

FIFTY-SECOND YEAR

Utah's First
Type Founder.

Death Summons James Storemond McLaren, One of the Few Surviving Heroes of the Crimean War—Was a British Bugler Boy in the Glorious Charge of Balaklava and Had a Leg Blown Off by a Russian Cannon Ball.

JAMES STOREMOND McLAREN.

The above photograph taken many years ago shows Mr. McLaren at work on the first type casting machine that was ever brought west of the Missouri river. It was purchased by the late President George Q. Cannon in New York when that gentleman was the editor of the Deseret News. With this machine Mr. McLaren cast all of the body fonts of the Deseret News and all of the display type that was used by the Deseret News in the old days. In 1872 the paper appeared in an entire new dress, all the handwork of Mr. McLaren.

The death of James Storemond McLaren, which event occurred at the family residence, 256 east Fifth South street at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, removes from this sphere of action, the pioneer typesetter of Utah. It may be said that the deceased was the only workman of his class in the state, and his death leaves the craft unprotected within its borders.

Mr. McLaren was born Feb. 15, 1841. The place of his nativity was Scotland, but just which section of the country the event took place cannot be said, as the deceased left no papers and rarely made mention of his early life, even to his closest friends.

He became a member of the "Mormon" Church in early life, but he did not come to Utah until he was already past middle life. He had been living in several years in New York city, when he fell in with Joseph Bull, Sr., who was at that time, the eastern agent of the Deseret News, and by his aid was brought to Salt Lake City. This was late in the fall of 1862, and the following spring a type foundry was established on the second floor of the old Deseret News building, where the first type ever cast in the Mormon country, was made. He worked for several years at this foundry, casting much of the type which was used in those days in setting up the paper, and likewise the display type for bills and posters. After this he moved to California, and worked for ten years at his trade. In 1871 he returned to Salt Lake City, and was again employed by the Deseret News. After working for two years, he started in business for himself, and ran a type foundry until early last spring, when he was taken with what proved to be his last sickness.

