A NAUSEOUS BUNN.

THE GOVERNOR OF IDAHO THE PUBLISHER OF A FILTHY, OBSCURE PHILADELPHIA NEWSPAPER, A FAIR SAMPLE OF THE OPPONENTS OF "MORMONISM."

The Public Herald, published by L. Lum Smith, of Philadelphia, has for some time past been showing up the vileness of the Sunday Transcript, a newspaper published in that city by Governor Bunn of Idaho, and with the hope of having him removed from office, has called the attention of President Cleveland to his doings. The last issue of the Public Herald copies the following fling at "Mormonism" from the Transcript, then makes the subsequent comments on it:

"After many years of disgraceful pattering and backing the Mormon power has met the laws of the United States, the laws of the entire civilized world and the laws of Almighty God face to face. It is a moral issue, fraught with the seeds of death to unborn thousands. The questions are whether this most infamous relic of barbarity can, in defiance of all law, written and revealed, rub garments with chastity, morality and the due observance of the law; whether a religion that is in itself the essential idolatry of lust and lechery shall constitute itself a higher power than the great framework of our country, a higher power than the revealed religion of the Son of Man. Forbid it, heaven! No! The issue is come. It cannot be evaded or averted. The law must be impartially executed and the impartial execution of Mr. Cleveland means the total, speedy extinction of the last gigantic infamy. The entire civilized world is waiting to rejoice over the triumph of law, right and religion."

Is it not sacrilegious for a man who publishes a newspaper of the kind that is doing more to destroy the morals of the youth of our coutury to talk as Gov. Bunn does in this article? It is like "Satan rebuking sin." Even Mormonism, loathsome as it is, is respectable in comparison with a state of society Bunn's Sunday Transcript is doing all it can to build up. The real object of the article, however, we predict, is to enable Gov. Buun to pose as a martyr when he is kicked out of the Governorship of Idaho. He wants to be in a position to say he is persecuted because of his hostility to the Mormon church and not because he publishes an obscene newspaper. This whole matter is so transparent and ridiculous that those who are acquainted with the facts will smile at Gov. Bunn's peculiar position.

Our just criticism on the pernicious "Sunday" Transcript has been copied and commented upon far and near, and in time good will come of it. The last issue of the "Sunday" Transcript, May 17th, however, shows no improvement, and we must therefore keep up the fight until we succeed in penetrating the apparently tough conscience of its proprietor, Gov. Bunn. Be it to the credit of Taggart's Times, that not less than a dozen Philadelphians have called upon us and stated that Taggart's Times of the 17th of May, while still very bad, was the cleanest number that had been issued for years.

The influence upon the rising generation of such a newspaper as Governor Bunn's "Sunday" Transcript, of this city, is far worse than that of such a publication as the Police Gazette, for that paper does not try to conceal its character. Every head of a family is openly warned against it by its name "police" and the immoral illustrations, but the Transcript, or "Sunday" newspaper—a family newspaper, if you please—sneaks into respectable homes under that guise, and publishes in a rollicking sensational style scandals that we believe even the Police Gazette would refuse to print. Not only this, but the proprietor of the licentious sheet was appointed by Ex-President Arthur as the governor of the territory of Idaho, and is thereby set up as an example to our young men. God save the mark.

The public will watch to see whether President Cleveland will allow this man to continue in his office and continue the publication of such matters as appear in each number of the "Sunday" Transcript. We have it on good authority that the President has, or will shortly call upon Governor Bunn of the Sunday Transcript to give an account of his stewardship and we hope the report is true.

To us it is personally an unpleasant task and an unprofitable one to show up the shortcomings of such "journalists" as Governor Bunn. They always have their following, of men of influence and wealth in the community, but the Herald can make no distinctions. We treat the rich and poor, the high and low, all alike, and no power will deter us from doing our duty as we see it as long as we live.

We are reliably informed that a lady, or rather, we should say, a female, writes the "rich rare and racy" articles for the "Sunday" Transcript. We wonder if she ever stops to realize the seeds of vice and immorality, lust and crime she is sowing as it were, broadcast in the asparagus bed of journalism, to tempt and destroy those of her own and opposite sex in our land. We wish to state that if this "woman" or rather female, does not cease such contributions to the "Sunday" Transcript, we will publish her name to the world, that all who read may know her. We will state to her credit however, that we are inclined to believe that she will heed our warning, for we understand that but a short time ago she personally stated to Governor Bunn that she wished to discontinue writing such sensational articles. To this appeal, it is alleged, Governor Bunn replied: "Oh, tut, tut, they are not rich and racy enough." We will see what we may see.

We are not now alone in this fight, which we originated, on the pernicious "Sunday" Transcript. We copy the following articles bearing on the subject and commend them to Gov. Bunn's careful perusal. The better element of the press and public have endorsed our war on the "Sunday" Transcript, Item, and Taggart's Times, and we regret that we can only quote the following three of many instances:

From the Ogden (Utah) Daily Herald May 6, 1885:

We invite attention to an article on the first page of this issue of the Herald in regard to the Transcript, the licentious newspaper which Governor Bunn, of Idaho, publishes in Philadelphia, a bulletin for brothels and police courts, that wallows in the field of crime and pollution.

