IRON COUNTY FAIR.

PAROWAN,
Sept. 25th, 1882.

Editor Deseret News:

Our eleventh annual Fair, or rather the first County Fair of Iron County, was held in Parowan, on the 21st and 22d insts. The display of fruit was very fine, but in quality hardly up to last year. The vegetables were excellent. Potatoes, carrots, cabbage, beans, etc., of many varieties, could hardly be excelled anywhere. The Ladies' Department, which is never behind, was fully represented with all manner of needle-work, home-made carpets, ladies' straw, and velvet home-made coats. Two elaborately wrought quilts by the Relief Society of the Parowan 1st and 2d Wards. A quilt on the Primary table containing 2,500 pieces, wrought by a little girl of the Paragonah Primary Association, etc. Some fine home-made leather was displayed, among which were very superior samples of sole and harness leather from Cedar City; a fine fire grate, fender and irons (andirons), etc., cast by John P. Jones and brother, at their little foundry at Johnson's Fort, were on exhibition. Some fine sheep and horses were exhibited. I can't say so much for the horned stock, but I think we'll improve in this direction. Some fine fowls were also on exhibition. The room was very finely decorated, but the articles displayed were not as numerous as one year ago, owing to a notice given by the managing committee that nothing should be presented for exhibition that was not produced or manufactured during the year ending Sept. 22d, 1882. Some interesting sports were provided and enjoyed happily by the children and all who like a little fun.

Our crops of grain and hay are excellent this year and we will have a plentiful supply of fruit. Last year when the crops were universally large through the Territory, ours was cut short by the drought but the Lord has made it up to us this year. The threshing of grain in this place is nearly done and in most cases the turnout was much better than was expected.

Nearly everybody here registered that the Rules of the Commissioners would admit of, and not a soul against whom the slightest objection might be raised no matter how far fetched, attempted to register, and yet the present indications are that a larger vote will be polled by the People's Party in November, than ever before in this precinct. It is the same throughout the county. Health and peace prevail in this community which we pray may continue long with us and with all who seek to maintain truth and justice.

Very respectfully,
WILLIAM C. MCGREGOR.

THE NEBRASKA FAIR.

OMAHA, September 17.

The great crops of Nebraska have occasioned the largest fair ever held here, both in the extent of exhibits and the attendance, 30,000 people having been on the ground in one day. The Union Pacific railroad has a building on the grounds to display the minerals and products collected along its lines. In this Utah for the past three years has been represented and adored very much to the interest by her grain and fruits. The great number of Eastern visitors are astonished at the products of the desert, and probably this is a good method to open their eyes to the capacities of the western lands. This year the samples sent have been as usual of extra quality and we have to thank the following donors: Through the favor of Mr. Leroy, of Echo, we received from Summit and Weber Counties wheat, rye, oats and barley in the sheaf from Hoyt's farm, Weber Canyon; Pleasant Grove farm, M. Rodabek, Summit County; Bowman Bros., Uintah, and Fry Morgan; J. Williams, Peterson; also from Geo. Larkin, Farr Bros. and Vandyke, of Ogden.

Fruit was well represented by 25 plates of pears, peaches and plums from Geo. Gidney, Brigham. A fine collection of plums, pears, apples and grapes grown by James Williams, were sent by Durst and Trimble, of Salt Lake, who also sent mammoth potatoes and a collection of extra vegetables, including the largest egg plums, grown by H. H. Harris.

A collection of fine plums from from A. Berrett, North Ogden; the finest porter apples and plums, from Thos. Singleton, and apples from A. Knight, Plain City. Bond & Co., of Ogden, sent several boxes of choice apples, peaches, pears and plums. F. Turner, Bartlett pears. W. M. Thompson, egg plums, Ogden, and the finest grapes from Geo. W. Larkin, along with excellent pears.

The land department of the railroad made a special exhibition of potatoes, of which Nebraska showed 200 baskets. Colorado a good collection, and Utah the largest, from H. H. Harris; but the finest at the fair in all respects was a basket of Mammoth Pearl from Dunham & Kinsell, Ogden. S. Francis, of Morgan; Bond & Co., of Ogden; George Gidney, of Brigham, all sent fine specimens. The potato exhibit as a whole was an attractive feature of the fair. The writer brought a few potatoes last year from Utah, which were begged singly, some going as far east as Maine, both for the seed and to show something grown without rain.