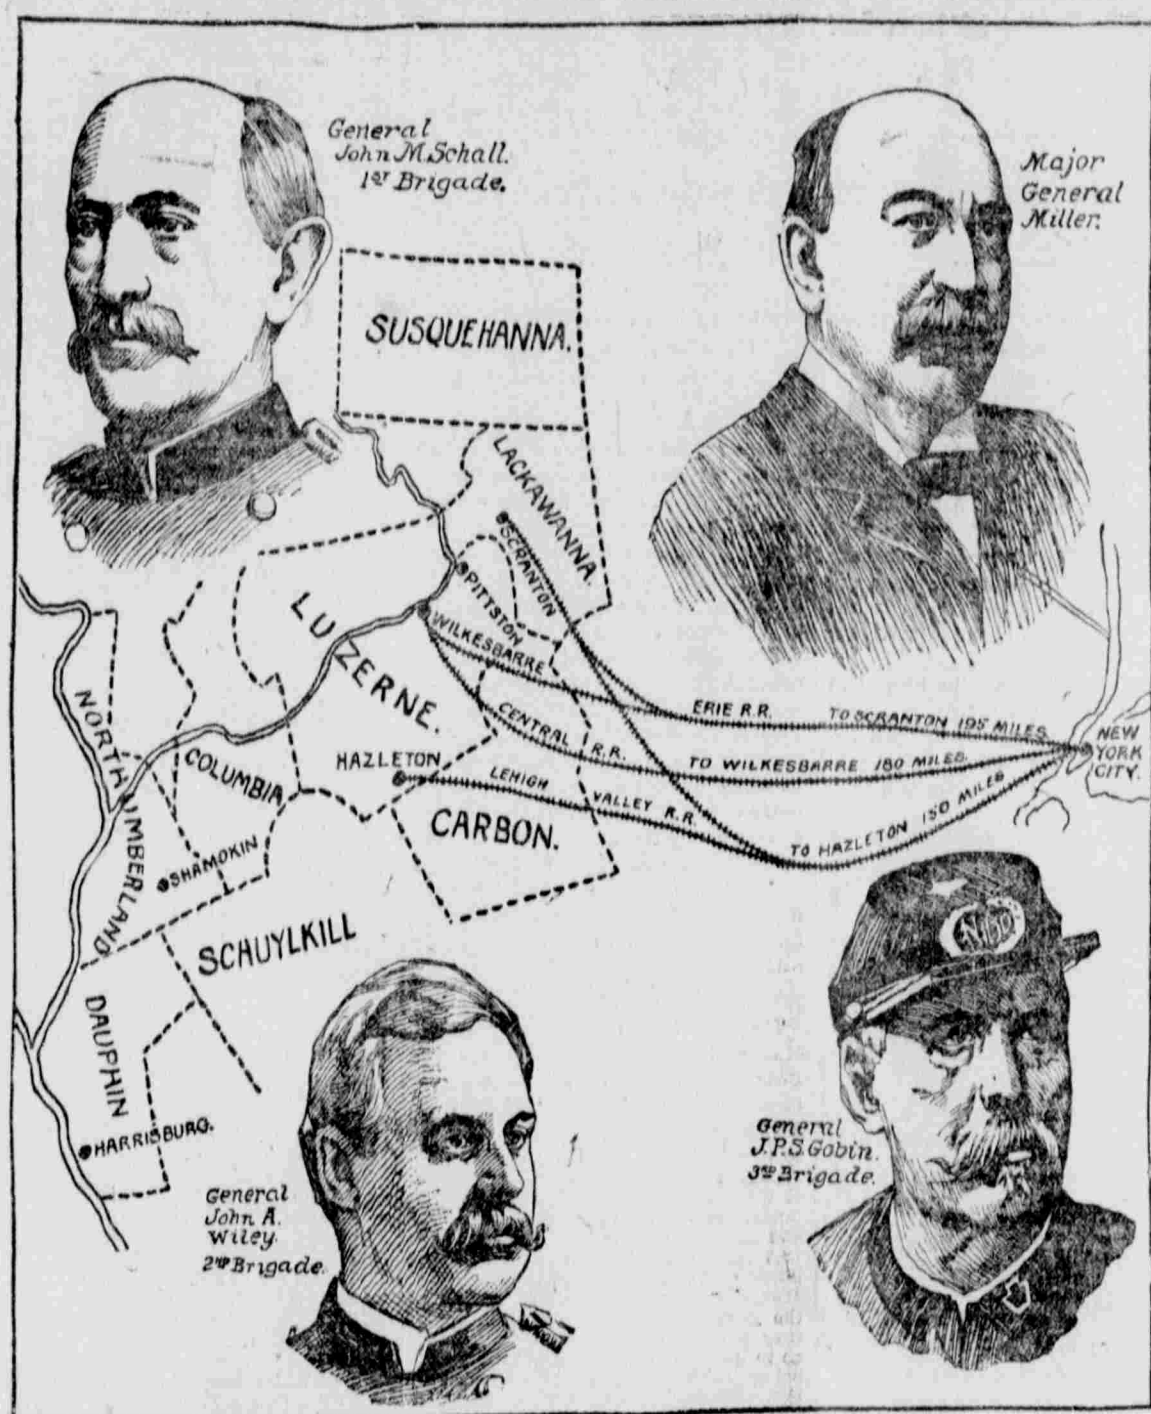

The life of the deceased was an eventful one, and it has fallen to the lot of few men to have passed through so many changes of fortune. His family was among the most respected in Scotland, the deceased being closely related to Sir Colin Campbell, the hero of Lucknow. He was early orphaned, and when he was a boy he was taken into the British army, where he served until early last spring, when he was taken with what proved to be his last sickness.

Another Hitch
AT NEW ORLEANS.

Resumption of Street Car Traffic Delayed Because of New Complications—Strikers Returning to Work Must Sign Application for Places—Union Called a Halt.

New Orleans, Oct. 12.—Although an agreement was reached last night between the New Orleans Street Railway company and its striking motormen and conductors, whereby the latter agreed to return to work this morning, there was some delay in resuming traffic today on account of new complications which arose between the company and the company over a demand that the strikers on returning to work sign applications for places which would be referred to persons who would pass upon the eligibility of the applicant and upon some of the employees declared would give the company the opportunity to reject any man they desired. A number of the men signed the applications and took out cars, but others refused and the union issued an order that the question was settled. However, after a conference between the officials of the company and the company's representatives the question was dropped, and the applications being withdrawn and the men were ordered to take out the cars though it will be impossible on account of the condition of the tracks and wires to resume the full service.