From the Philadelphia Telephone, April 18, 1885:

The Herald published in this city by L. Lum Smith, is very severe—and justly too—on those journals in this and other cities, both daily and weekly, in which, for the sake of circulation—it can be for no other reason—may be found the vilest and most obscene advertisements, reports, sketches, etc. We agree with the Herald that such papers should not be admitted into any respectable household. We go even further—they should be suppressed by law, for the filth with which they abound is subversive of morality and an incentive to crime. But what of the proprietors and editors of such journals? Should there not be some law to restrain them from disseminating such indecent, debasing and corrupting reading through the columns of their journals? Should they be permitted, at the expense of virtue and morality, to persist in catering to the vulgar and degraded classes that thrift may follow their infamy? Have they no children of their own—no wives, no daughters? Are they motherless and sisterless? Have they no regard for decency at all? Would it not be better for journalists everywhere, in the interest of journalism, to persistently refuse to defile the columns of their papers with obscene advertisements, beastly stories, indecent divorce suits, brutal slugging matches and the depravity of the denizens of the slums, and promptly and emphatically denounce those who disgrace journalism by continuing in such disgraceful and disreputable business? Mr. Smith, in his scathing rebuke of newspapers generally, cites, by way of illustrating the necessity for and the truth of his article, the Sunday Transcript, Taggarts' Times and the Item, of this city, which are foremost in the work of demoralizing and corrupting the community, and assures the public that he can substantiate every word he utters in condemnation of them. Mr. Smith has done much to protect the newspaper fraternity from fraudulent and obscene advertisers, and now gives his attention to those who unblushingly aid that class of unprincipled rogues by soliciting and putting them into notoriety, and all honorable journalists should aid him in his good work. The Telephone has frequently entered its protest against just such journals as Mr. Smith designates, and will continue to do so. We are of the opinion that a newspaper which is not fit to be read in the family circle should come under the head of and be classified with other obscene literature, and that those who publish it, as well as those who vend it in their stores or on the street, should be responsible to the law for the offense. Will not the Law and Order Society, or the Society for the Suppression of Obscene Literature move in the matter?

A Cholera Reminiscence.

HOW A DETERMINED WOMAN SAVED HER BROTHER'S LIFE.

Cholera talk seems to be the order. A lady still lives who went through the horrors of the visitation of 1832. She graphically describes how she fought for her brother's life. He was a young medical student and was seized with the plague after faithful work in aid of the sick. An hour or two and all was apparently over. A physician who had been able to give him a few moments' notice said: "He is dead; the wagon makes its next round at noon; I'll see that it stops here," and he left. But the sister would not believe that her brother was dead. She still worked over the apparently lifeless body, rubbing vigorously with spirits, applying hot cloths and using every means at her command to restore animation. At noon before her door the dead wagon halted. "Bring out your dead!" shouted the driver. "There is no dead here," she replied from a window. The man evidently thought differently, "I'll come and see," he said. He climbed from his seat and attempted to get in at the door, which was locked and bolted. The sister, prepared for this, leveled a pistol at him and told him she would shoot if he took another step. Sullenly, then, he withdrew and drove away. All through the afternoon she continued her desperate efforts at restoration. At nightfall again the wagon, again the pistol and again the man repulsed. In the early evening the brother showed signs of life and at midnight the undertaker appeared the third time, supported by the physician who had declared life extinct, to insist upon the prompt removal of the corpse. When the doctor saw the condition of affairs, however, he ordered the wagon away, and together throughout the night he and the devoted sister nursed the feeble flame of life which did indeed still flicker in the breast of the man for whom the grave had twice yawned. To-day the young medical student is a physician retired from long and honorable practice.—New York Graphic.

Many, Many Thousands.

A great many people who have been cured by Brown's Iron Bitters, show such grateful appreciation of what this medicine has done for them they freely send their testimonials. To publish them all would require a volume as big as a dictionary. No secret about them. No limit to one disease or a few. Mr. Perryman, Mobile, Ala., "Weak back and indigestion." "Mr. Dwyer, Mt. Calm, Texas, "Dyspepsia, nervousness, and sleeplessness." Mr. Burns, Milton, Ind., "Indigestion and poor appetite" Mrs. Hastings, Cambridgeport, Mass., "Lameness in side and back, short breath and coughing." Try it yourself.

DANGEROUS
HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE

Several interior and dangerous "substitutes" for the genuine "Horsford's Acid Phosphate" are being offered for sale; and we hereby caution the dealers and public against buying or using them, as they will not produce the same effect upon the system as the genuine "Horsford's," and the ingredients in some of them are dangerous to health.

Some of these "substitutes" or imitations are simply Dilute Phosphoric Acid, which interferes with the digestion; while the genuine "Horsford's" not only causes no trouble with the digestive organs, but materially assists in their action.

One preparation that is being offered for sale, by the gallon, contains Meta- or Pyro-Phosphoric Acid, which are declared by the highest authority to be poisonous. The same preparation also contains Chloric Acid, which is a compound of Chlorine. Horsford's contains neither of these ingredients.

These "substitutes" are liable to be found at soda fountains, because of their cheapness.

CALL for "HORSFORD'S," and TAKE NO OTHER. NEVER SOLD IN BULK.
