DESERET EVENING NEWS: FRIDAY, APRIL 29, 1904.

The Deseret News is pleased to announce that it has been awarded the contract for handling the World's Fair portfolios in Utah and Idaho. It will thus be only possible to secure this beautiful work through this paper. There will be thirty parts in all, and each part will consist of not less than sixteen pages, often more, and each will contain sixteen half-tone engravings, size 8 by 10 inches, made from photographs obtained by special contract with the official photographers. There will thus be nearly 500 reproductions of the most famous scenes and subjects in the Exposition; the thirty portfolios will be issued as near as may be one each week, commencing on the day the Fair opens, Saturday, April 30, 1904. The Fair will be characterized by the most extraordinary assemblage of human kind in all the world's history. It will be attended by every civilization from the highest to the lowest, wherever distributed around the earth. Photographs will be taken of these subjects in groups showing their native occupation and pastimes. The views taken will illustrate the life, the architecture, the exhibits, the sculpture, the plazas, the water ways, the vistas, the colonnade of states, the monuments, the palaces, the cascades, the great basin, the pike, the model city, the place of nations, commonwealth plateau, etc., etc., etc. The photographers will give the choice of every subject seen at the Fair, whether of art, scenic, architectural, or industrial interest. The purpose will be, by the aid of splendid photographs and the most modern methods known in engraving and printing, to transfer as nearly as possible the details of the great Fair to paper for the benefit of the masses. It will be a permanent record of the great historic event, which will be within the reach of every one.

but recovered quickly. The trouble occurred near the end of the performance and was caused by the screams of a woman in the galley who had been frightened by a mouse. She jumped from her seat and so alarmed those sitting near by that one of them cried "fire." Instantly the crowd rose and began to rush for the exits but the actors got the orchestra to strike up an air and called upon the frightened persons to be seated. Many already had reached the doors and there was quite crush but it was over in a and the play was resumed.

Campbell Goes Fack to Ohio.

New York, April 29 .- James E. Campbell, former governor of Ohio will return next fall to his home town, Hamilton, Ohio. He has for the last five years ben a resident of New York. He expects to close up his law business here by October.

Like David B. Henderson, former speaker of the house of representatives who has just announced his intention of quitting New York, Mr. Campbell says he prefers the quiet of a smaller town. "I like New York," he added, with its hurry and life, and the fact that a man is one of four million other beings even has a fascination about it Hamilton, though, is the place to which I turn as my home and there I shall spend the rest of my days.'

Discounts on Linoleum Restored.

New York, April 29.-Representatives of large kneeleum and floor ollcloth manufacturers have decided, at a meeting here to restore on May 1, the practise of regulating discounts according to quantity. While price lists will remain the same as heretofore, the change and discount establishes a general advance.

The manufacturers declare their action to have been necessary because of highly unsatisfactory trade conditions during the past season and be-cause of the advance in the price of cork, which has practicaly doubled in cost during the last six months.

This upward movement in cork was started several months ago by a French syndicate, which, at present, practicaly controls the cork market.

Supt. William Griffith from Death's Grasp.

One Will Die-A Life Prisoner Saved

Phoenix, Ariz., April 28 .- News' from Yuma reached here tonight that an attempted prison break occuared at the territorial prison at that place. Supt. William Griffith was saved from death by a life termer. Asst. Supt. U. G. Wilder was stabbed and badly beaten. Five convicts were stabled and shot, one fatally, but none escaped. The revolt was and by William M. Lastannan, leader of the labor riots at Morenel last

While Supt. Griffith and Asst. Supt. Wilder were; making the morning rounds of the prison and were in the yard not far from the gate, they were assaulted by more than a dozen, convicts armed with knives and clubs. An attempt was made to rush them toward the prison gate in order to secure the key of Gatekeeper Clark. Griffith or-dered Guard Stevens to fire from the wall, regardless of his danger. He did so, and five or six of the convicts were shot, but none fatally. At the same time W. C. C. Buck, a life-termer actg as cook, came to the rescue of the officers, armed with a knife, and he be-gan slashing his fellow-convicts, cutting one fatally. The party was rushed toward the gate, where it was met by Prison Secy. W. T. Gregory and the gatekeeper, who assisted in overpov ing the convicts. Asst. Supt. Wilder was shot in the thigh and badly beaten. He was also stabbed, but his injuries are not fatal.