DIES A VICTIM OF TYPHOID FEVER

James C. Woods, an Old Timer and Highly Respected Citizen, Dead—Was an Earnest Ward Worker and a Man of Strong Character—Funeral Will Take Place Tomorrow.

JAMES C. WOODS.

James C. Woods, a resident of the Tenth ward of this city and one of the best of citizens, died at his home early yesterday morning as a result of a resistless struggle with typhoid fever which had for some time confined him to his bed. The family and friends saw the ravages of the disease, and Mr. Woods apparently realized the same. On the contrary he quietly and complacently admitted that he was ready to go—that he would just as soon meet his Maker now as any other time and that it was only a question of a comparatively brief period before he would have to pass through the terrific ordeal of approaching dissolution again.

There was no reason why Elder Woods should be afraid to die, for he had led a goodly life. He had ever spoken and advocated the right. For twenty-six years he acted as counselor to Bishop Speers of the Tenth ward and was serving in that capacity at the time of his demise.

WOULDBE MURDERER SUICIDES

Tried to Kill His Family, Falls, and Kills Himself.

Ottumwa, Oct. 12.—Only the non-appearance of his wife, daughter and her husband, prevented Thomas Doherty, a blacksmith of this city, from exterminating his entire family, while in a drunken rage last night. He waited at the head of the stairs at his residence, to pick them off with a gun as they came up. They fled to a neighbor's house, later when they reappeared, Doherty opened fire. The shots went wild and, having but one bullet left, he shot himself through the mouth. He will die.

EDITOR KELLEY SURRENDERS

His Plea for Shooting Dr. Cayley of Butte will be Self Defense.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 12.—J. W. Kelley, city editor of the Butte Inter-Mountain, who shot Dr. H. A. Cayley in the Broadway flats here Saturday night, surrendered to the local police at noon. He will plead self-defense. It is said that Dr. Cayley, who was taken to a private hospital, is dead, but the police are unable to learn the truth, as they have been refused admission to the hospital.

Editor J. W. Kelley of the Inter-Mountain shot Dr. H. A. Cayley, a prominent resident of Butte. It is believed Cayley will die.

The shooting occurred between 11 and 12 o'clock Sunday night, but so quiet was the affair that the police did not hear of it until late Sunday evening.

Kelley, it appears, had been the lover of a woman, it is said, the name of which is a French dressmaker. It is said he suspected an intimacy between her and Dr. Cayley and Saturday night he lay in hiding and surprised the two in the woman's room.

Kelley with a pass-key got into the room and immediately opened fire with a revolver. The first shot went wild and Cayley, springing from the bed, grappled with Kelley, but was felled by a blow from the butt of Kelley's revolver.

With the man prostrate on the floor Kelley again fired, the bullet taking effect in Cayley's shoulder. The missile was deflected by the shoulderblade and ranged down and passed through the left lung, stopping near the spinal cord, completely paralyzing the left side of the victim.

The British cruiser, Indefatigable, arrived at La Guayra Sunday. Other British vessels are to follow.

The United States gunboat Marblehead has returned to La Guayra from Curaçao.

Serious events are predicted for this week.

Paris, Oct. 12.—The Boer generals, Botha, De Wet and Delarey, arrived in Paris today. M. Paulinot and the pro-Boer committee received them at the railroad station. After speeches of welcome had been delivered the party drove to a hotel. The precincts of the station and the route to the hotel was thronged with spectators who heartily cheered the generals, although the crowds present and the enthusiasm manifested were nothing like the assemblages and demonstration witnessed on the occasion of Mr. Kruger's arrival here two years ago.

FOUR DEAD BODIES FOUND.

Tied in Sacks, in Rear of an Indianapolis Medical College.

Indianapolis, Oct. 12.—Four dead bodies were found today tied in sacks in Georgia street, and in the rear of the Central college of physicians and surgeons. The bodies were identified as those of Mrs. Johanna Stille, a woman of 60 years, who had been taken to the Ebenezer cemetery, Miss Catherine Gates, stolen from Anderson cemetery, Wallace Johnson, stolen from Ebenezer cemetery, and Miss Catherine Doherty, stolen from the German Catholic cemetery.

The city dispensary ambulance was called and the bodies were sent to the morgue.

The finding of the bodies is supposed to be due to the efforts of detectives who for several days have been soliciting physicians not connected with any of the colleges to use their influence in having the stolen bodies returned to the relatives.

