rush to the window and then disappear. The intruder had opened the window and, jumping out, dashed across the lot and escaped.

Upon investigation it was found that the man had entered the house by means of a pass key and had ransacked the rooms in search of valuables. Several articles were on the kitchen table and would have been taken out but for the return of Mrs. Slade. Nothing was missed.
