MAY NOT HANDLE BINGHAM BRANCH

Judge Morse Severely Scores New York Attorney for Violating Order of Court.

ACTED UNDER INSTRUCTIONS.

Martin Operated Railroad Through Receiver on Order Which Was Vacated Two Hours After Issue.

The fact is there is no receiver for the Bingham branch of the Rio Grande Western railway and the order for the sale of the road by the receiver appointed has in every particular been vacated, set aside and declared null and void.

The court's order is that you and your employes and every person connected with this transaction desist from proceeding in any way under the order of this court which has been vacated, set aside and declared void.

Mr. Martin asked the right to appeal and asked for 60 days in which to do so. Mr. Allison objected for the reason that he did not believe the court's order was subject to appeal and that if so, then the statutes specify the time in which an appeal shall be taken.

shown that he procured another copy of the order and that he had caused it to be published under the name, "Receiver's Sale," in a Salt Lake paper, and that on Dec. 23, he had secured another certified copy of the order and caused it to be posted at Bingham Junction.

"Why did you act for the receiver, not as attorney, but in any capacity, in defiance of the court's order, Mr. Martin?" asked Judge Morse of Mr. Martin when he appeared to purport himself of contempt.

"I acted under instructions from New York," was Mr. Martin's reply. "You rely upon that as your only excuse."

"I have two reasons. I acted upon instructions from New York and because I believed the court was without power to set aside the order in the manner in which it was done. It was the examination of the great questions involved that I wished the order directing your honor to show cause with regard to the minute entries," Mr. Martin answered in substance to this question.

Judge Morse then said from the bench, "There seems to have been a violation of the court's order in that you have held the court's order in contempt. After you knew that the court had revoked its order you proceeded to set it aside. If you are so placed that you are unable to act under the order, the court is bound to inflict a severe punishment upon you."

Mr. Martin promised to do everything within his power to see that every order of the court was respected and the court made the order quoted above.

FILES BILL OF EXCEPTIONS. Mr. Martin asked the right to appeal and asked for 60 days in which to do so. Mr. Allison objected for the reason that he did not believe the court's order was subject to appeal and that if so, then the statutes specify the time in which an appeal shall be taken.

OVER CENTRALIZATION.

In Railroads Denounced by Pres. F. A. Dolano of the Wabash. Chicago, Dec. 25.—Over centralization in railroad operation is denounced by F. A. Dolano, president of the Wabash in a communication from him published in the Railway Age yesterday.

What is needed in railway operation, he says, is an effective local self-government, with a good deal of authority by local officers, combined with which there should be an intelligent central supervision.

BUSY DAY FOR TAFT.

Washington, Dec. 25.—Secy. of War Taft is to have a busy day during his stay in Boston next Monday, having three engagements of a semi-public character all of which he is expected to make addresses. Monday morning he will attend the Boston Minister's meeting. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock there is to be a reception at the Elysium club, made up of Jewish bankers and merchants at which Mr. Taft will speak briefly and in the evening he will deliver an address at the banquet of the Merchants' association at the Hotel Somerset. Tuesday Secy. Taft will speak at the funeral of the former home of his mother and will return to Washington on Tuesday night.

Wait Till the Car Stops—Jumping on and off street car steps in this slippery weather is attended with risks. Several people tried it this morning, and landed very much mixed up in the snow. Such a fall may easily result in a broken limb.

Main Line Blocked—A derailment of a car on a freight train tied up the main line of the Rio Grande here, between this city and Bingham this morning. The Bingham local could not leave this city, coming back. The accident happened near Murray and was cleared away within a reasonable time. No one was hurt, and according to the railroad company, there were no worse results than a short tie-up.

Mr. and Mrs. Edalston Twitchell of Edinburgh, Scotland, are guests at a Knutsford hotel today. They are on a tour of America and expect to remain but a day in Salt Lake. Although the snowstorm this morning operated as a barrier against the most advantageous viewing of the city, Mr. and Mrs. Twitchell nevertheless boarded the sailing car and took in what part of town they might from that engine of public utility.

HOW NOTICE WAS POSTED. A. J. Mullins, special agent for the R. G. W., testified that he had seen the notice of receiver's sale posted in the Bingham Junction office on Dec. 24, which was a court day. Although the certified copy of the order to be posted in the Bingham Junction office, Mr. Robinson said that he had suggested to him (Mullins) that the notice be posted inside the office and up near the clock, nine feet from the floor, "so that everybody wouldn't know our business."

ACTED AS RECEIVER. Stephen D. Colburn testified that he had met Mr. Martin by appointment at the R. G. W. depot on Dec. 24 to go to Bingham Junction, as the receiver's agent to take actual possession of the branch line, and that the notice was and had been confidentially on the train operated on the branch every day since that time. He had told officers of the R. G. W. that he was in possession of the road and was acting for the receiver.

WEATHER TALK. Today's storm is a local one and by tonight Salt Lake may be enjoying another storm, which is expected to blow down from the northwest. So snow is predicted for tonight with a cold wave and snow for tomorrow. There is every indication that a fairly good run of winter weather may be expected for the next two or three days. Storms are reported pretty general all over the state, with the exception of the points far south.

PERSONALS. Hon. F. J. Hagenbarth has gone to the Hot Springs at Ogden to be treated for rheumatism. City Editor William R. Williams of the Tribune has gone to Los Angeles as a reporter on the Times. J. C. Brown, a Salt Lake mining engineer, leaves next week for Nevada to engage in his profession.