Seventeen persons are now under arrest for grave robbing. The list includes nine negroes, three white doctors, one colored undertaker, a priest of a cemetery, two night watchmen and a gravedigger.

Am. Generals at Buckingham Palace

London, Oct. 12.—Ambassadors Choate and Gens. Corbin, Wood and Young were the guests of King Edward at a luncheon at Buckingham palace today in honor of Lord Kitchener prior to the latter's departure for India, where he is to take command of the British forces in the East.

Gen. Corbin delivered to the king a message from President Roosevelt, expressing the hope that the king would lend his assistance in creating interest in the St. Louis exposition. The king replied that he would answer the message personally in the same kindly spirit which he was at once made up of a rather elaborate luncheon, his majesty arose and proposed the health of President Roosevelt. The king spoke in most glowing terms of the president, and expressed his delight at seeing such distinguished Americans present. Before any other toast could be given, his majesty announced an adjournment to the smoking room, where he had a long talk with Gen. Corbin, Gen. Young and Gen. Wood, and personally expressed to them his gladness to see them in England, "because," he said, "I feel we are not only friends, but relations."

The king asked many questions about the American army.

Adams, on Dec. 28, 1898, was called today after many delays and adjournments in the criminal branch of the supreme court. Justice John S. Lambert, of Freedom, presided. Molnau was not in court when his counsel began their argument in objection to the motion made last week for a special jury panel.

The court room was thronged. A formidable array of counsel was at the table devoted to the defense, including former Gov. E. B. Black, former district attorney and ex-supreme court justice W. M. K. O'Leary, Barlow S. Weeks and George Gordon Battle, both former assistant district attorneys and Henderson Peck.

Gen. E. L. Molnau, father of the accused was present.

The prosecution was represented by Dist. Atty. Jerome and his assistants James W. Osborn, F. P. Garvan and Nathan Smythe. Justice Lambert granted the motion for a special jury panel of 50 names, and court adjourned until Wednesday next.

LABOR TROUBLES IN ENGLAND.

John A. Hobson, a Well Known London Sociologist, Predicts Them.

New York, Oct. 12.—John A. Hobson, a well known London sociologist who is now the guest of Harvard university and the Twentieth Century club, prophesies serious conflicts in England between organized labor and organized capital, according to the Times special from Boston. He says:

In England the organization of labor from the nature of things is far less firm than vital. Still the organization of labor is going on rapidly, especially in the machinery industry, and a great deal of machinery is being used and skill is required. The trades unions object to the employment of non-union men in order to protect their organization.

The employers of England are about to try to break down the labor unions and to break down the principle of collective bargaining. The house of lords has decided that unions can be sued. This will pave the way for endless litigation, in which, because of weaker resources, the unions may be ruined.

English workmen will try to put a stop to it by having the unions sue the employers. In the meantime as trade declines, we will see a series of big strikes and lock-outs.

An Important Conference.

Held by Representatives of Coal Roads in Office of Chairman Thomas of the Erie—President Truesdale Said:

"It May be Productive of Immediate Results on the Situation"—Other Conferees Silent.

New York, Oct. 12.—At noon today a conference of the representatives of the coal roads assembled in the office of Chairman Thomas of the Erie. President Truesdale, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, when he arrived, said:

"A conference is to be held and it will be an important one. It may be productive of immediate results on the situation."

Added significance was attached to Mr. Truesdale's words in view of the fact that until today he has steadfastly adhered to the statement that no step in the direction of settlement had been taken. During the conference of last week he reiterated this statement with emphasis and as late as Saturday afternoon he refused to admit that any progress had been made. The other operators who were present at today's meeting in Mr. Thomas' office declined to say when seen as they entered the building. J. P. Morgan left his yacht Corsair on which he has been since Saturday last early today, and went directly to his office.

The conference in Mr. Thomas' office lasted a little more than one hour. When the participants dispersed they declined to make any statement as to what had transpired. It was announced, however, that the conference was informal. In addition to those already mentioned, President Walter of the Lehigh Valley was present and the independent operator, John Markle, also joined the conference, remaining about five minutes. It was intimated that later in the day a statement might be issued, but no intimation of its nature was obtainable.

Those who participated in the conference were E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board of trustees of the Erie railroad, resident of Philadelphia and Vice President Wilcox of the Delaware & Hudson; President Fowler of the Ontario & Western; and President Truesdale of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western.