It is the intention of the Union Pacific to enlarge their building before another exposition, giving ample room for the display of the minerals, natural history, and products of all kinds from the States and Territories through which their lines extend. Their collection of natural history, minerals, etc., are at present displayed at the Denver Exposition, where they have a large show of the grain and fruit of this State. Nebraska sends greeting and thanks to Utah for her display of golden grain and rich fruits which have been such a great attraction at the largest exposition ever held west of the Missouri. J. T. ALLAN.

Correspondence.

ST. JOHN'S,
September 15th, 1882.

Editor Deseret News:

While en route from Nutri Oso to this place we passed through Round Valley, where quite a number of our people have settled. At this place resides the old and ever faithful pioneer, Jacob Hamlin—one who has done great good among the red men for nearly half a century and whose conversation is replete with interest and whose faith in this work is unswerving. Such quiet men as Jacob are not always appreciated during this life, but they are among the strong pillars of the Latter-day work, and will not be forgotten by God when he counts His precious jewels.

But to return to Round Valley. It is a fine valley, probably six miles in length, by four in width, containing probably 3,000 acres of good farming land, with fine pasturage all around, and timber in abundance two or three miles distant, and the water pure, clear and sparkling as it rushes from the mountains. As a rule, the crops of grain here are abundant, the only drawback being that the best part of the valley and prior claims of water are owned by two or three white men and some Mexicans. Some of them would sell, but our people having paid such an enormous price for St. John's, they now ask enormous prices for their claim, as is the case in all this part of Arizona. Taking this, as a people, to ourselves, is not this the result of our own actions? We might have had this country free for settling, if all would be faithful and fulfill their duties.

When the Spirit of God spoke through President B. Young to settle this country, these rich places were not settled and could have been taken up without price and good homes secured for Latter-day Saints and their children. What is the consequence of failing to carry out the counsel of God's servant? Thousands of dollars of the hard earnings of the Saints have to be paid out for these localities that were then free for settlement. Seven hundred and 70 head of cows and calves for St. John alone, unfenced, simply located claims of the government land. The Mexican town of St. Johns being to-day more prosperous than before we commenced to build beside them, and many of our people are compelled to labor for them in order to get a livelihood, and the country is governed by men who appear to care nothing for the people's means, but spend it recklessly, running the country deeper and deeper into debt.

In speaking of the foregoing facts it is not with any desire to criticize or censure, but with a desire to show that increased faith in God would result in greater good.

Bishop Udeil is now engaged in laying off the meadows into 20-acre lots, which will be sold to the settlers at very reasonable rates; the meadows is located seven miles north of St. Johns, and is a fine body of land for haying purposes.

The health of the people here is generally good, and their crops a good average.

We have been without any mail service here ever since the last of June, that is one reason our friends do not hear from us very often. The mail has now started, and we hope it will continue to run on some kind of time that we may be able to hear from the world at large.

St. Johns can boast of a newspaper, forty miles from a telegraph line. It is a small weekly published Saturdays, by Judge C. A. Franklin; thus far its tone has not been radical on any question, and has treated the "Mormons" fairly. It supports delegate Oury for re-election, and so far as I am acquainted with Mr. Oury's course, I think he will be preferable to other candidates now in the field.

Already our county ticket is being talked of, nearly all parties say, "O give us a change." Unless there is a change, many of the "cattle" men of this county and others will leave, as taxation is so high, very few indeed are satisfied with the present officials, and hope they will be compelled to retire into perpetual oblivion, so far as Apache County is concerned.

Our day school here is well patronized by the people for this season of the year, in fact we have the largest school in Apache County. Annie M. Romney is principal at present, and gives general satisfaction so far as I know.

Beef brings a good price, flour sells at $7 per cwt., lumber at $25.00 per M; cows and calves bring from $20 to $40 per head, and all other things in proportion, except labor, which is low, compared with the price of other things.

A flour mill and a woolen factory are much needed here. I think they will, in the future, be paying institutions to whoever erects them. I wonder when those rich men who were called to St. Johns will start down; there is plenty of room for them and all kinds of investments.

We hope some of the first Elders of the Church will visit us before traveling becomes too unpleasant. Us folks who live a long way off would appreciate their visits more than those who see them daily, and the railroad comes within 40 miles of us.

AMRAM.

We would not be without it in our large livery for thousands of dollars. We pronounce it one of the greatest discoveries of the age. It stands without a peer in horse liniment." See adv.