HOW CHINA FEELS.

Does Not Like Russia's Indefinite Occupation of Manchuria.

Paris, April 28 .- Mr. Souen, the Chinese minister, in an interview today, said that his government could not view with satisfaction Russta's indefi-nite occupation of Manchurla, but that t was determined to maintain good relations with the Russian government, War, the minister said, was not desired at Pekin. If any counsellors existed who were unreasonable enough to pro-pose to attack Russia while that country was engaged with Japan they would not meet with any credit from Chinese statesmen familiar with for eign affalrs. "China has no interest in attacking Russia," continued the minister. are fully aware that intervention might cause dangerous complications, the outsome of which would be fatal to China herself. Whatever our sympathies may e, we will not launch our country into wild adventure Our trained troops near the great vall do not exceed 20,000, and it is not with such a force that the Russian irmy could be conquered, Japanese aid could not help us much, and, moreover, the court is not auxious to inven for the purpose of defending the

Our government's sole cave, according to my latest advices, is to estrain popular excitement, and the strictest orders have been given to the cal authorities to use even unaccus. amed rigor for the purpose of prevent ng risings. I sincerely trust that those precautions will suffice, even in the ent of Japanese success, but it might - remembered that our sub-prefects ve very inadequate means of enorcing obedience when the masses be-ome greatly excited. The only danger of complications lies in a spon-tancous rising of the people."

Washington, April 28.-Senator Alli-son, chairman of the committee on the order of business in the senate, in a public statement issued today. gave notice that if the nomination of W. D. frum, to be collector of the port of Charleston, S. C., is again sent to the senate it will be pressed to a concluion regardless of other business. The statement is as follows: "The committee on the order of business, at a meeting today, decided that if the nomination of Dr. Crum is again made and sent to the senate, it will be taken up immediately at the opening of the next session of Congress and made the order of business until disposed of, the minority senators having given notice that its consideration at this session would require a debate of at least two weeks.

"This action was taken because it was impossible to complete the consideration of the case at this session."

GAGE ON GREAT WEALTH. Acquisition of it Not an Exploitation of the Poor.

New York, April 28.-Lyman J. Gage, formerly secretary of the treasury and now president of a trust company here, has addressed the members of the young men's Bible class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church on the question, "Is the Acquisition of Individual Wealth Inconsistent With the Material Welfare of Society?"

He was introduced by the leader of the class, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and said in the course of his address;

"A clergyman has declared that no man can acquire a millions dollars in life time without robbing somebody That sounds well to those who haven't got a million. It is more comfortable to feel that we have been injured than

"If the man who can make two blades of grass grow where only one grew be-fore takes to hunself one-fourth of the increased product and lets the threefourths go to society, society gets a very god bargain. Nobody will say that the man whose ability has thus enriched society is not entitled to a fair return for himself.

Mr. Gage cited several instances of his idea and continued: "There is a blind idea that if a man has money he must have taken it from somebody who had it before him, that there is a fixed amount of wealth which is being handed around. That is not so at all. New wealth is being pro-duced all the time. The men who have accomplished the great things are the most poorly paid no matter how wealthy they may be. "So we come to the question. Is great individual wealth an injury to society, is it robbery, is it the exploitation of the poor? I affirm that it is not.

quantity of Napoleonic literature which has come

This task was committed to Captain George L. Kilmer, who by natural aptitude, education, journalistic experience and long study of the subject is eminently fitted for the undertaking. Capusin Kilmer is too well known as a clear, graceful and forceful writer on historical subjects to require an introduction here. It should be said, however, that in this case his work has been that of the editor rather than the writer. From a large number of rare and costly books on Napoleon, some of them in the original French, he has selected and put in two-column installments, con-venient for newspaper publication, sketches of the great Corsican which enable the reader to see and comprehend his real character as clearly as he could from reading the books. These extracts are from the writings of those who were closest to Napoleon and knew him best. And it should be said that he did not wear a mask in the presence of his intimates. Not only his acts, but his motives as revealed in his conversation, are laid bare to the reader.