Mr. Morgan declined to talk about his meeting with Secy. Root last Saturday. He would not discuss the strike in any way except to say that he had not heard of any change in the general conditions.

John Markle, the independent operator who was one of Mr. Morgan's callers, said that the strike conditions were slightly more encouraging.

There is good authority for the statement that Secy. Root did not bring an ultimatum from President Roosevelt as reported, but rather that the secretary was directed by the president to ask Mr. Morgan to devise some means to settle the strike.

Mr. Morgan, it is said, took the president's request under advisement and later reported to Secy. Root his inability to do anything in the matter. It is known that on Friday last, one of the leading operators wrote to the president demanding that the miners be furnished better protection. There came a prompt reply stating that the entire Pennsylvania militia had been called out, and that the situation was well in hand. Apparently the operators are not of that opinion, as it is known that another letter has been forwarded to Gov. Stone, urging that he call for federal troops.

however, was not quite successful. At 9:20 the balloon had returned to above the point of departure and then it gradually descended, lower and lower until it disappeared in the clouds. About 9:30, when the balloon was above St. Ains, near St. Dennis, about five and a half miles from the center of the city, the rope attaching the car to the balloon broke from some unknown cause and the car, with its occupants, Dr. Brasky and Morin, was dashed to the ground and the aeronauts met instant death. The balloon itself disappeared in the clouds.

FATAL FALL OF TWO AERONAUTS.

The balloon started from the aero station at Vaugrassard, a suburb of this city, at 7:55 a. m. On a trial trip. After preliminary maneuvers with a rope attached, De Brasky released the balloon and proceeded southward at a height of 300 or 400 feet. The propellers of the machine appeared to work well; the rudder,

A WANTON MURDER.

An Italian Kills One Man and Fatally Wounds Another.

New York, Oct. 12.—With no apparent motive, Evangelio Derigo, a shoemaker, 19 years old, has shot and instantly killed Alphonso Salgrene, and fatally wounded Carmelo Salgrene, a brother of the dead man, and Joseph Dirute, at Rockville Center, L. I.

Derigo and a number of other men have been living in the rear of the shop. Apparently there has been no trouble between any of the men.

The boarders were sitting about the front of the shop when Derigo suddenly shot a pistol at a pistol. He shouted something in Italian which the men say they did not understand and walking up to where Salgrene was sitting placed the pistol against his body and fired. The man fell from his chair dead and the others started to escape. Derigo in a frenzy of rage fired four shots at the men who were running.

Carmelo Salgrene and Dirute fell. Both were shot in the chest and the physicians say they probably will die. Derigo tried to shoot Frank Mesiano, but his pistol missed fire. He reloaded his weapon and ran through the streets of Rockville Center shouting defiance and waving his pistol. He went to Baldwin, L. I., a short distance away, where he was arrested.

On the Trail of a Fiend.

Ottumwa, Ia., Oct. 12.—A sheriff's posse with bloodhounds is searching for a tramp who assaulted Gen. K. K. K. 8 years ago, near Melrose. There is a strong possibility that he will be lynched if caught as there is great excitement and many threats.

THE PORTE TO THE POWERS.

Complains that Bulgaria Inadequately Guards Her Frontiers.

Constantinople, Oct. 12.—The porte has sent a circular to the powers complaining that Bulgaria is inadequately guarding her frontier, that she is permitting Macedonian bands to cross and that the remnants of these bands after being dispersed by the Turkish troops recross the frontier and find shelter in Bulgarian territory. The Turkish government also complains that a revolutionary banner was recently conspired in the Bulgarian monastery at Rila and that commands of revolutionary bands have been apportioned to Bulgarian reserve officers.

Turkish reinforcements have been sent to Demir Ullisar, Roumelia, to strengthen the frontier cordons.

A WOMAN THUG.

Either That or a Beskirted Man Robber.

What was either a female thug or a man masquerading in skirts, made a bold attempt to hold up Percy Peterson and companion near Second South and Seventh East streets last night. The men were driving a hack and were returning to town when suddenly the woman, dressed in a woman's form, to all appearances, a woman, bobbed up in front of the horses and ordered a quick stop. Presently a volter was produced, whereupon the drivers applied the whip and got away, leaving the female highwayman to her own resources. The police have the case in hand but not the woman.
